Yugoslavia, Albania Exchange Blasts

Yugo Leaders' 'Open Treason' Is Condemned

Belgrade Complains Of "Hostile, Brutal Acts" To Yugoslavs

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Communist high commands of Yugoslavia and its neighbor, Albania, began trading propaganda blows today in an apparent widening split among the Red-controlled nations east of the iron curtain.

Already Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia was at odds with the Communist mother country, Russia. Today's potentially explosive developments, crackling on the international radio waves:

Albania declared Tito's forces guilty of "open treason" against Communist dogma.

Yugoslavia retorted that gross "insults to the Yugoslav peoples" have occurred on Albanian soil.

These charges and countercharges, contained in Belgrade and Tirana broadcasts heard here and in London, were in some respects the angriest and most threatening hurled since the historic rift in the ranks of world Communism opened early this week.

Sizzling Communique

In Washington, the American government's monitoring service picked up a sizzling communique identified as originating in the Albanian capital. It declared that the Central Committee of the Albanian Communist Party "severely condemns the open treason of the leaders of the Yugoslav Communist Party, who have betrayed Marxism-Leninism, who have betrayed the camp of socialism."

From London came a report of a Belgrade radio counterblast charging that Albania, during the past few days, has been the scene of "organized incidents which are insults to the Yugoslav peoples."

Belgrade complained that the Albanian government (1) closed a book shop in Tirana, (2) banned the sale of the Yugoslav Communist newspaper "Borba," (3) ordered Marshal Tito's name stricken from all text books, (4) forbade the singing of songs referring to Tito and banned his picture from public buildings.

The Belgrade announcement added that "Yugoslav diplomatic representatives have filed a protest with the Albanian government concerning these hostile and brutal acts." And it said the actions are "aimed at impairing Albanian-Yugoslav relations."

Albania is the third nation whose Communist Party has declared its position since the Soviet-led Cominform on Monday denounced Tito's leadership in Yugoslavia and demanded that he and his top associates repent or resign.

Spaatz Says New Russian Bomber Could Fly To U. S.

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—Gen. Carl Spaatz says Russia has developed a plane that puts "practically every United States industrial area of consequence" within range of a one-way, no-return mission from Soviet soil.

Spaatz, retired commander of the United States Air Force, said in a Life magazine article the plane was mostly "copies" from the American B-29. He identified the Russian plane as the Tupolev TU-70.

"There is reason to believe," he said, "that the Russians now possess several hundred of them and are manufacturing more at a fairly good rate."

"Kommandatura Is Not Finished," Howley Declares

USSR Quits 4-Power Berlin Ruling Body

BERLIN, July 1. (AP)—The Russians formally withdrew from four-power rule of Berlin today, adding political boycott to their 11-day food blockade of the city's western sector.

"The Kommandatura no longer exists," the Russian representative announced to his French, British and American counterparts at today's meeting of the Allied body. It had governed Berlin for three years.

The first reaction from an American official was to suggest that the three Western Allies run their sectors on a three-power basis, leaving the Russians to take care of theirs. This, in effect, is what has been happening for many months.

The American deputy commander of Berlin issued an official statement which said "so far as we are concerned, there still is quadripartite government of the city and we are ready to maintain it.

Confirmation Awaited

"Before the Russian action can become official the statement of a very low level officer (the Soviet chief of staff, a colonel) will have to be confirmed by Marshall Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet military governor, to Gen. Clay," the American military governor.

The Russians gave as their reasons for the withdrawal the actions of Col. Frank Howley, the American commander of Berlin, and the currency reform of the Western Allies. They got angry when Howley had to leave a Kommandatura session June 16 after 13 hours of meeting.

But Howley said today "the Kommandatura is not finished. The Russians just left it. There is no legal reason why it cannot continue on a three-power basis." x x x x

In London, informed Whitehall sources said Britain, the United States and France have drafted a joint note to Russia demanding an end to her blockade of Berlin and restoration of four-power rule over the city.

Planes Pour In Supplies

These sources said that after formal approval has been given to the draft by Foreign Secretary Bevin, United States Secretary of State Marshall and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France, the note will be sent to the Kremlin.

They said the note will emphasize that the three Western Powers place all the responsibility on Russia for what happens to Western Berlin's great population if the blockade is not lifted at once.

Overhead, meanwhile, British and American planes continued to pour in supplies for the 2,500,000 Germans living in West Berlin. Since last midnight, United States Army transports landed 132 times at Templehof airdrome and unloaded 375 tons of supplies.

823 Federal Employes Made 10 To 20 Millions Speculating In Markets

Singer Peggy Lee Sued For Alleged Theft Of 'Manana'

LOS ANGELES, July 1. (AP)—Singer-Composer Peggy Lee and her guitar - playing husband, Dave Barbour, were sued today for $1,000,000 on the charge that they stole the hit sing, "Manana."

Sterling Sherwin, San Francisco songwriter - playwright, and Harry K. McClintock, Los Angeles, filed the action in Federal Court, alleging that "Manana" is a note-for-note infringement of their song, "Midnight on the Ocean."

Their complaint says that "Midnight on the Ocean" was published in a song folio, "Songs of the Road and Range," in 1932. The publisher, Southern Music Publishing Company, Inc., is also a plaintiff in the suit.

No Evidence "Inside Information" Used, Committee Reports

WASHINGTON, July 1 (INS)—A House committee probing food speculation reported today that 823 federal officials and employes made a net profit estimated "conservatively" at from 10 to 20 million dollars on commodity market transactions.

The committee, headed by Rep. Andresen (R) Minn., said that "no conclusive evidence has been discovered so far to prove" that any of the federal employes possessed "inside information" on government food purchases to guide their speculative transactions.

Andresen stressed that his committee's investigation will continue and that today's report was merely a "preliminary analysis" of findings up to the present time.

The report stated that no member of the House or any of its employes was found to have gambled on the commodity exchanges during the period covered by the investigation, January 1, 1946 to December 31, 1947.

Stassen Touched Off Probes

The Andresen probe was one of two congressional inquiries on food speculation touched off by charges of Harold E. Stassen last fall that prominent persons inside the government were using official information to make enormous profits by gambling in foodstuffs.

The other investigation, conducted by Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., led to fiery hearings during which President Truman's personal physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, testified that he dealt in commodities to cut down financial losses he suffered on the stock market.

Stassen, now a defeated GOP presidential aspirant, himself took the stand to fling charges of profiteering in food at Edwin W.

Folsom Paternity Suit Is Dismissed

CULLMAN, Ala., July 1 (AP) — A Circuit Court judge dismissed today "without prejudice" a suit by a red-haired divorcee to have Alabama's Gov. James E. Folsom declared her common law husband.

Judge James H. Crow, Jr., withheld, however, a decision in a companion paternity suit seeking to have Folsom named the father of Mrs. Christine Putman Johnston's son, James Douglas, 2.

"I want to study it (the paternity suit) a little bit," the judge said. "I'll need a little more time."

By dismissing Mrs. Johnston's suit "without prejudice," the court left the way open for filing of a new suit, should she so decide.

Attorneys for the Governor immediately objected to this, and asked that it be dismissed "with prejudice," thus barring any new action.

The ruling followed a hearing on objections by Attorney Kingman Shelburne to dismissal of the paternity suit. Shelburne filed the original suits last March 2 for Mrs. Johnston and her son.

He argued today that dropping of the paternity action would violate the rights of the child.

235 Traffic Fatalities This Weekend Forecast

CHICAGO, July 1—(AP)—The nation will pay with 235 traffic deaths for its three-day Fourth of July weekend observance, the National Safety Council forecast today.

Extra caution, however, could hold that figure much lower, said Ned H. Dearborn, council president.

Truman Says He's In Race To Stay, Expects To Win

Nomination On First Ballot Is Predicted

WASHINGTON, July 1—(AP)—President Truman said today it is foolish to think he might withdraw his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He told a news conference he is in the race to stay, that he expects to be nominated on the first ballot, and that he will win in November.

Second place on the ticket to be selected at Philadelphia will be up to the convention starting July 12, he said.

Asked whether Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would be welcomed as a running mate, the President replied that was up to Gen. Eisenhower. The former Army Chief of Staff is being boomed by some southern and northern Democrats, despite his January letter saying he could not accept a presidential nomination "even under the remote circumstances that it were tendered me."

Mrs. Roosevelt Acceptable

Another reporter wanted to know whether Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt would be acceptable as a vice presidential nominee, after calling attention to the fact that Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former Republican House member from Connecticut, had suggested her name.

Of course, of course, the President replied, smiling. What do you expect me to say to that?

(At Hyde Park, N. Y., Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary said the President's widow had authorized this statement: "Mrs. Roosevelt says she has no intention of running for public office at any time whatsoever.")

In the face of reports that Eisenhower will issue another statement before the convention meets again, removing himself from the picture, several anti-Truman leaders are saying they believe the General would accept a draft.

Among these are Harry Carlson, New Hampshire Democratic national committeeman, and Leon

Tito Receives Home Support In Red 'Crisis'

Cominform Action Approved By Soviet Communist Party

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 1 (AP) — Communist Party members and soldiers throughout Yugoslavia were reported rallying to the support of Marshall Tito today.

(The Belgrade radio, recorded in London by Tanjug, Yugoslav news agency, declared "organized incidents which are insults to the Yuoslav people, the Yugoslav state and are aimed at impairing Albanian Yugoslav relations" had taken place in Albania.

(The broadcast said Yugoslav diplomats had filed a protest against such "brutal and hostile acts" as the pulling down of Tito portraits, the banning of textbooks and songs mentioning him, the closing of the Yugoslav bookshop and the banning of the Yugoslav newspaper Borba.

(The Moscow radio announced tonight that the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union has approved the resolution of the Cominform dealing with the situation in the Communist Party of Yugoslavia.)

Tito Elected Congress Delegate

In the face of allegations by the other members of the nine-nation Communist Information Bureau that Yugoslav leaders are anti-Russian and not good Communists, the army's First Proletarian Division elected Tito as its delegate to the fifth Communist Party Congress.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party of Slovenia, one of the federated states of Yugoslavia, declared "we cannot be shaken for one moment in our confidence in our leadership, the Central Committee (of the Communist Party of Yugoslavia) and Tito."

Borba, the Communist Party newspaper, declared numerous Communist meetings throughout Yugoslavia were hailing "the heroic Central Committee," and that Yugoslav soldiers were sending warm greetings to Tito as the founder and supreme commander of the army.

(Il Giornale Della Sera in Rome quoted a Western Power diplomatic representative from Belgrade as saying Tito had offered to back the proposal to return Trieste to Italy if he receives Marshall Plan aid.)

In a strong editorial, Borba itself expressed complete faith in the Yugoslav Marshal and attacked the Cominform's resolution.

Voluntary Steel Allocation Is Aim

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—President Truman decided today to try out a plan of voluntary co-operation to get the steel needed for the armed forces.

The new draft law gives him power to order the allocation of steel for military needs.

"I am, of course, prepared to exercise this authority should it prove necessary," the President wrote Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

He ordered Sawyer to draw up a voluntary allocation program, seeking the co-operation of industry.

Mr. Truman said the Secretary of Defense had advised him the armed services will require only two per cent of the anticipated steel production this fiscal year, and less than three per cent in the next.

"It should be possible to insure fulfillment of a program of this limited size through the voluntary co-operation of industry," he said.

"In setting up this program," he told Sawyer, "it is essential that adequate provision be made to insure that small businesses are in a position to bid on orders for the armed forces on equal terms with larger producers, insofar as the availability of steel to meet their production requirements for such orders is concerned."

"Voice" To Be Revised; Networks To Withdraw

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — The State Department announced today it is revising its entire system of overseas broadcasts which recently stirred up a row in Congress.

The National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System will withdraw October 1 from their part in the "Voice of America" programs.

After that date, the State Department's international broadcasting division itself will prepare and broadcast all news broadcasts and commentaries.

The department will continue to contract with private companies for feature programs and also will continue to lease, under contract, private short wave transmitting facilities.

Tucker Suspends Operations, Bows To SEC Demand

CHICAGO, July 1. — (AP) — Preston Tucker said he suspended automobile production operations today pending completion of an investigation of the Tucker Corporation by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The newcomer in the automobile manufacturing field said he was bowing to an SEC demand to submit the company's books and working data and that "tying up such records at this time will make it impossible to continue operating."

"The SEC made a peremptory demand for literally truckloads of our files and records to be delivered at their office in Chicago," the Tucker Company president told a news conference.

Arabs Reportedly Will Reject U.N. Mediator's Plan

Annexation Proposal Hit By Trans-Jordan

CAIRO, July 1 (AP) — A high Arab League source said today the league will reject the proposals for a permanent Palestine settlement drawn by Count Folke Bernadotte.

This source said the league's political committee named a subcommittee to draft an Arab reply to the proposals of the United Nations mediator.

The nationalist newspaper Al Misri said Bernadotte had proposed that Arab Palestine be annexed to Trans-Jordan, and that the Arabs accept Israel as a Jewish state. The paper said the plan included an extensive revision of the United Nations partition scheme, including giving the Negeb Desert to the Arabs and Northern Galilee to the Jews.

Tewfik Abdul Houda Pasha, Trans-Jordan prime minister, said such an annexation plan would place the enlarged Trans-Jordan state under partial jurisdiction of the United Nations. He said this would be the same as returning Trans-Jordan to a dependent status.

"Trans-Jordan is a sovereign country and cannot yield any part of its sovereignty," he asserted.

Bernadotte's plan has not been officially released, but Al Misri listed these main points as being included in his proposals.

1. The area of Palestine shall be restored to what it was before Trans-Jordan was separated from it. This would include the present kingdom of Trans-Jordan.

2. The total area shall be partitioned into independent Arab and Jewish states.

3. The Jewish state shall include areas provided for in the United Nations partition plan, except the Negeb Southern Desert is to be included in the Arab state, and Arab-assigned territory in the Sea of Galilee region is to be joined to the Jewish state.

4. The Arab state shall include Arab areas in Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

5. Special arrangements shall be made under United Nations supervision regarding the status of Jerusalem and free access to holy places.

6. A central council shall be formed by representatives of the two states. Differences between the two states shall be submitted to the council.

7. The co-ordination of defense, foreign and economic affairs shall be made by the Central Council.

8. Disputes between the two states not solved by the Central Council shall be referred to the United Nations Trusteeship Council.

9. The Jewish state shall have the right to admit immigrants into its territory but in numbers not exceeding the capacity of the land.

Edict Is Made Permanent By Goldsborough

Controversy Still Deadlocked; Talks May Resume Today

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — Justice T. Alan Goldsborough slapped a permanent no-strike order today on three railway unions unhappy about their pay and working conditions.

Justice Goldsborough ruled that because of the "extreme situation" which would result from a nation-wide railroad strike, he had to make his temporary injunction a permanent one.

The three unions—locomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen, and switchmen—already had taken steps to appeal from Goldsborough's earlier temporary order banning a strike.

"All we have to do is to file some more papers," one union official said.

Government attorneys explained there is little practical difference in the two kinds of injunctions, but the permanent one will run now until one or the other side asks the court to dissolve it. That will happen when the dispute has been settled.

Controversy Deadlocked

The controversy was tightly deadlocked, despite repeated efforts of John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, to get the railroads and the union chiefs together. They may resume conferences again tomorrow. Steelman recessed the White House talks to await the Goldsborough decision.

The strike-threatening unions refused to settle for the same 15½-cent hourly pay increase accepted by the other railroad unions in the past year. The engineers, firemen and switchmen asked for several rules changes as well. The carriers say they now are demanding 31½ cents an hour. The unions say that was their original demand, and that the cost of living has gone up materially since the other unions got the 15½-cent raise.

The three unions were ready to walk off the job May 11 at 6 a. m. after months of wrangling.

President Truman directed the Army to take over the rail lines, because the three unions, with only 190,000 members, could tie up the major train movements immediately.

Union Challenge Brushed Aside

The Justice Department also obtained a restraining order to make sure the unions stayed on the job.

There was little doubt a strike would have taken place without the court order. Arthur J. Glover, head of the switchmen's union, referred to Army seizure as "a joke". Goldsborough made no comment. But he ruled the railroad workers were government employes, and as such were in the same position as the coal miners he ordered back to work in December, 1946, when the pits were under federal operation.

The Norris-LaGuardia Act of 1932, limiting injunctions in labor disputes, does not protect the railroad unions, Goldsborough said.

The jurist brushed aside the unions challenge of his jurisdiction over the dispute. He said the locomotive engineers, headed by Alvanley Johnston, and the firemen and enginemen, headed by David B.

Wholesale Commodity Prices Hit Postwar High

WASHINGTON, July 1—(AP)—Wholesale commodity prices, as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, rose to a new postwar high in the week ended June 26.

The bureau reported today that its index of 900 commodities reached 166.7 per cent of the 1926 average of 100.

This was 0.8 per cent increase for the week and took the index 0.7 percent above the prior postwar high of mid-January, 1948. The index now is only 0.3 per cent below the all-time high of May, 1920.

Phone Equipment Union Launches "Cold Strike"

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Telephone equipment workers today set up picket lines at telephone exchanges in 45 states in a "cold strike" for wage increases.

Daniel Harris, vice president of the CIO Association of Communication Equipment Workers, said placard-carrying pickets had formed lines at 70 major exchanges.

The union members, who install and repair communications equipment, are employes of the Western Electric Company, a subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The ACEW membership this week authorized its national bargaining committee to call a strike to enforce demands for 31 cents more an hour.

"Not Worth Nickel"

Stenog Returns To Work After Year's Paid Vacation

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Miss Nelli Mason, stenographer whose employer sent her on a one-year paid vacation, returned to work today—and her boss was all set to give her another day off.

M. Glenn Miller, advertising executive who gives his employes sabbatical leaves with pay, found Miss Mason "not worth a nickel today. I think I'll send her home soon."

Miss Mason, a middle-aged office worker, said it is "nice to get back to work," but confessed that it was "hard to get up this morning."

She left Chicago just a year ago, the first employe of Miller's firm to receive the year's vacation he promised to each worker after six years employment. Under terms of the vacation, the time must be spent "constructively and a letter must be written to the folks at the office each week," Miller said.

Miss Mason, who received her pay check every two weeks while she was gone, not only wrote to the company each week but kept a daily dairy which she filled with more than 35,000 words.

She traveled the country alone and during the year spent most of the salary sent to her.

Miss Mason said there wasn't any particular unusual experience she remembered but that the most exciting thing was "just the spectacle of wonderful scenery."

In her travels she visited most of the 48 states and Mexico and the Canadian Rockies.

Asked if she would like to leave immediately for another year's vacation if it were offered to her, Miss Mason said she thought she'd rather wait some time before doing it again. She said, however, that she's looking forward to 1954, when she'll be eligible for another sabatical leave. She plans going to Europe or South and Central America then.

"Born" In 1848

Party Will Mark Birthday Of Washington Monument

WASHINGTON, July 1. — (AP) — They're planning a three-day birthday party this weekend for a fine, upstanding old-timer in the nation's capital: The Washington Monument.

It should be quite a show—parades, fireworks, a pageant, a radio speech by President Truman (1 p. m., EST, Saturday)—all recalling that the cornerstone of the great white needle was laid 100 years ago.

But it promises to be small potatoes compared with the ruckus raised on July 4, 1948, after the cornerstone-laying ceremony itself.

That was a day to remember.

Backwoodsmen hoisted jugs skyward on the street-corners. Slaves pranced and cavorted. Firecrackers popped and thundered at the hooves of terrified horses, and put crinclined ladies to scampering flight.

President and Mrs. Polk threw a glittering full-dress party in the White House. Army brass, loaded with honors from the Mexican War, harrumphed in dignity—and sobriety. Mrs. P. wouldn't allow any hard stuff in the house.

But outside, in the unlighted muddy streets, the common people whooped it up with no prohibition. Fights broke out between free-soilers and upholders of slavery. Fights broke out from the simple, savage joy of fighting.

It was, said a newspaper reporter on the spot, "one of the most splendid and agreeable days Washington has ever witnessed."

Anybody who thinks Congress takes its own time about things nowa-days should read the story of the Washington Monument.

Although a monument to the soldier-President was first proposed in Washington's own lifetime, Congress didn't vote a red cent for the purpose until 1876—77 years after Washington's death and 28 years after the cornerstone was laid.

In the face of allegations by the other members of the nine-nation Communist Information Bureau that Yugoslav leaders are anti-Russian and not good Communists, the army's First Proletarian Division elected Tito as its delegate to the fifth Communist Party Congress.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party of Slovenia, one of the federated states of Yugoslavia, declared "we cannot be shaken for one moment in our confidence in our leadership, the Central Committee (of the Communist Party of Yugoslavia) and Tito."

Borba, the Communist Party newspaper, declared numerous Communist meetings throughout Yugoslavia were hailing "the heroic Central Committee," and that Yugoslav soldiers were sending warm greetings to Tito as the founder and supreme commander of the army.

(Il Giornale Della Sera in Rome quoted a Western Power diplomatic representative from Belgrade as saying Tito had offered to back the proposal to return Trieste to Italy if he receives Marshall Plan aid.)

In a strong editorial, Borba itself expressed complete faith in the Yugoslav Marshal and attacked the Cominform's resolution.

Tucker Suspends Operations, Bows To SEC Demand

CHICAGO, July 1. — (AP) — Preston Tucker said he suspended automobile production operations today pending completion of an investigation of the Tucker Corporation by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The newcomer in the automobile manufacturing field said he was bowing to an SEC demand to submit the company's books and working data and that "tying up such records at this time will make it impossible to continue operating."

"The SEC made a peremptory demand for literally truckloads of our files and records to be delivered at their office in Chicago," the Tucker Company president told a news conference.

Arabs Reportedly Will Reject U.N. Mediator's Plan

Annexation Proposal Hit By Trans-Jordan

CAIRO, July 1 (AP) — A high Arab League source said today the league will reject the proposals for a permanent Palestine settlement drawn by Count Folke Bernadotte.

This source said the league's political committee named a subcommittee to draft an Arab reply to the proposals of the United Nations mediator.

The nationalist newspaper Al Misri said Bernadotte had proposed that Arab Palestine be annexed to Trans-Jordan, and that the Arabs accept Israel as a Jewish state. The paper said the plan included an extensive revision of the United Nations partition scheme, including giving the Negeb Desert to the Arabs and Northern Galilee to the Jews.

Tewfik Abdul Houda Pasha, Trans-Jordan prime minister, said such an annexation plan would place the enlarged Trans-Jordan state under partial jurisdiction of the United Nations. He said this would be the same as returning Trans-Jordan to a dependent status.

"Trans-Jordan is a sovereign country and cannot yield any part of its sovereignty," he asserted.

Bernadotte's plan has not been officially released, but Al Misri listed these main points as being included in his proposals.

1. The area of Palestine shall be restored to what it was before Trans-Jordan was separated from it. This would include the present kingdom of Trans-Jordan.

2. The total area shall be partitioned into independent Arab and Jewish states.

3. The Jewish state shall include areas provided for in the United Nations partition plan, except the Negeb Southern Desert is to be included in the Arab state, and Arab-assigned territory in the Sea of Galilee region is to be joined to the Jewish state.

4. The Arab state shall include Arab areas in Palestine and Trans-Jordan.

5. Special arrangements shall be made under United Nations supervision regarding the status of Jerusalem and free access to holy places.

6. A central council shall be formed by representatives of the two states. Differences between the two states shall be submitted to the council.

7. The co-ordination of defense, foreign and economic affairs shall be made by the Central Council.

8. Disputes between the two states not solved by the Central Council shall be referred to the United Nations Trusteeship Council.

9. The Jewish state shall have the right to admit immigrants into its territory but in numbers not exceeding the capacity of the land.

Edict Is Made Permanent By Goldsborough

Controversy Still Deadlocked; Talks May Resume Today

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — Justice T. Alan Goldsborough slapped a permanent no-strike order today on three railway unions unhappy about their pay and working conditions.

Justice Goldsborough ruled that because of the "extreme situation" which would result from a nation-wide railroad strike, he had to make his temporary injunction a permanent one.

The three unions—locomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen, and switchmen—already had taken steps to appeal from Goldsborough's earlier temporary order banning a strike.

"All we have to do is to file some more papers," one union official said.

Government attorneys explained there is little practical difference in the two kinds of injunctions, but the permanent one will run now until one or the other side asks the court to dissolve it. That will happen when the dispute has been settled.

Controversy Deadlocked

The controversy was tightly deadlocked, despite repeated efforts of John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, to get the railroads and the union chiefs together. They may resume conferences again tomorrow. Steelman recessed the White House talks to await the Goldsborough decision.

The strike-threatening unions refused to settle for the same 15½-cent hourly pay increase accepted by the other railroad unions in the past year. The engineers, firemen and switchmen asked for several rules changes as well. The carriers say they now are demanding 31¾ cents an hour. The unions say that was their original demand, and that the cost of living has gone up materially since the other unions got the 15½-cent raise.

The three unions were ready to walk off the job May 11 at 6 a. m. after months of wrangling.

President Truman directed the Army to take over the rail lines, because the three unions, with only 190,900 members, could tie up the major train movements immediately.

Union Challenge Brushed Aside

The Justice Department also obtained a restraining order to make sure the unions stayed on the job.

There was little doubt a strike would have taken place without the court order. Arthur J. Glover, head of the switchmen's union, referred to Army seizure as "a joke". Goldsborough made no comment. But he ruled the railroad workers were government employes, and as such were in the same position as the coal miners he ordered back to work in December, 1946, when the pits were under federal operation.

The Norris-LaGuardia Act of 1932, limiting injunctions in labor disputes, does not protect the railroad unions, Goldsborough said.

The jurist brushed aside the unions challenge of his jurisdiction, over the dispute. He said the locomotive engineers, headed by Alvanley Johnston, and the firemen and enginemen, headed by David B.

823 Federal Employes Made 10 To 20 Millions Speculating In Markets

No Evidence "Inside Information" Used, Committee Reports

WASHINGTON, July 1 (INS)—A House committee probing food speculation reported today that 823 federal officials and employes made a net profit estimated "conservatively" at from 10 to 20 million dollars on commodity market transactions.

The committee, headed by Rep. Andresen (R) Minn., said that "no conclusive evidence has been discovered so far to prove" that any of the federal employes possessed "inside information" on government food purchases to guide their speculative transactions.

Andresen stressed that his committee's investigation will continue and that today's report was merely a "preliminary analysis" of findings up to the present time.

The report stated that no member of the House or any of its employes was found to have gambled on the commodity exchanges during the period covered by the investigation, January 1, 1946 to December 31, 1947.

Stassen Touched Off Probes

The Andresen probe was one of two congressional inquiries on food speculation touched off by charges of Harold E. Stassen last fall that prominent persons inside the government were using official information to make enormous profits by gambling in foodstuffs.

The other investigation, conducted by Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., led to fiery hearings during which President Truman's personal physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, testified that he dealt in commodities to cut down financial losses he suffered on the stock market.

Stassen, now a defeated GOP presidential aspirant, himself took the stand to fling charges of profiteering in food at Edwin W.

Singer Peggy Lee Sued For Alleged Theft Of 'Manana'

LOS ANGELES, July 1. (AP)—Singer-Composer Peggy Lee and her guitar - playing husband, Dave Barbour, were sued today for $1,000,000 on the charge that they stole the hit sing, "Manana."

Sterling Sherwin, San Francisco songwriter - playwright, and Harry K. McClintock, Los Angeles, filed the action in Federal Court, alleging that "Manana" is a note-for-note infringement of their song, "Midnight on the Ocean."

Their complaint says that "Midnight on the Ocean" was published in a song folio, "Songs of the Road and Range," in 1932. The publisher, Southern Music Publishing Company, Inc., is also a plaintiff in the suit.

Folsom Paternity Suit Is Dismissed

CULLMAN, Ala., July 1 (AP) — A Circuit Court judge dismissed today "without prejudice" a suit by a red-haired divorcee to have Alabama's Gov. James E. Folsom declared her common law husband.

Judge James H. Crow, Jr., withheld, however, a decision in a companion paternity suit seeking to have Folsom named the father of Mrs. Christine Putman Johnston's son, James Douglas, 2.

"I want to study it (the paternity suit) a little bit," the judge said. "I'll need a little more time."

By dismissing Mrs. Johnston's suit "without prejudice," the court left the way open for filing of a new suit, should she so decide.

Attorneys for the Governor immediately objected to this, and asked that it be dismissed "with prejudice," thus barring any new action.

The ruling followed a hearing on objections by Attorney Kingman Shelburne to dismissal of the paternity suit. Shelburne filed the original suits last March 2 for Mrs. Johnston and her son.

He argued today that dropping of the paternity action would violate the rights of the child.

235 Traffic Fatalities This Weekend Forecast

CHICAGO, July 1—(AP)—The nation will pay with 235 traffic deaths for its three-day Fourth of July weekend observance, the National Safety Council forecast today.

Extra caution, however, could hold that figure much lower, said Ned H. Dearborn, council president.

Nomination On First Ballot Is Predicted

WASHINGTON, July 1—(AP)—President Truman said today it is foolish to think he might withdraw his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He told a news conference he is in the race to stay, that he expects to be nominated on the first ballot, and that he will win in November.

Second place on the ticket to be selected at Philadelphia will be up to the convention starting July 12, he said.

Asked whether Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would be welcomed as a running mate, the President replied that was up to Gen. Eisenhower. The former Army Chief of Staff is being boomed by some southern and northern Democrats, despite his January letter saying he could not accept a presidential nomination "even under the remote circumstances that it were tendered me."

Mrs. Roosevelt Acceptable

Another reporter wanted to know whether Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt would be acceptable as a vice presidential nominee, after calling attention to the fact that Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former Republican House member from Connecticut, had suggested her name.

Of course, of course, the President replied, smiling. What do you expect me to say to that?

(At Hyde Park, N. Y., Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary said the President's widow had authorized this statement: "Mrs. Roosevelt says she has no intention of running for public office at any time whatsoever.")

In the face of reports that Eisenhower will issue another statement before the convention meets again, removing himself from the picture, several anti-Truman leaders are saying they believe the General would accept a draft.

Among these are Harry Carlson, New Hampshire Democratic national committeeman, and Leon

Voluntary Steel Allocation Is Aim

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—President Truman decided today to try out a plan of voluntary co-operation to get the steel needed for the armed forces.

The new draft law gives him power to order the allocation of steel for military needs.

"I am, of course, prepared to exercise this authority should it prove necessary," the President wrote Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

He ordered Sawyer to draw up a voluntary allocation program, seeking the co-operation of industry.

Mr. Truman said the Secretary of Defense had advised him the armed services will require only two per cent of the anticipated steel production this fiscal year, and less than three per cent in the next.

"It should be possible to insure fulfillment of a program of this limited size through the voluntary co-operation of industry," he said.

"In setting up this program," he told Sawyer, "it is essential that adequate provision be made to insure that small businesses are in a position to bid on orders for the armed forces on equal terms with larger producers, insofar as the availability of steel to meet their production requirements for such orders is concerned."

Wholesale Commodity Prices Hit Postwar High

WASHINGTON, July 1—(AP)—Wholesale commodity prices, as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, rose to a new postwar high in the week ended June 26.

The bureau reported today that its index of 900 commodities reached 166.7 per cent of the 1926 average of 100.

This was 0.8 per cent increase for the week and took the index 0.7 percent above the prior postwar high of mid-January, 1948. The index now is only 0.3 per cent below the all-time high of May, 1920.

"Voice" To Be Revised; Networks To Withdraw

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — The State Department announced today it is revising its entire system of overseas broadcasts which recently stirred up a row in Congress.

The National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System will withdraw October 1 from their part in the "Voice of America" programs.

After that date, the State Department's international broadcasting division itself will prepare and broadcast all news broadcasts and commentaries.

The department will continue to contract with private companies for feature programs and also will continue to lease, under contract, private short wave transmitting facilities.

"Not Worth Nickel"

Stenog Returns To Work After Year's Paid Vacation

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Miss Nelli Mason, stenographer whose employer sent her on a one-year paid vacation, returned to work today—and her boss was all set to give her another day off.

M. Glenn Miller, advertising executive who gives his employes sabbatical leaves with pay, found Miss Mason "not worth a nickel today. I think I'll send her home soon."

Miss Mason, a middle-aged office worker, said it is "nice to get back to work," but confessed that it was "hard to get up this morning."

She left Chicago just a year ago, the first employe of Miller's firm to receive the year's vacation he promised to each worker after six years employment. Under terms of the vacation, the time must be spent "constructively and a letter must be written to the folks at the office each week," Miller said.

Miss Mason, who received her pay check every two weeks while she was gone, not only wrote to the company each week but kept a daily dairy which she filled with more than 35,000 words.

She traveled the country alone and during the year spent most of the salary sent to her.

Miss Mason said there wasn't any particular unusual experience she remembered but that the most exciting thing was "just the spectacle of wonderful scenery."

In her travels she visited most of the 48 states and Mexico and the Canadian Rockies.

Asked if she would like to leave immediately for another year's vacation if it were offered to her, Miss Mason said she thought she'd rather wait some time before doing it again. She said, however, that she's looking forward to 1954, when she'll be eligible for another sabatical leave. She plans going to Europe or South and Central America then.

Party Will Mark Birthday Of Washington Monument

WASHINGTON, July 1. — (AP) — They're planning a three-day birthday party this weekend for a fine, upstanding old-timer in the nation's capital: The Washington Monument.

It should be quite a show—parades, fireworks, a pageant, a radio speech by President Truman (1 p. m., EST, Saturday)—all recalling that the cornerstone of the great white needle was laid 100 years ago.

But it promises to be small potatoes compared with the ruckus raised on July 4, 1848, after the cornerstone-laying ceremony itself.

That was a day to remember.

Backwoodsmen hoisted jugs skyward on the street-corners. Slaves pranced and cavorted. Firecrackers popped and thundered at the hooves of terrified horses, and put crinclined ladies to scampering flight.

President and Mrs. Polk threw a glittering full-dress party in the White House. Army brass, loaded with honors from the Mexican War, harrumphed in dignity—and sobriety. Mrs. P. wouldn't allow any hard stuff in the house.

But outside, in the unlighted muddy streets, the common people whooped it up with no prohibition. Fights broke out between free-soilers and upholders of slavery. Fights broke out from the simple, savage joy of fighting.

It was, said a newspaper reporter on the spot, "one of the most splendid and agreeable days Washington has ever witnessed."

Anybody who thinks Congress takes its own time about things nowa-days should read the story of the Washington Monument.

Although a monument to the soldier-President was first proposed in Washington's own lifetime, Congress didn't vote a red cent for the purpose until 1876—77 years after Washington's death and 28 years after the cornerstone was laid.

France first began work on the Panama Canal in 1881.

Marshal Tito Troubled By That "Fine Fellow, Joe"

When an official Communist organ denounces a Communist leader anywhere, it usually means that that gentleman's number is up. By this Red rule of thumb, Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is about to be "purged," or perhaps, in that charming Soviet euphemism, he has already been "taken care of."

An official statement put out by the Cominform (new Communist International), in Prague accuses the Yugoslav Communist party of "departing from the Marx-Lenin line," by which is meant the Stalin line. The Party is denounced as "nationalist," whereas Tito is condemned as a "Trotskyist." Just how a party can be nationalist when its leadership follows the radical international views of Trotsky is a little hard for the Western democratic mind to follow. But despite the niceties of party-line jargon, it is clear that Tito is in trouble.

This is news indeed. Since before the war's end, Marshal Tito has been the strongest Communist leader in Europe outside Russia. The row between Moscow and Belgrade is the first break in the ranks of Russia's nine eastern satellites. Thanks to Soviet censorship, now tighter than ever, one must guess at the reasons for the break. No doubt the horrible epithet "nationalist" provides the key, although the fact that Tito has been negotiating with the United States for an agreement over the payment of $20,000,000 in claims for American property nationalized in Yugoslavia and Tito's claim for some $50,000,000 in Yugoslavia assets which the United States froze in 1941 to keep it out of Axis hands, may be the reason. It is reported that an understanding is about to be reached which may give to Yugoslavia $30,000,000.

As would-be "boss of the Balkans," Tito was disgruntled when Russia failed to break with the United Nations over Trieste, again when she declined to engineer a coup d'etat in Italy before the national election and finally when she side-stepped the opportunity to start a full-scale Communist invasion of Greece. In every case, Russia followed a policy of expediency: she had other fish to fry—in Germany, for example. But Tito apparently reacted by creating a nationalist policy of his own.

The vital question at the moment is whether Tito, the strong man, will decide to recant or will—assuming he is still alive and free—try to break loose from the Moscow leading-strings. In any event, it is cheering to learn of internal troubles behind the Iron Curtain.

Congress Proves Better Judge Than Pres. Truman

When the federal government's fiscal year ended at midnight Wednesday, the books closed on the biggest budget surplus in history. It will take the Treasury employees some days to arrive at the precise figure, but it is in the neighborhood of $8,000,000,000. That is more than total federal revenue before the war.

It is a huge sum of money and it represents a fact of great importance to every American. In a sense, the $8,000,000,000 is merely a figure on paper, as most of it has already been applied on the debt. But this surplus is not only tremendous—it is the second in succession. It says with emphasis that the government is operating on a sound financial basis, however extravagantly it is doing so.

This surplus seems to indicate strongly that the gloomy prophecies heard during the tax-reduction debate will not be borne out. When Congress cut taxes by $4,800,000,000 a year last Spring, over the President's veto Administration voices declared the rates would have to be restored later. Now there is reason to hope further cuts will be possible next year.

Much has happened since President Truman, in his 1947 budget message, estimated the 1948 surplus at $1,200,000,000 if Congress kept the wartime excise taxes, as it did. Congress has slashed income tax rates but has appropriated many billions for foreign aid and rearmament. A large part of this new expenditure will not come until next year. Nevertheless, the 1948 surplus shows that there is a wide margin to work with.

It also proves that the Republican-controlled Congress has been a better judge of income and outgo than the President.

Not-So-Hot Sun

The sun is cooler than we thought. Perhaps you haven't noticed it in the last week, but that's what Science tells us and Science ought to know.

A new, improved atom-smasher that shoots 120,000-volt protons is responsible for the deduction. Experiments with it show that atoms are easier to smash with that potential than was supposed. Hence the energy-making process gives off less heat. And since the heat of the sun is calculated from its approximately known output of energy, temperature estimates must be revised.

But the sun is still too hot to make ice cubes on. Its temperature is approximately 27,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit, more than enough to turn a human body into a cloud of vapor in a split second. But earlier estimates ranged around 33,000,000 degrees. That's hotter, not that it makes any difference.

We're off to take a cold shower.

It's All in the Water

There seems to be something about fluorine, a chemical element that retards decay of teeth in a most amazing way. In Texas, for example, there is a county where the almost total absence of dental cavities appears due to fluorine occurring naturally in the water. The dental professon as a whole has now recognized this property of fluorine in combating decay.

In southern New Jersey the U. S. Public Health Service has been adding more substantiating facts to its knowledge of fluorine and teeth. In 1927 the shallow wells of Glassboro, Pitman and Woodstown were replaced by deep ones. The water in them was found to contain natural fluorine salts.

"Studies have since disclosed that five-year-old children in the three towns had nearly 85 per cent less tooth decay than children of the same age in nearby Williamstown and Clayton where water supplies lacked fluorine." Morever, children moving in from elsewhere had a lessening in the rate of decay.

The Public Health Service recommends that the teeth of small children be treated with fluorine in most parts of the country.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Warmth Encourages Food Contamination

There are many types of food poisoning and the most common are caused by bacteria or bacterial toxins. This is in contrast to the illnesses resulting from edibles containing poisonous chemicals or from certain varieties of mushrooms and mussels.

Dr. Van Dellen

Various species of organisms are responsible for true food poisoning but salmonella and staphylococci are the chief culprits. Contamination usually takes place when the edibles are allowed to remain unrefrigerated for several hours. In a warm environment, the germs take advantage of the situation and multiply rapidly; by the time the food is consumed, they are ready to attack in full force.

Pastries such as pies and cakes with cream fillings, custards, and picnic salads supply the best culture media; sausage and chopped meat are not far behind. Some butchers are careless in allowing scraps to lie on the table until they are ready to be ground. Furthermore, if the grinder is not kept clean, bits of polluted meat stay in the meshes overnight or longer.

In cases like this, staphylococci are generally to blame. They often come from humans because they inhabit the skin and are responsible for such infections as boils and festered wounds. Cooking kills them but this is no guarantee that food will remain free of the germs when it is exposed, especially in summer weather. Now and then they are transmitted through the air, particularly if some one in the kitchen has a cold.

Rats and mice also play a role. These pests are susceptible to the salmonella groups of microbes, which frequently kill them. Some recover, however, and they are left as carriers; in one investigation, 4 per cent of the mouse population were found to be infected. Hence rodents are potentially dangerous in bakeries and other food establishments. Flies also enter the picture since they are in contact with the droppings.

Within two to six hours after tainted food is eaten, the victim is notified in no uncertain terms. Abdominal cramps, violent diarrhea, and retching ensue and symptoms may be so severe that in a short time, the sufferer is exhausted. If untreated, the manifestations continue 12 to 24 hours and then subside but a day or two longer will be required to regain enough strength to carry on.

Castor oil was once a popular treatment but it is rarely employed today because we can hardly improve on the job that nature is doing. Relief may be obtained with one of the opium products, kaolin, or bismuth. During the acute stage, food should be withheld. A full diet ought to be resumed gradually as the irritated bowel absorbs poorly and if too much nutriment is taken, indigestion is likely to be encountered for some time thereafter. It is natural for constipation to follow such a siege, and the individual should not be too hasty in requesting a laxative.

Food poisoning is often hard to trace unless a large number of persons become ill after eating the same meal. Otherwise a bacteriologist would have to obtain samples of the remaining food plus specimens from the victim.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

You want more milk? Just give Bossy a topcoat . . . it works, thirteen Guernsey cows, owned by Mrs. Barbara Woodhouse, wear coats throughout the year to improve their milk yield.

I can see it all now - - A cow dressed up wearing a topcoat, muffler and one glove.

Of course, the cows wearing coats with fur collars give only cream cheese.

They had a little trouble with one cow. She refused to give milk until she got a belt in the back.

It's getting to be a little ridiculous, though. I saw one farmer bringing his cow into Adrian's for a fitting.

All this is causing changes in farm life. The cows are now giving three types of milk - - Grade A, Grade B, and tweed.

The flies have disappeared from the barn. They've been replaced by moths.

And when one cow challenged another cow to a fight, a bull offered to hold their coats.

The cows are getting very temperamental now that they are wearing the new look, when one farmer came to milk his cow she looked up at him and said, "Please, not while I'm dressing."

This new trend is a great help to President Truman's campaign. He's sure of getting the farm vote when the cows find out he used to be a haberdasher.

Democratic National Committee Falls Apart Over Truman; Tito Admitted Trouble In Yugoslavia At Secret Meeting; White House And Special Session

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 1—Despite optimistic statements by Democratic Chairman Howard McGrath, the Democratic National Committee has begun to fall apart at the seams. McGrath is trying desperately to hold it together behind President Truman—but it isn't holding.

One national committeeman, Eugene Mahoney of Sioux Falls, S. D., has written McGrath a letter urging him to conduct an honest poll of the grass roots before trying to nominate Truman.

"As I understand it, it is not the duty of the National Committee to at all costs endeavor to bring about the nomination of President Truman," wrote Mahoney. "It is the duty and responsibility of the National Committee to lead the Democratic Party to victory and to take the leadership in bringing about the nomination of a candidate who can win.

"I would suggest," continued the South Dakota national committeeman, "that you as Chairman of the Democratic Party make a very comprehensive survey of the nation, and let the results of that survey guide you in your course of action. I would also suggest that that survey not be confined to a few political leaders, but that you actually make a grass-root survey as was only done by Jim Farley in 1932.

"No doubt," Mahoney concluded, "if President Truman knew the true situation, he would step aside and withdraw to aid and assist in the selection of a candidate who could and would win."

Inside Yugoslavia

One clue as to what's happening inside Yugoslavia is a speech Marshal Tito made at a secret meeting of the Oblasni Egzekutivni Odbor (Red Executive Board) at Zagreb a short time ago. Speaking to his fellow Communist leaders, Tito was extremely frank in admitting trouble inside Yugoslavia. Here is a translation of the one part of his speech:

"Comrades, you know very well that the peasant is not with us. This was made quite evident with the State's purchase of grain surpluses. The plan was a failure, as less than 50 per cent of the fixed quantity was delivered by the peasants. The peasant is cunning and refractory and his belief in gods and priests cannot easily be driven out of his mind. Because of that, we have had many difficulties and trouble. I will not indulge now in matters of religion, but if some day the priests rouse the people by ringing the churches' bells, it is certain that we shall have to face a complete uprisal. And the peasants are well armed.

"On account of all that, I have issued all necessary orders and instructions. We need time for a complete success. Therefore, get to work and work hard, as there is not much time left. I wish you, comrades, much luck and full success!"

Note—It may have been that Moscow, because of internal troubles in Yugoslavia, decided to junk Tito.

Special Congress ? ?

Some White House advisers are strongly urging the President to call Congress back for a special session immediately after the Democratic Convention.

They tell Truman that he should insist on the enactment of major legislation, such as the Taft-Ellender-Wagner public housing bill, which, though blocked in Congress, was indorsed in the GOP Convention platform.

Friends tell Truman that if GOP leaders continue to block housing during the special session, he could then charge them with failure to carry out platform pledges.

Other advisers, however, have told Truman that it would be wiser politically not to call a special session, but to let these Republicans stew in the juice of their Congressional mistakes.

Since the President plans to make Congress his No. 1 campaign issue if renominated, the latter is probably what he will do.

Under The Dome

A.F. of L. President William Green was even hotter against the Republicans in his private talk to President Truman than when he issued his blast later. "The Republicans," Green told Truman, "ignored us at Philadelphia. There was nothing favorable to labor in the platform. We didn't have a look-in.". . . J. D. Parker, the North Carolina winemaker, indicted for income-tax evasion, has entered a Virginia mental institution — some people think to get out of a very tight fix. But while supposed to be sick, Parker has been seen on the streets of Raleigh—so the Justice Department will prosecute anyway. . . . Negotiations between London and Washington for Britain's participation in the Marshall Plan are stymied. The British accuse us of trying to regulate the pound sterling in return for Marshall Plan aid. For two weeks diplomats haven't been able to break the deadlock.

Spaatz Speaks

One reason Air Chief of Staff "Tooey" Spaatz retired from the Army was that he felt he could do the Air Force more good on the outside. For the first time, he is now preparing to speak his mind fearlessly in a flood of magazine and newspaper articles.

Unhampered by military restrictions, Spaatz will tell bluntly how he thinks America should meet the threat of another war. He will also warn that the United States will have two independent air forces on its hands as long as the Navy is given free rein in the air.

Merry-Go-Round

When newly elected GOP Chairman Hugh Scott of Philadelphia walked into the first meeting of the Republican National Committee, only four members recognized their new boss. He was really appointed by Joe "High Tariff" Grundy to make sure Pennsylvania gets its share of jobs. . . . The battle between Pennsylvania's Governor Jim Duff and the Martin-Grundy machine didn't just happen at Philadelphia. For some time Duff has been trying to build up a revitalized, progressive Republicanism, with Grundy-Martin desperately trying to block him. Now that Dewey has given Pennsylvania's huge chunk of 40,000 Federal jobs to the Grundy-Martin machine, it will go merrily forward. Progressive Republicanism in Pennsylvania is out. . . . Stan Arnold of "Star Spangled Banter," who loves history-probing, points out that no Democratic Vice President who became President because of death in the White House has ever been re-elected. All who have been re-elected were Republicans. Truman's chances to break the precedent are poor.

Supreme Court Gives Notable Assist To Free Political Speech

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The United States Supreme Court has given a notable assist to free speech in politics. It rules that labor unions and business companies, as well, may urge the election or defeat of political candidates or parties in their newspapers or house organs "in the regular course of publication."

Money from more different sources than for many years will now be used in political campaigns. It need not all go through regular political committees. This new source of revenue is outside the Hatch Act, which limits political expenditures. Money thus spent need not, apparently, be reported under the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

The case before the Supreme Court was United States vs. Philip Murray, President of the C.I.O. Mr. Murray did everything he could think of to violate Section 313 of the Taft-Hartley Law, which forbids labor unions and corporations from making contributions or expenditures in elections to Federal office. He did so in order to test his claim that Section 313 was unconstitutional. That was his right. Mr. Murray now goes free. But not because the law is unconstitutional. Refusing to consider that question, the Court simply held that Mr. Murray violated no law because Congress cannot be supposed to have forbidden what he did—the use of the C.I.O. News to urge the election of a candidate for Congress.

Extra Distribution Opposed

I previously expressed the view that Congress could not forbid the expression of political opinion in any publication sent to its regular list of members or subscribers. When the publication goes outside this list, as Mr. Murray caused to be done in his case, by distributing one thousand extra copies free to the general public, I felt that the extra distribution was something Congress could deal with in the interest of the purity of elections.

The Supreme Court, however, gave its okay to the one thousand extra copies, although using the words "in the regular course of publication." If one thousand, why not one hundred thousand, or a million copies? Except for this one point, the Supreme Court's opinion is sound and right.

A new door has been opened which many had thought was shut. For years, corporations and banks have considered that the law made them political eunuchs. Business companies have been afraid to urge the election, or defeat, of candidates in their house organs, or similar publications. They are now as free to do so as labor unions. The gag has been removed for everybody. Business, as well as labor unions, may now speak up.

Provides For Balanced Discussion

The Court said: ". . . to prohibit the publication, by corporations and unions in the regular course of conducting their affairs, of periodicals advising their members, stockholders or customers of danger or advantage to their interests from the adoption of measures or the election to office of men espousing such measures, the gravest doubt would arise in our minds as to its constitutionality."

The amateur in politics, as well as the professional, is now free to win friends and influence people. If business men, as well as labor leaders, will now become articulate, we can look forward to a more balanced discussion of public affairs. The decision may help to defeat old "General Apathy."

Our congratulations to Mr. Murray for winning this notable decision in favor of free speech for everybody—business as well as labor unions. The question is whether those who believe in free enterprise will now be as vocal and energetic as those leaders of labor who promote socialism or collectivism.

Harold Stassen's Future In The Game Of National Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 1.—What is the future of Harold Stassen in national politics?

The almost fanatical support which the former Minnesota governor got from the youth of the country argues that he cannot be crossed off as a political figure. The fact that he is only 41 years old argues that, even if Dewey is elected and serves eight years, a Stassen banner can still be raised over the White House by a president-elect 49 years of age.

It is natural that anyone who has a chance of some day being President will command financial and political support in the interim. But a man cannot continue to be just a seeker of the presidency for eight years. He has to demonstrate by some form of public service that he is abreast of the times in public affairs.

There has been talk of a cabinet place for Stassen. If the former Minnesota governor were a "team player," as the Dewey folks use the phrase, he might work his way up through the national administration but the Dewey people are not likely to welcome Stassen into the cabinet. They fear he would go off on his own and be running for President from the cabinet table—and this isn't the meaning that the Dewey advisers give to the phrase "team play."

Could Have Been in Senate

There remains the Senate, where Stassen could have had a seat in the last few years if he had chosen. Both the present incumbents are Republicans and his friends. Unless a vacancy develops in one or the other of these two seats, Stassen will not be able to keep himself in the limelight there. He could go to the House of Representatives for a while and later the Senate. It would be a convenient place from which to expound views to the country.

Then there is the governorship of Minnesota, in which Stassen has already done a constructive job. But it doesn't lend itself to national publicity as does a seat in Congress.

The real job for Stassen would be the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee after the close of the present campaign. It is a post that has too long been neglected. It has been filled by men of colorless position in the national scene. Yet stimulating the youth of the land and organizing public forums for the discussion of political problems is exactly what is needed and exactly what Stassen has done and can continue to do effectively.

Stassen could not be chosen for such a post unless he had the absolute trust and confidence of Governor Dewey, for the latter will dominate the Republican national committee for the next four years at least. The best way to achieve that trust and confidence is for Stassen to get into the coming campaign with zest and enthusiasm and unremitting energy. If he does an effective job in the campaign, he will establish himself solidly with Dewey and with the regulars in the party. He will also put himself in line for the 1952 nomination if by chance Dewey doesn't win the 1948 election.

Needs Seasoning in Politics

Stassen's mistakes in the pre-convention campaign were due to his inexperience and immaturity in politics. These are surmountable weaknesses. He needs seasoning in national politics.

Stassen may some day win the presidency. He is admired by many a Republican high in the councils of the party who didn't like to be quoted on the matter in the recent contest. He might have been the vice-presidential nominee with Dewey if he had played his cards differently—but the vice presidency has never been a steppingstone to the presidency by the laws of politics. It has led to the higher place only by the laws of chance.

Stassen is much too inspiring a figure to drop out of the national political picture. The chances are he will find an effective way to stay in it and gather to his side the younger Republicans of the nation, especially the World War II veterans who are not likely to be content with a 1920 or 1932 or even 1946 Republicanism.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Virtue Of the Lie

Never before has just plain lying been condoned and even extolled. It has happened that the lie has been explained away or rationalized, but it has not been called "sense and candor." Something must be very wrong with our educational system if a young professor of history, the star of Harvard, can delight in the lie and the liar. Yet that is precisely what Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., does in The New York Times Book Review, front page, in a discussion of "The Man in the Street," by Professor Thomas A. Bailey, of Stanford University.

Professor Bailey, referring to Franklin D. Roosevelt, says:

"Roosevelt repeatedly deceived the American people during the period before Pearl Harbor. . . . He was faced with a terrible dilemma. If he let the people slumber in a fog of isolation, they might well fall prey to Hitler. If they came out unequivocally for intervention, he would be defeated in 1940."

Of this, young Schlesinger comments:

"On the Roosevelt problem he writes with sense and candor."

And further, he says:

"If he was going to induce the people to move at all, Professor Bailey concludes, he had no choice but to trick them into acting for what he conceived to be their best interests."

It is a curiosity of human relations that practically all the men about Roosevelt have questioned his veracity. One assumed that Harry Hopkins was loyal to the last drop, but the Robert Sherwood digest of Hopkins' notes leaves a feeling in the reader that all was not above board with the master. Harold Ickes's comment dittoes. Here is Professor Bailey, who teaches the youth of the country, but who can say that the President of the United States was in a dilemma because he could not decide whether he would tell the people the truth or a lie and he decided to lie—but in a good cause.

The good cause, naturally, was that he should not be defeated in 1940 when he ran for a Third Term. In a word, a lie become a virtue when it keeps the old gang in power. That is what Hitler preached

Now, I, never having been a New Dealer, will not go with them as far as to say that their Boss was untruthful, generally speaking. That accusation ought to be limited to members of the official family who are more familiar with his characteristics. I simply make the point that Professor Bailey and Professor Schlesinger condone the lie and say it is "sense and candor" and a smart business if it fools the people into electing a candidate for public office.

These professors are apparently practical men. They want the best people in government. Schlesinger says of Bailey:

". . . His conclusions are sensible if not new; we must get our best people into government; we must raise the educational level of our entire population; we should keep our heads in times of crisis and remember that in unity there is strength . . ."

Those are wonderful sentiments, but what about liars? John O'Donnell of the New York Dailey News and the Washington Times-Herald, who told the truth as the record now discloses, was given an Iron Cross by President Roosevelt and was held before the nation as a liar and reprobate.

[illegible] O'Donnell told the truth [illegible] was Roosevelt who was deceiving the people. The professors apparently would still insist that Roosevelt was doing it in a good cause, namely, to get himself re-elected.

The logic of their position is difficult to pursue. I suppose Al Capone could, if he hired a foxy enough lawyer and got some professors to act as his apologists, find that he broke the law in a good cause—maybe to maintain order in Chicago. In a society that knows only comparative morality, anything goes if you can away with it. In fact, one might even land in the White House and stay there if the lie is big enough and repeated often enough. If that is what our professors are teaching, maybe it would be better if our children did not learn the bitter facts of life from them.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Decisions

Many of the most significant moments in life are often missed in a mere moment of indecision. Wavering rarely gets us anywhere. We can—and often do—make bad decisions, but the habit of decision is one that leads forward more than it does backward.

Nations as well as individuals are confronted time and again with this matter of a quick and safe decision. Many have had to pay in blood and treasure because of a wrong or delayed decision. The glory of a nation lies in the number of its right decisions. And this is just as true with us as individuals.

In all emergencies a quick decision is essential. The trained mind makes it, and then leaves the final result to a kind Providence. The decisions in youth are far more important than in later years, for then the brain is plastic and good grooves are easily formed for all right ideas to travel. You know the old saying—"The child is father of the man." Milton said it.

The atmosphere is always cleared after a good and prompt decision. In the case of a controversy this is true, and in the regular daily duties of business these decisions are what contribute to a smooth running and efficient organization. It is a triumph for anyone who has learned when to say yes or no! What a host of useful, sober lives there are because of the fact that the little word no was on the job!

This business of making up one's mind is a major task, and one that should be early cultivated, if one would be both happy and successful. The early decision may make all the difference in the world, and give color to all subsequent events. We cannot always prophesy but we can by sincere decisions walk into the light and see further ahead. And then keep walking.

Now that so many young people have gained their diplomas, the decisions that they make are sure to determine their station in life, and their happiness and success will lie largest in what these decisions may be. And each decision becomes an event that may set the course of each one's life.

Marshal Tito Troubled By That "Fine Fellow, Joe"

When an official Communist organ denounces a Communist leader anywhere, it usually means that that gentleman's number is up. By this Red rule of thumb, Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is about to be "purged," or perhaps, in that charming Soviet euphemism, he has already been "taken care of."

An official statement put out by the Cominform (new Communist International), in Prague accuses the Yugoslav Communist party of "departing from the Marx-Lenin line," by which is meant the Stalin line. The Party is denounced as "nationalist," whereas Tito is condemned as a "Trotskyist." Just how a party can be nationalist when its leadership follows the radical international views of Trotsky is a little hard for the Western democratic mind to follow. But despite the niceties of party-line jargon, it is clear that Tito is in trouble.

This is news indeed. Since before the war's end, Marshal Tito has been the strongest Communist leader in Europe outside Russia. The row between Moscow and Belgrade is the first break in the ranks of Russia's nine eastern satellites. Thanks to Soviet censorship, now tighter than ever, one must guess at the reasons for the break. No doubt the horrible epithet "nationalist" provides the key, although the fact that Tito has been negotiating with the United States for an agreement over the payment of $20,000,000 in claims for American property nationalized in Yugoslavia and Tito's claim for some $50,000,000 in Yugoslavia assets which the United States froze in 1941 to keep it out of Axis hands, may be the reason. It is reported that an understanding is about to be reached which may give to Yugoslavia $30,000,000.

As would-be "boss of the Balkans," Tito was disgruntled when Russia failed to break with the United Nations over Trieste, again when she declined to engineer a coup d'etat in Italy before the national election and finally when she side-stepped the opportunity to start a full-scale Communist invasion of Greece. In every case, Russia followed a policy of expediency: she had other fish to fry—in Germany, for example. But Tito apparently reacted by creating a nationalist policy of his own.

The vital question at the moment is whether Tito, the strong man, will decide to recant or will—assuming he is still alive and free—try to break loose from the Moscow leading-strings. In any event, it is cheering to learn of internal troubles behind the Iron Curtain.

Congress Proves Better Judge Than Pres. Truman

When the federal government's fiscal year ended at midnight Wednesday, the books closed on the biggest budget surplus in history. It will take the Treasury employees some days to arrive at the precise figure, but it is in the neighborhood of $8,000,000,000. That is more than total federal revenue before the war.

It is a huge sum of money and it represents a fact of great importance to every American. In a sense, the $8,000,000,000 is merely a figure on paper, as most of it has already been applied on the debt. But this surplus is not only tremendous—it is the second in succession. It says with emphasis that the government is operating on a sound financial basis, however extravagantly it is doing so.

This surplus seems to indicate strongly that the gloomy prophecies heard during the tax-reduction debate will not be borne out. When Congress cut taxes by $4,800,000,000 a year last Spring, over the President's veto Administration voices declared the rates would have to be restored later. Now there is reason to hope further cuts will be possible next year.

Much has happened since President Truman, in his 1947 budget message, estimated the 1948 surplus at $1,200,000,000 if Congress kept the wartime excise taxes, as it did. Congress has slashed income tax rates but has appropriated many billions for foreign aid and rearmament. A large part of this new expenditure will not come until next year. Nevertheless, the 1948 surplus shows that there is a wide margin to work with.

It also proves that the Republican-controlled Congress has been a better judge of income and outgo than the President.

Not-So-Hot Sun

The sun is cooler than we thought. Perhaps you haven't noticed it in the last week, but that's what Science tells us and Science ought to know.

A new, improved atom-smasher that shoots 120,000-volt protons is responsible for the deduction. Experiments with it show that atoms are easier to smash with that potential than was supposed. Hence the energy-making process gives off less heat. And since the heat of the sun is calculated from its approximately known output of energy, temperature estimates must be revised.

But the sun is still too hot to make ice cubes on. Its temperature is approximately 27,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit, more than enough to turn a human body into a cloud of vapor in a split second. But earlier estimates ranged around 33,000,000 degrees. That's hotter, not that it makes any difference.

We're off to take a cold shower.

It's All in the Water

There seems to be something about fluorine, a chemical element that retards decay of teeth in a most amazing way. In Texas, for example, there is a county where the almost total absence of dental cavities appears due to fluorine occurring naturally in the water. The dental professon as a whole has now recognized this property of fluorine in combating decay.

In southern New Jersey the U. S. Public Health Service has been adding more substantiating facts to its knowledge of fluorine and teeth. In 1927 the shallow wells of Glassboro, Pitman and Woodstown were replaced by deep ones. The water in them was found to contain natural fluorine salts.

"Studies have since disclosed that five-year-old children in the three towns had nearly 85 per cent less tooth decay than children of the same age in nearby Williamstown and Clayton where water supplies lacked fluorine." Morever, children moving in from elsewhere had a lessening in the rate of decay.

The Public Health Service recommends that the teeth of small children be treated with fluorine in most parts of the country.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Warmth Encourages Food Contamination

There are many types of food poisoning and the most common are caused by bacteria or bacterial toxins. This is in contrast to the illnesses resulting from edibles containing poisonous chemicals or from certain varieties of mushrooms and mussels.

Dr. Van Dellen

Various species of organisms are responsible for true food poisoning but salmonella and staphylococci are the chief culprits. Contamination usually takes place when the edibles are allowed to remain unrefrigerated for several hours. In a warm environment, the germs take advantage of the situation and multiply rapidly; by the time the food is consumed, they are ready to attack in full force.

Pastries such as pies and cakes with cream fillings, custards, and picnic salads supply the best culture media; sausage and chopped meat are not far behind. Some butchers are careless in allowing scraps to lie on the table until they are ready to be ground. Furthermore, if the grinder is not kept clean, bits of polluted meat stay in the meshes overnight or longer.

In cases like this, staphylococci are generally to blame. They often come from humans because they inhabit the skin and are responsible for such infections as boils and festered wounds. Cooking kills them but this is no guarantee that food will remain free of the germs when it is exposed, especially in summer weather. Now and then they are transmitted through the air, particularly if some one in the kitchen has a cold.

Rats and mice also play a role. These pests are susceptible to the salmonella groups of microbes, which frequently kill them. Some recover, however, and they are left as carriers; in one investigation, 4 per cent of the mouse population were found to be infected. Hence rodents are potentially dangerous in bakeries and other food establishments. Flies also enter the picture since they are in contact with the droppings.

Within two to six hours after tainted food is eaten, the victim is notified in no uncertain terms. Abdominal cramps, violent diarrhea, and retching ensue and symptoms may be so severe that in a short time, the sufferer is exhausted. If untreated, the manifestations continue 12 to 24 hours and then subside but a day or two longer will be required to regain enough strength to carry on.

Castor oil was once a popular treatment but it is rarely employed today because we can hardly improve on the job that nature is doing. Relief may be obtained with one of the opium products, kaolin, or bismuth. During the acute stage, food should be withheld. A full diet ought to be resumed gradually as the irritated bowel absorbs poorly and if too much nutriment is taken, indigestion is likely to be encountered for some time thereafter. It is natural for constipation to follow such a siege, and the individual should not be too hasty in requesting a laxative.

Food poisoning is often hard to trace unless a large number of persons become ill after eating the same meal. Otherwise a bacteriologist would have to obtain samples of the remaining food plus specimens from the victim.

Fixed Blood Type

Mrs. K.P. writes: Does an individual's blood type ever change due to transfusions or after operation or childbirth?

REPLY

All of us have one of four blood groupings: A, B, AB, or O. We retain this type thruout life. As a rule, no change is occasioned by the conditions you mention.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

You want more milk? Just give Bossy a topcoat . . . it works, thirteen Guernsey cows, owned by Mrs. Barbara Woodhouse, wear coats throughout the year to improve their milk yield.

I can see it all now - - A cow dressed up wearing a topcoat, muffler and one glove.

Of course, the cows wearing coats with fur collars give only cream cheese.

They had a little trouble with one cow. She refused to give milk until she got a belt in the back.

It's getting to be a little ridiculous, though. I saw one farmer bringing his cow into Adrian's for a fitting.

All this is causing changes in farm life. The cows are now giving three types of milk - - Grade A, Grade B, and tweed.

The flies have disappeared from the barn. They've been replaced by moths.

And when one cow challenged another cow to a fight, a bull offered to hold their coats.

The cows are getting very temperamental now that they are wearing the new look, when one farmer came to milk his cow she looked up at him and said, "Please, not while I'm dressing."

This new trend is a great help to President Truman's campaign. He's sure of getting the farm vote when the cows find out he used to be a haberdasher.

Democratic National Committee Falls Apart Over Truman; Tito Admitted Trouble In Yugoslavia At Secret Meeting; White House And Special Session

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 1—Despite optimistic statements by Democratic Chairman Howard McGrath, the Democratic National Committee has begun to fall apart at the seams. McGrath is trying desperately to hold it together behind President Truman—but it isn't holding.

One national committeeman, Eugene Mahoney of Sioux Falls, S. D., has written McGrath a letter urging him to conduct an honest poll of the grass roots before trying to nominate Truman.

"As I understand it, it is not the duty of the National Committee to at all costs endeavor to bring about the nomination of President Truman," wrote Mahoney. "It is the duty and responsibility of the National Committee to lead the Democratic Party to victory and to take the leadership in bringing about the nomination of a candidate who can win.

"I would suggest," continued the South Dakota national committeeman, "that you as Chairman of the Democratic Party make a very comprehensive survey of the nation, and let the results of that survey guide you in your course of action. I would also suggest that that survey not be confined to a few political leaders, but that you actually make a grass-root survey as was only done by Jim Farley in 1932.

"No doubt," Mahoney concluded, "if President Truman knew the true situation, he would step aside and withdraw to aid and assist in the selection of a candidate who could and would win."

Inside Yugoslavia

One clue as to what's happening inside Yugoslavia is a speech Marshal Tito made at a secret meeting of the Oblasni Egzekutivni Odbor (Red Executive Board) at Zagreb a short time ago. Speaking to his fellow Communist leaders, Tito was extremely frank in admitting trouble inside Yugoslavia. Here is a translation of the one part of his speech:

"Comrades, you know very well that the peasant is not with us. This was made quite evident with the State's purchase of grain surpluses. The plan was a failure, as less than 50 per cent of the fixed quantity was delivered by the peasants. The peasant is cunning and refractory and his belief in gods and priests cannot easily be driven out of his mind. Because of that, we have had many difficulties and trouble. I will not indulge now in matters of religion, but if some day the priests rouse the people by ringing the churches' bells, it is certain that we shall have to face a complete uprisal. And the peasants are well armed.

"On account of all that, I have issued all necessary orders and instructions. We need time for a complete success. Therefore, get to work and work hard, as there is not much time left. I wish you, comrades, much luck and full success!"

Note—It may have been that Moscow, because of internal troubles in Yugoslavia, decided to junk Tito.

Special Congress ? ?

Some White House advisers are strongly urging the President to call Congress back for a special session immediately after the Democratic Convention.

They tell Truman that he should insist on the enactment of major legislation, such as the Taft-Ellender-Wagner public housing bill, which, though blocked in Congress, was indorsed in the GOP Convention platform.

Friends tell Truman that if GOP leaders continue to block housing during the special session, he could then charge them with failure to carry out platform pledges.

Other advisers, however, have told Truman that it would be wiser politically not to call a special session, but to let these Republicans stew in the juice of their Congressional mistakes.

Since the President plans to make Congress his No. 1 campaign issue if renominated, the latter is probably what he will do.

Under The Dome

A.F. of L. President William Green was even hotter against the Republicans in his private talk to President Truman than when he issued his blast later. "The Republicans," Green told Truman, "ignored us at Philadelphia. There was nothing favorable to labor in the platform. We didn't have a look-in.". . . J. D. Parker, the North Carolina winemaker, indicted for income-tax evasion, has entered a Virginia mental institution — some people think to get out of a very tight fix. But while supposed to be sick, Parker has been seen on the streets of Raleigh—so the Justice Department will prosecute anyway. . . . Negotiations between London and Washington for Britain's participation in the Marshall Plan are stymied. The British accuse us of trying to regulate the pound sterling in return for Marshall Plan aid. For two weeks diplomats haven't been able to break the deadlock.

Spaatz Speaks

One reason Air Chief of Staff "Tooey" Spaatz retired from the Army was that he felt he could do the Air Force more good on the outside. For the first time, he is now preparing to speak his mind fearlessly in a flood of magazine and newspaper articles.

Unhampered by military restrictions, Spaatz will tell bluntly how he thinks America should meet the threat of another war. He will also warn that the United States will have two independent air forces on its hands as long as the Navy is given free rein in the air.

Merry-Go-Round

When newly elected GOP Chairman Hugh Scott of Philadelphia walked into the first meeting of the Republican National Committee, only four members recognized their new boss. He was really appointed by Joe "High Tariff" Grundy to make sure Pennsylvania gets its share of jobs. . . . The battle between Pennsylvania's Governor Jim Duff and the Martin-Grundy machine didn't just happen at Philadelphia. For some time Duff has been trying to build up a revitalized, progressive Republicanism, with Grundy-Martin desperately trying to block him. Now that Dewey has given Pennsylvania's huge chunk of 40,000 Federal jobs to the Grundy-Martin machine, it will go merrily forward. Progressive Republicanism in Pennsylvania is out. . . . Stan Arnold of "Star Spangled Banter," who loves history-probing, points out that no Democratic Vice President who became President because of death in the White House has ever been re-elected. All who have been re-elected were Republicans. Truman's chances to break the precedent are poor.

Supreme Court Gives Notable Assist To Free Political Speech

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The United States Supreme Court has given a notable assist to free speech in politics. It rules that labor unions and business companies, as well, may urge the election or defeat of political candidates or parties in their newspapers or house organs "in the regular course of publication."

Money from more different sources than for many years will now be used in political campaigns. It need not all go through regular political committees. This new source of revenue is outside the Hatch Act, which limits political expenditures. Money thus spent need not, apparently, be reported under the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

The case before the Supreme Court was United States vs. Philip Murray, President of the C.I.O. Mr. Murray did everything he could think of to violate Section 313 of the Taft-Hartley Law, which forbids labor unions and corporations from making contributions or expenditures in elections to Federal office. He did so in order to test his claim that Section 313 was unconstitutional. That was his right. Mr. Murray now goes free. But not because the law is unconstitutional. Refusing to consider that question, the Court simply held that Mr. Murray violated no law because Congress cannot be supposed to have forbidden what he did—the use of the C.I.O. News to urge the election of a candidate for Congress.

Extra Distribution Opposed

I previously expressed the view that Congress could not forbid the expression of political opinion in any publication sent to its regular list of members or subscribers. When the publication goes outside this list, as Mr. Murray caused to be done in his case, by distributing one thousand extra copies free to the general public, I felt that the extra distribution was something Congress could deal with in the interest of the purity of elections.

The Supreme Court, however, gave its okay to the one thousand extra copies, although using the words "in the regular course of publication." If one thousand, why not one hundred thousand, or a million copies? Except for this one point, the Supreme Court's opinion is sound and right.

A new door has been opened which many had thought was shut. For years, corporations and banks have considered that the law made them political eunuchs. Business companies have been afraid to urge the election, or defeat, of candidates in their house organs, or similar publications. They are now as free to do so as labor unions. The gag has been removed for everybody. Business, as well as labor unions, may now speak up.

Provides For Balanced Discussion

The Court said: ". . . to prohibit the publication, by corporations and unions in the regular course of conducting their affairs, of periodicals advising their members, stockholders or customers of danger or advantage to their interests from the adoption of measures or the election to office of men espousing such measures, the gravest doubt would arise in our minds as to its constitutionality."

The amateur in politics, as well as the professional, is now free to win friends and influence people. If business men, as well as labor leaders, will now become articulate, we can look forward to a more balanced discussion of public affairs. The decision may help to defeat old "General Apathy."

Our congratulations to Mr. Murray for winning this notable decision in favor of free speech for everybody—business as well as labor unions. The question is whether those who believe in free enterprise will now be as vocal and energetic as those leaders of labor who promote socialism or collectivism.

Harold Stassen's Future In The Game Of National Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 1.—What is the future of Harold Stassen in national politics?

The almost fanatical support which the former Minnesota governor got from the youth of the country argues that he cannot be crossed off as a political figure. The fact that he is only 41 years old argues that, even if Dewey is elected and serves eight years, a Stassen banner can still be raised over the White House by a president-elect 49 years of age.

It is natural that anyone who has a chance of some day being President will command financial and political support in the interim. But a man cannot continue to be just a seeker of the presidency for eight years. He has to demonstrate by some form of public service that he is abreast of the times in public affairs.

There has been talk of a cabinet place for Stassen. If the former Minnesota governor were a "team player," as the Dewey folks use the phrase, he might work his way up through the national administration but the Dewey people are not likely to welcome Stassen into the cabinet. They fear he would go off on his own and be running for President from the cabinet table—and this isn't the meaning that the Dewey advisers give to the phrase "team play."

Could Have Been in Senate

There remains the Senate, where Stassen could have had a seat in the last few years if he had chosen. Both the present incumbents are Republicans and his friends. Unless a vacancy develops in one or the other of these two seats, Stassen will not be able to keep himself in the limelight there. He could go to the House of Representatives for a while and later the Senate. It would be a convenient place from which to expound views to the country.

Then there is the governorship of Minnesota, in which Stassen has already done a constructive job. But it doesn't lend itself to national publicity as does a seat in Congress.

The real job for Stassen would be the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee after the close of the present campaign. It is a post that has too long been neglected. It has been filled by men of colorless position in the national scene. Yet stimulating the youth of the land and organizing public forums for the discussion of political problems is exactly what is needed and exactly what Stassen has done and can continue to do effectively.

Stassen could not be chosen for such a post unless he had the absolute trust and confidence of Governor Dewey, for the latter will dominate the Republican national committee for the next four years at least. The best way to achieve that trust and confidence is for Stassen to get into the coming campaign with zest and enthusiasm and unremitting energy. If he does an effective job in the campaign, he will establish himself solidly with Dewey and with the regulars in the party. He will also put himself in line for the 1952 nomination if by chance Dewey doesn't win the 1948 election.

Needs Seasoning in Politics

Stassen's mistakes in the pre-convention campaign were due to his inexperience and immaturity in politics. These are surmountable weaknesses. He needs seasoning in national politics.

Stassen may some day win the presidency. He is admired by many a Republican high in the councils of the party who didn't like to be quoted on the matter in the recent contest. He might have been the vice-presidential nominee with Dewey if he had played his cards differently—but the vice presidency has never been a steppingstone to the presidency by the laws of politics. It has led to the higher place only by the laws of chance.

Stassen is much too inspiring a figure to drop out of the national political picture. The chances are he will find an effective way to stay in it and gather to his side the younger Republicans of the nation, especially the World War II veterans who are not likely to be content with a 1920 or 1932 or even 1946 Republicanism.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Virtue Of the Lie

Never before has just plain lying been condoned and even extolled. It has happened that the lie has been explained away or rationalized, but it has not been called "sense and candor." Something must be very wrong with our educational system if a young professor of history, the star of Harvard, can delight in the lie and the liar. Yet that is precisely what Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., does in The New York Times Book Review, front page, in a discussion of "The Man in the Street," by Professor Thomas A. Bailey, of Stanford University.

Professor Bailey, referring to Franklin D. Roosevelt, says:

"Roosevelt repeatedly deceived the American people during the period before Pearl Harbor. . . . He was faced with a terrible dilemma. If he let the people slumber in a fog of isolation, they might well fall prey to Hitler. If they came out unequivocally for intervention, he would be defeated in 1940."

Of this, young Schlesinger comments:

"On the Roosevelt problem he writes with sense and candor."

And further, he says:

"If he was going to induce the people to move at all, Professor Bailey concludes, he had no choice but to trick them into acting for what he conceived to be their best interests."

It is a curiosity of human relations that practically all the men about Roosevelt have questioned his veracity. One assumed that Harry Hopkins was loyal to the last drop, but the Robert Sherwood digest of Hopkins' notes leaves a feeling in the reader that all was not above board with the master. Harold Ickes's comment dittoes. Here is Professor Bailey, who teaches the youth of the country, but who can say that the President of the United States was in a dilemma because he could not decide whether he would tell the people the truth or a lie and he decided to lie—but in a good cause.

The good cause, naturally, was that he should not be defeated in 1940 when he ran for a Third Term. In a word, a lie become a virtue when it keeps the old gang in power. That is what Hitler preached

Now, I, never having been a New Dealer, will not go with them as far as to say that their Boss was untruthful, generally speaking. That accusation ought to be limited to members of the official family who are more familiar with his characteristics. I simply make the point that Professor Bailey and Professor Schlesinger condone the lie and say it is "sense and candor" and a smart business if it fools the people into electing a candidate for public office.

These professors are apparently practical men. They want the best people in government. Schlesinger says of Bailey:

". . . His conclusions are sensible if not new; we must get our best people into government; we must raise the educational level of our entire population; we should keep our heads in times of crisis and remember that in unity there is strength . . ."

Those are wonderful sentiments, but what about liars? John O'Donnell of the New York Dailey News and the Washington Times-Herald, who told the truth as the record now discloses, was given an Iron Cross by President Roosevelt and was held before the nation as a liar and reprobate.

[illegible] O'Donnell told the truth [illegible] was Roosevelt who was deceiving the people. The professors apparently would still insist that Roosevelt was doing it in a good cause, namely, to get himself re-elected.

The logic of their position is difficult to pursue. I suppose Al Capone could, if he hired a foxy enough lawyer and got some professors to act as his apologists, find that he broke the law in a good cause—maybe to maintain order in Chicago. In a society that knows only comparative morality, anything goes if you can away with it. In fact, one might even land in the White House and stay there if the lie is big enough and repeated often enough. If that is what our professors are teaching, maybe it would be better if our children did not learn the bitter facts of life from them.

Today's Talk

Decisions

Many of the most significant moments in life are often missed in a mere moment of indecision. Wavering rarely gets us anywhere. We can—and often do—make bad decisions, but the habit of decision is one that leads forward more than it does backward.

Nations as well as individuals are confronted time and again with this matter of a quick and safe decision. Many have had to pay in blood and treasure because of a wrong or delayed decision. The glory of a nation lies in the number of its right decisions. And this is just as true with us as individuals.

In all emergencies a quick decision is essential. The trained mind makes it, and then leaves the final result to a kind Providence. The decisions in youth are far more important than in later years, for then the brain is plastic and good grooves are easily formed for all right ideas to travel. You know the old saying—"The child is father of the man." Milton said it.

The atmosphere is always cleared after a good and prompt decision. In the case of a controversy this is true, and in the regular daily duties of business these decisions are what contribute to a smooth running and efficient organization. It is a triumph for anyone who has learned when to say yes or no! What a host of useful, sober lives there are because of the fact that the little word no was on the job!

This business of making up one's mind is a major task, and one that should be early cultivated, if one would be both happy and successful. The early decision may make all the difference in the world, and give color to all subsequent events. We cannot always prophesy but we can by sincere decisions walk into the light and see further ahead. And then keep walking.

Now that so many young people have gained their diplomas, the decisions that they make are sure to determine their station in life, and their happiness and success will lie largest in what these decisions may be. And each decision becomes an event that may set the course of each one's life.

Housing Measure Signed By Truman

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — A housing bill designed to help war veterans finance their homes became law today when President Truman signed it — but he blasted it at the same time as a "teeny-weeny" bill.

He said it was a piece of slipshod legislation that failed miserably to meet long-range housing needs such as slum clearance, housing research and low-cost homes.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), sponsor of the bill, replied that the President's statement indicates that the administration is committed to "the same socialistic tendencies we have been fighting since 1935."

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) defended the bill on the grounds that it helps the immediate housing problem. He indicated he would renew his fight for a long-range program in the next Congress.

Taft said the big trouble facing veterans now is getting a secondary market for GI loans, and the bill takes care of that.

Taft is co-sponsor with Democrat Sen. Ellender (La) and Wagner (NY) of a housing bill that the President favored. But Congress, in its last-minute rush to adjourn, brushed aside the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill and passed Wolcott's.

Under the new law, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is permitted to buy mortgages guaranteed by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration from banks and other lenders, so that they will not become overloaded and shut down on cerdit.

The Federal Housing Administration is also permitted to insure up to 95 per cent of loans for non-profit veterans' co-operative housing projects.

Administration Foreign Policy Rapped By Dewey

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey aimed his campaign guns today at the national administration's foreign policy, which he declared had been bi-partisan only in United Nations participation.

The Republican presidential nominee asserted that the bi-partisan policy, which he said he founded in 1944, "has not applied in the other fields of foreign affairs, in most of which there has been no consultation by the administration with the Republican leadership."

These "other fields," Dewey said at a news conference, included "the Greek-Turkish policy which was handed to the American people without consultation, the Potsdam conference and the entire China policy, or lack of one."

Divorce Settlement Of 3.5 Million Reported

RENO, Nev., July 1. (AP)—A divorce settlement of $3,500,000—probably the largest in Reno divorce history—is reported to have been made on the wife of a New York banker.

Her attorney, Lester Summerfield, said she is establishing Nevada residence and has been at swanky Cal-Neva Lodge for two weeks. He refused to comment on the divorce settlement report and Mrs. Lehman was unavailable at the lodge.

Yesterday the Communist leadership of Bulgaria lined up with the Cominform. But the Bulgarian stand was tempered by statements from the government (as distinguished from the Communist Party) that friendly relations between Yugoslavia and Bulgaria continued unchanged.

One conclusion some diplomats reached:

Since the Communist Parties in Albania and Bulgaria have lined up with Moscow against Tito, it appears highly unlikely that any of the parties in countries less directly exposed to Yugoslav force and influence will line up on Tito's side.

Albania, a wild and mountainous country penned on the shores of the Adriatic by Yugoslavia and Greece, is the most vulnerable of all the Communist states to Yugoslavia and the most remote from Russia.

Truman Says

McGrath "Correct"

Politics was the chief subject figuring in questions put to the President today in his first news conference in nearly a month.

He first was asked whether McGrath was correct when he predicted Monday the President would be nominated on the first ballot. Mr. Truman said the chairman was correct.

To a question whether he believed the convention would be a "free and open" one, he said Democratic conventions are always that way.

"Are you going to Philadelphia?" Truman was asked. No comment on that at this time, was the reply.

Asked for his opinion of the Republican ticket of Govs. Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren, he said he would comment during the campaign. But he added he liked Gov. Warren and had nothing against Dewey, except that he expected to beat them both in the campaign.

Elgin Urges Council To Approve Automobile Inspection Stations

BALTIMORE, July 1—(AP)—W. Lee Elgin, commissioner of motor vehicles, urged the Legislative Council today to approve a bill which would set up state-operated motor vehicle inspection stations.

Representatives of safety organizations, automobile clubs and other groups also appeared before the council—interim committee of the Legislature—to support the plan for compulsory semi-annual inspections.

Under Elgin's proposal, the state would authorize the issuance of $1,250,000 in bonds, to be amortized over a 15-year period. The money would be used to build and equip stations in each of the 23 counties and four in Baltimore City.

Elgin estimated that if each owner were charged an inspection fee of $1 a year, the state would collect about $600,000 annually.

He said operating expenses would total about $455,000 a year, leaving about $145,000 to apply to bond payments.

Washington I. Cleveland, representing the Montgomery County Safety Council, said that, in some cases, Maryland cars have been inspected in the District of Columbia and, being considered too defective for safe operation, were towed to the Maryland line, where owners again took over the wheel.

A similar measure failed of passage during the 1947 General Assembly session.

Pauley literally admitted making money on commodity speculations but hotly denied he did so with "inside information." The Senate committee before which he testified, has yet to make a report on its findings.

Premature Disclosure

Andresen's unit, which tangled with former Agriculture Secretary Anderson but worked without Kleig lights and prominent witnesses, reported that it "found no fact" to support rumors that well known federal officials speculated in foodstuffs under assumed names.

The House report said that commodity transactions of the 823 federal employes and officials represented an estimated $212,920,697. It added:

"Considering profits and losses of the 823 employes engaged in speculative commodity trading, a conservative estimate would place the net profit from 10 million, to 20 million dollars."

The report listed one instance of premature disclosure of a government decision to increase the allocations of fats and oils for export.

It said that a girl in the Department of Commerce, whose name was withheld, telephoned the information to a friend who worked for the Institute of Shortening Manufacturers. Thus, the report continued, private interests had the vital information one day ahead of its official release.

Gasoline Tax Revenue Will Set State Record

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 1. (AP)—While state fiscal experts busily totted up their balance sheets, at least one new revenue record appeared certain for Maryland today.

Chief Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker said gasoline taxes probably would add up to $19,054,330 when the books are finally closed on the 1948 fiscal year.

The year ended last midnight, but bookkeepers prophesied another two weeks would elapse before all the columns are totalled.

A heavy increase in gasoline tax receipts was anticipated when the impost was boosted from four to five cents per gallon last July 1.

Throughout the 1947 fiscal year, the levy brought in $14,468,322.

Half the money goes directly to the State Roads Commission for state use, 30 per cent to Baltimore City and the remainder to the roads commission for county use.

Tito Receives

Citing a Bulgarian Communist communique endorsing the Cominform action, Borba said this was "one more example of the unprincipled methods used in the campaign" to destroy Tito.

It asked how Bulgarian-Yugoslav brotherhood could be advanced when Bulgarian leaders joined in accusing Yugoslav leadership of such "fantastic things."

Bulgaria was one of the countries mentioned yesterday in a Yugoslav Communist program for a projected Balkan bloc with Yugoslavia and Albania.

United States government monitors in Washington said they recorded a Communist broadcast from Albania saying that country also stands with Russia and that Yugoslav leaders were guilty of "open treason." The report could not be confirmed here, but well-informed quarters did not doubt the broadcast was authentic.

The Communist Party of Austria, taking advantage of the inter-Communist fight against Tito, declared its rejection of Yugoslav territorial claims for parts of Southern Austria. The Austrian Communist newspaper said the Yuoslav claims were "nationalistic." The paper did not mention that Russia has supported the Yugoslav claims.

Party Leader Says Truman Has Picked Up Strength In Maryland

Baltimore, July 1 (AP)—Robert B. Ennis, chairman of the Maryland Democratic State Central Committee, said today President Truman has lost no strength among Maryland delegates to the Democratic national Convention because of the new talk about drafting Gen. Eisenhower.

"In fact," said Ennis, "he has picked up strength."

The Maryland delegation has 20 votes in the national convention, which opens in Philadelphia a week from Monday.

It was instructed at the state convention last month to cast their votes in a bloc and to cast them for the President as long as he has "a reasonable chance" of winning the nomination.

The delegates also are to vote as a unit for the nomination of Sen. Millard Tydings for Vice President until he releases them personally.

Maryland has 28 delegates to cast its 20 votes and they will go to Philadelphia a week from Sunday, on the eve of the convention's opening.

On their schedule for Sunday night at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel is a caucus at which they will name a delegation chairman. Gov. Lane, who also is Democratic national committeeman for Maryland, is expected to get the job.

The caucus also is to name Maryland representatives on several important convention committees. Philip B. Perlman, Baltimore attorney who is Solicitor General of the United States, already has been named to the convention platform committee. Mrs. Garland L. Nock, Salisbury, also will be on that panel.

The Roman toga, which was worn as a loose outer garment by citizens when appearing in public, consisted of a single large piece of cloth of a shape approaching a semi-circle.

Truman Approves Funds For VA, Atom Commission

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — President Truman has signed appropriations of $5,819,659,851 to run various government bureaus, including the Veterans Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission, through the fiscal year beginning today.

The biggest chunk, $5,125,309,000 in cash, goes to the Veterans Administration. The VA also gets $43,000,000 in contract authority, for which cash will have to be appropriated later.

The VA gets approximately $649,850,000 less than it had to spend during the 1948 fiscal year, ended yesterday.

The bill carries $511,850,000 for the Atomic Energy Commission. This is a compromise between amounts originally voted by the Senate and House.

The law provides for disbanding the War Assets Administration next February 28. The House voted originally to abolish it August 31 this year.

Housing Measure Signed By Truman

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — A housing bill designed to help war veterans finance their homes became law today when President Truman signed it — but he blasted it at the same time as a "teeny-weeny" bill.

He said it was a piece of slipshod legislation that failed miserably to meet long-range housing needs such as slum clearance, housing research and low-cost homes.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), sponsor of the bill, replied that the President's statement indicates that the administration is committed to "the same socialistic tendencies we have been fighting since 1935."

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) defended the bill on the grounds that it helps the immediate housing problem. He indicated he would renew his fight for a long-range program in the next Congress.

Taft said the big trouble facing veterans now is getting a secondary market for GI loans, and the bill takes care of that.

Taft is co-sponsor with Democrat Sen. Ellender (La) and Wagner (NY) of a housing bill that the President favored. But Congress, in its last-minute rush to adjourn, brushed aside the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill and passed Wolcott's.

Under the new law, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is permitted to buy mortgages guaranteed by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration from banks and other lenders, so that they will not become overloaded and shut down on cerdit.

The Federal Housing Administration is also permitted to insure up to 95 per cent of loans for non-profit veterans' co-operative housing projects.

Administration Foreign Policy Rapped By Dewey

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey aimed his campaign guns today at the national administration's foreign policy, which he declared had been bi-partisan only in United Nations participation.

The Republican presidential nominee asserted that the bi-partisan policy, which he said he founded in 1944, "has not applied in the other fields of foreign affairs, in most of which there has been no consultation by the administration with the Republican leadership."

These "other fields," Dewey said at a news conference, included "the Greek-Turkish policy which was handed to the American people without consultation, the Potsdam conference and the entire China policy, or lack of one."

Divorce Settlement Of 3.5 Million Reported

RENO, Nev., July 1. (AP)—A divorce settlement of $3,500,000—probably the largest in Reno divorce history—is reported to have been made on the wife of a New York banker.

The woman, Mrs. Evelyn Lehman, is the wife of Allan S. Lehman, member of a New York banking firm and the nephew of New York's former governor, Herbert Lehman.

Her attorney, Lester Summerfield, said she is establishing Nevada residence and has been at swanky Cal-Neva Lodge for two weeks. He refused to comment on the divorce settlement report and Mrs. Lehman was unavailable at the lodge.

Yugo Leaders

inform criticisms and, in effect, proclaimed Tito's independence of Moscow dictation.

Yesterday the Communist leadership of Bulgaria lined up with the Cominform. But the Bulgarian stand was tempered by statements from the government (as distinguished from the Communist Party) that friendly relations between Yugoslavia and Bulgaria continued unchanged.

One conclusion some diplomats reached:

Since the Communist Parties in Albania and Bulgaria have lined up with Moscow against Tito, it appears highly unlikely that any of the parties in countries less directly exposed to Yugoslav force and influence will line up on Tito's side.

Albania, a wild and mountainous country penned on the shores of the Adriatic by Yugoslavia and Greece, is the most vulnerable of all the Communist states to Yugoslavia and the most remote from Russia.

To a question whether he believed the convention would be a "free and open" one, he said Democratic conventions are always that way.

Brazil Nuts Banish Some Sandwich Blues

Summertime is sandwich time and don't you know it! Your menfolk want them to take on fishing trips. Your youngsters beg them for that hike and to take to eat after swimming. Lunch at home makes its demand on the sandwich, too, to say nothing of the proverbial summer picnics. It's as easy to get in a rut with sandwich makings as it is for any other meal item. If that happens, next thing you know you're hearing those "same old sandwich" blues!

The best way to banish the "same old sandwich" blues is to introduce a new food into the fillings for your sandwiches, one with pep and crunch and different flavor. Why not be really different and get your new look in sandwiches with chopped Brazil nuts in the filling! Easy as can be to use, all you do is run shelled Brazil nuts through the coarse blade of your food chopper and there are your chopped nuts, always ready, always enticingly flavored. Store them in a jar in the refrigerator and you can zip them into an assortment of familiar fillings that will take on that something new with the help of the nut that comes from Brazil.

Brazil Nuts Have Complete Protein

Brazil nuts would make ideal sandwich accessories if only for their chewy texture and rich flavor but remember they've nutrition to offer, too. Brazil nuts are the nut that has complete protein and they've also Vitamin B and energy value. Here's a basket of Brazil nut notions that make such good sandwiches, you'll run no risk of hearing the "same old sandwich" blues at your house!

Quickie Conserve: Combine 1 cup apricot jam or any other favorite fruit jam or marmalade with ¼ cup ground Brabil nuts. YIELD: 1¼ cups.

Brazil Nut Chicken: Combine 1½ cups ground chicken, ¾ cup ground Brazil nuts, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, and ¼ teaspoon salt. YIELD 1½ cups.

Garden Goodie: Put 4 medium carrots, 1 small green pepper through food chopper using medium blade. Combine with ¾ cup ground Brazil nuts, ¼ teaspoons salt and 3 tablespoons mayonnaise. YIELD: 1¼ cups.

Snow White Special: Combine 1 cup cottage cheese with ¾ cup ground Brazil nuts and ¼ teaspoon salt. YIELD: 1¼ cups.

Avirett Will Study Subversive Activities

A former Cumberland man, John W. Avirett, yesterday was named to serve on the Maryland subversive activities committee which is headed by Frank B. Ober, who was appointed by Governor William Preston Lane.

Avirett, now a Baltimore attorney, will serve with the group which was created by the recent special session of the Legislature, for the "exposure and expurgation of subversive activities" in Maryland.

Others appointed to the commission were State Senator Wilmer C. Carter, who introduced the resolution; Attorney Morton E. Rome; Brig. Gen. William C. Purnell; state Senators H. H. Balch (D-Talbot) and D. K. McLaughlin (R-Washington); Delegates Charles M. Bandiere (D-5th-Balto); T. Raymond Burch (D-Prince Georges) and Leona M. Rush (R-Montgomery).

Mine Holiday Causes Drop In Coal Movement

The mine holiday has caused a fall of 60 per cent movement of coal over the Western Maryland Railway, a company official said yesterday.

The decline began June 26, the first day of the holiday, and the slump is expected to continue through July 8, two days after the miners return to the pits. But coal traffic over the railway is expected to return to Normal by July 9.

Approximately 4,000 Cumberland area miners are involved in the union-ordered vacation.

A spokesman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday said the holiday had not affected the movement of coal over the company's lines, and coal industrial plants are operating on schedule despite the holiday.

Humid Weather Is Bolstering Crops

Maryland fruit and grain crops, which last week took a $1,000,000 beating from wind, rain and hail, are being bolstered by the current humid weather, according to the Baltimore Weather Bureau.

The bureau said area farmers report good crops of barley, hay and oats. Barley harvest is nearing completion, hay is progressing, and oats seem generally fair to good, according to reports.

Apple prospects seem generally poor for the better varieties of fruit. Peaches, however, are being thinned and crop prospects remain good.

World News Pictures Placed On Display

Photographs depicting up-to-the-minute world news are being displayed in the windows of The Times-News Building on South Mechanic Street.

Pictures are received daily by The Times-News from 7 a. m to 1 a. m. through the nation-wide Associated Press wirephoto hookup. Since it is impossible to print all of these photos, the surplus display enables downtown shoppers and persons waiting for buses to actually "keep ahead of the news" in pictures.

All of the displayed photos are explained in accompanying typewritten lines. There is a complete change of pictures every day in The Times-News windows.

Paintings and ceremonial structures are found in the Danskin canyons on the south fork of the Boise river, Idaho. The canyons were formerly used as an assembly place for Indians.

Niece Of Local Women Killed By Gun Blast

Mrs. Polly Payne Rodenish, Ida May, W. Va., near Fairmont, was slain Wednesday by two rifle shots which West Virginia authorities say were fired by her husband during an argument.

The victim was a niece of Mrs. Mildred Fisher and Mrs. Daniel Collins, Ridgeley. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Snyder, Ida May, were visiting in Ridgeley, when the tragedy happened.

Sir John Charles Bucknill (1817-1897), an English alienist, born at Market Bosworth, did much to improve the treatment of the insane in hospitals.

Smoke Inspector Post To Be Filled Soon

A deputy smoke abatement inspector will be appointed by July 15. Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

The mayor reported 15 Cumberland men have applied for the post to date, and added a local man will be named as deputy to George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer.

Salary for the post has not been fixed, but the mayor indicated it will be approximately $250 a month.

Hitchcock also will be allowed a secretary, according to the mayor, who said she will be appointed this month.

HERE ARE 14 WAYS TO FIX POTATOES AS YOU LIKE THEM

Boiled In Jackets

Potatoes are at their nutritious best boiled in their jackets until tender. Eat small new potatoes skins and all, but if you must peel them, do it after cooking. This saves time, too, because the skin slips off boiled potatoes. To boil them, just drop the washed potatoes in enough boiling water to cover, and cook in a covered kettle until tender. Drain at once to prevent them from becoming water-logged.

Serve potatoes quick-cooked and steaming hot to retain the most of the valuable C-vitamin. The longer they're exposed to air the more of the vitamin they lose. However, for salad or creaming where firm texture is desired, it is best to chill the spuds before cutting. Keep leftovers covered and cool until ready to use.

Quick Mashed

Peel 6 medium-sized hot cooked potatoes. Mash thoroughly and quickly. Beat in hot milk a little at a time until potatoes are fluffy and smooth. Season with pepper and salt. If desired, add fat, finely chopped green pepper, pimiento, chives, or onion.

Creamed Spuds

Peel and slice 6 medium-sized cooked potatoes. Make a white sauce by blending 3 tablespoons melted fat with 3 tablespoons flour; add 2 cups milk and 1½ teaspoons salt. Cook, stirring, and heat.

For a "different" taste or added food value—grate a little onion or cheese into the sauce, or stir in cooked peas and carrots or chopped parsley just before serving. For a baked dish, pour the creamed potatoes into a greased baking dish. Sprinkle the top with bread crumbs mixed with melted fat.

Potato Salad

Hot—Cook ¾ cup diced salt pork until crisp. Add ¼ cup vinegar, ¼ cup water, 1 medium-sized chopped onion, and 1 quart cubed cooked potatoes. Season with salt and pepper. Heat well.

Cold—Slice or dice cooked potatoes. Season with salt, chopped onion, and salad dressing. If desired, add sliced hard-cooked eggs.

Quick Potato Soup

3 cups cubed potatoes
2 tablespoons chopped onion.
2 tablespoons fat
1½ cups boiling water
4 cups milk
1½ teaspoons salt
Pepper

Cook the potatoes, onion, and fat in the water until the potatoes are tender. Add the milk, salt, and pepper. Heat and serve.

Potato Hot Pot

3 cups sliced or diced potatoes
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
2 tablespoons fat
3½ cups tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
Pepper

Cook the potatoes and onion in the fat 10 minutes. Add the tomatoes, salt, and pepper. Cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes, or until potatoes are tender.

For variety, add a cup of cooked green beans during the last 10 minutes of cooking—or, add a dash of chili powder or a few sprigs of thyme — or, sprinkle with a little grated cheese—just before serving.

Potatoes Au Gratin

1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or other fat
1 teaspoon salt
¼ pound cheese, grated
4 cups cooked diced potatoes
1 cup buttered bread crumbs

Prepare a sauce with the milk, flour, fat and salt. Add the cheese, and stir until melted. In a shallow greased baking dish place the potatoes, pour the cheese sauce over them, and cover the top with the buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 to 30 minutes, or until the crumbs are golden brown and the potatoes are thoroughly heated. Serve from the baking dish.

Potato Cakes

Shape cold mashed potatoes into small cakes; roll in flour. Fry golden brown in a little fat. For variety, add to the mashed potatoes chopped cooked meat or fish, or grated cheese.

Potato Crust

Line baking dish with mashed potatoes. Fill center with vegetagle stew and left-over bits of meat or fish. Cover with mashed potatoes. Bake in hot over (400° F.) until hot through and brown on top. If you have just a little potato, make only upper crust.

Potato Puff

To 3 cups mashed potatoes, add 1 egg yolk, hot milk to moisten, 2 tablespoons melted fat, salt, and any other seasoning you like. Beat well. Then fold in 1 stiffly beaten egg white. Pile lightly into a greased baking dish. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) 30 minutes or until puffy and brown.

Griddle Scones

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
9 teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons fat
1 cup cold mashed potatoes
1 egg, beaten
⅓ cup milk (about)

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder. Cut in fat with 2 knives or pastry blender. Blend in potatoes. Mix egg and milk; add to first mixture. Mix slight. Roll ⅜ inch thick and cut into squares. Bake slowly on hot greased griddle or frying pan. Turn several times to cook through. Makes 10 to 12. For a main dish, pour creamed left-over meat or fish or vegetables over scones.

Hash Browned

Add chopped cooked potatoes to a little fat in frying pan. Season with salt and pepper. Moisten with water, about ¼ cup for 4 cups potatoes. Cook over low heat until brown on bottom—don't stir. Serve folded in half.

Potato Scallop

6 medium-sized potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
Pepper
2 tablespoons fat
2 cups hot milk

Peel and slice the potatoes. Put a layer of potatoes in a greased baking dish. Sprinkle with part of flour, salt, and pepper. Dot with fat. Repeat until all the potatoes are used. Pour in the milk—use very fresh milk or it may curdle. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour or until the potatoes are tender and browned on top. Add more milk if the potatoes get dry.

French Fried

Pare and cut potatoes lengthwise into strips about one-half inch thick, rinse in cold water, and soak for 2 or 3 hours to remove as much starch as possible. Remove from the water, and pat with a clean dry cloth. Heat a kettle of deep fat hot enough to brown a small piece of bread in 60 seconds (about 375° F.). Fry about a cupful of potatoes at a time, remove from the fat when golden brown, drain on absorbent paper, and sprinkle with salt. Serve at once while hot and crisp.

Canners Make It Easy To Get Vitamin C

"A.M.N." is what we'd call the folks down in Florida who've been busy canning their delicious citrus sections and juices. "A.M.N." stands for "Assistants to Mother Nature" and a well-earned title it is because Florida's canners make Mother Nature's citrus crops a year round joy for all of us. Without them, we'd be practically stranded in mid-summer for lack of the richest natural sources of vitamin C, oranges and grapefruit.

Now as the supplies are waning of Florida's fresh oranges and grapefruit is the time to latch on to convenient canned varieties for a constant daily supply of vitamin C, and citrus flavor as refreshing as it is handy. These convenient juices meet not only your morning needs—they're ideal for summer parties where punch is featured. Those "graduation" parties where punch bowls are as indispensable as white dresses will be quickly and deliciously served with a punch made by mixing Florida's canned juices together. Try No. 5 cans for this purpose. It's so easy even the girl graduate herself can prepare the punch! Just follow the basic recipe that is included here.

What'll you have in the way of nature's cocktail? The delicious tart-sweet grapefruit juice from Florida's groves? The "straight" orange juice already squeezed for you and ready to pour from a can that's been chilling in the refrigerator, or do you favor the blended orange and grapefruit juice so popular these days? Don't forget the novel canned tangerine juice that's on the market, too.

Here are ways to make the most of Florida's canned citrus crops:

Basic Florida Party Punch

1 No. 5 can Florida grapefruit juice
1 pt. golden gingerale
2 No. 2 cans Florida tangerine juice
1 No. 2 can Florida orange juice
1 Florida lime, sliced

Chill grapefruit, gingerale and tangerine juice. Remove label from orange juice and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator; freeze until firm. Pour citrus juices and gingerale into punch bowl. Remove both ends from can of frozen juice; push out; add to punch. Put in lime slices. YIELD: 30½ cup servings.

Citrus Frappe
(New Kind of "Come On" for Warm Weather Breakfasts)

1 No. 2 can Florida grapefruit, tangerine, blended or orange juice
Mint leaves

Pour juice into tray of refrigerator; place in freezing compartment; freeze until the juice is frozen about an inch from the sides of the tray. This will produce a new citrus serving that is half-liquid, half-citrus ice. Put into glasses and top with a sprig of mint. YIELD: 4 to 5 servings.

Pensacola Perfection Salad
(Good with Grapefruit Juice)

Canners Make It Easy To Get Vitamin C

"A.M.N." is what we'd call the folks down in Florida who've been busy canning their delicious citrus sections and juices. "A.M.N." stands for "Assistants to Mother Nature" and a well-earned title it is because Florida's canners make Mother Nature's citrus crops a year round joy for all of us. Without them, we'd be practically stranded in mid-summer for lack of the richest natural sources of vitamin C, oranges and grapefruit.

Now as the supplies are waning of Florida's fresh oranges and grapefruit is the time to latch on to convenient canned varieties for a constant daily supply of vitamin C, and citrus flavor as refreshing as it is handy. These convenient juices meet not only your morning needs—they're ideal for summer parties where punch is featured. Those "graduation" parties where punch bowls are as indispensable as white dresses will be quickly and deliciously served with a punch made by mixing Florida's canned juices together. Try No. 5 cans for this purpose. It's so easy even the girl graduate herself can prepare the punch! Just follow the basic recipe that is included here.

What'll you have in the way of nature's cocktail? The delicious tart-sweet grapefruit juice from Florida's groves? The "straight" orange juice already squeezed for you and ready to pour from a can that's been chilling in the refrigerator, or do you favor the blended orange and grapefruit juice so popular these days? Don't forget the novel canned tangerine juice that's on the market, too.

Here are ways to make the most of Florida's canned citrus crops:

Basic Florida Party Punch

1 No. 5 can Florida grapefruit juice
1 pt. golden gingerale
2 No. 2 cans Florida tangerine juice
1 No. 2 can Florida orange juice
1 Florida lime, sliced

Chill grapefruit, gingerale and tangerine juice. Remove label from orange juice and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator; freeze until firm. Pour citrus juices and gingerale into punch bowl. Remove both ends from can of frozen juice; push out; add to punch. Put in lime slices. YIELD: 30½ cup servings.

Citrus Frappe
(New Kind of "Come On" for Warm Weather Breakfasts)

1 No. 2 can Florida grapefruit, tangerine, blended or orange juice
Mint leaves

Pour juice into tray of refrigerator; place in freezing compartment; freeze until the juice is frozen about an inch from the sides of the tray. This will produce a new citrus serving that is half-liquid, half-citrus ice. Put into glasses and top with a sprig of mint. YIELD: 4 to 5 servings.

Pensacola-Perfection Salad
(Good with Grapefruit Juice)

1 No. 2 can Florida grapefruit sections
Florida grapefruit juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1 cup finely shredded cabbage
½ cup diced celery

Drain grapefruit sections; cut in pieces and drain again. Measure syrup and add grapefruit juice to make 1¾ cups. Soften gelatine in ½ cup of the grapefruit juice. Add the hot juice to the softened gelatine, and stir until dissolved. Add grapefruit sections, cabbage and celery. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens and serve with mayonnaise. YIELD: 6 servings.

Quickie Citrus Pudding
(Canned Orange Juice Makes New Dessert)

1 pkg. prepared vanilla pudding
1 No. 2 can Florida orange juice
1 egg white
2 tbsps. Sugar
½ teasp. Vanilla

Prepare pudding according to directions on the package using citrus juice instead of milk. Pour pudding into serving dishes. Cool. Top with a spoonful of meringue made by beating sugar into stiffly beaten egg white and folding in vanilla. If a cooked meringue is desired drop meringue by spoonfuls into a shallow baking pan with the bottom just covered with hot water. Bake in moderate over (350°F.) about 10 minutes. YIELD: 6 servings.

Cereals Used For Summer Dishes

Tie to Texture Interest With Variety Of Cereals

What's cooking for the tired homecomer on a hot summer's eve? Is there something cool to begin the meal? Is there a main dish substantial but summer-delicate in flavor? Is there a dessert refreshing as a sudden shower after a hot day? Are there contrasts in texture to make him surprised to find that he has an appetite after all?

Texture is the most important clue to success or failure in summer cookery so it's a wise cook who has a dependable battery of ingredients on hand to make sure her dishes are as varied in texture as they are in favor. Crisp leaves of lettuce and chicory, peppery wisps of watercress help swing summer accents into the meal. So do fresh fruits chilled 'til they make you think of frost. And for day-to-day texture interest in summer cookery, there couldn't be a more helpful host of foods than the breakfast cereals.

See How Easily Cereals Help Vary Summer Meals

A multi-textured family of foods, there are the ready-to-eat cereals crisp os the crack of the snow's crust and the cooked cereals that are graciously smooth and mild for summer main dish ingredients. There are almost two dozen different kinds of cereals, so here's a harvest for the pantry itself that makes contrast in texture a simple matter for summer meals.

Best of all this versatile summer meal ingredient is so thrifty. As wise homemakers know, the only true food bargain is a bargain in nutrition as well as in price. The cereals measure up to this standard because an average serving of cereal with milk offers top quality protein, B vitamins (thiamine, riboflavin, niacin), minerals (calcium, phosphorus, iron) and energy, yet costs but four cents per serving!

Try the cereals as important ingredients in summer main dishes, desserts ,home-made breads and cookies and don't forget that a bowl of cereal with milk and sugar makes an excellent luncheon main dish full of refreshment.

Prune Nut Bread
(Makes Delightful Summer Sandwiches)

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ cup sugar, 2½ teasps. baking powder, ½ teasp. soda, 1 teasp. salt, 1 cup rolled oats, 1¼ cups buttermilk or sour milk, 2 tbsps. melted fat, 1 cup diced, drained, cooked prunes, ½ cup chopped nut meats.

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Add rolled oats and mix thoughly. Combine buttermilk with slightly cooled fat. (To make sweet meat sour, add 1 tablespoon of vinegar to 1¼ cups of sweet milk.) Add to the flour mixture with prunes and nuts, stirring just enough to moisten the dry ingredients. (Batter should be lumpy.) Put into well-greased loaf pan, 9x5x3 inches. Place extra halves of prunes and whole nut meats on top. Bake in moderate oven (350-375 degrees F.) for 1 hour or until done. Turn out on rack to cool. Yield: 1 loaf.

* * *

Fish Fillet Rolls
(New Style Fish Dish for Summer)

3 shredded wheat biscuits, 1 egg, 1 tbsp. minced onion, 1 tbsp. chopped celery leaves, ¾ teasp. salt, ⅛ teasp. pepper, ⅛ teasp. poultry seasoning, 2 tbsps. melted fat, ⅔ cup hot water, 6 fish fillets.

Roll shredded wheat to make one cup crumbs. Beat egg slightly, combine with crumbs, seasonings, fat and hot water. Mix well to form a stuffing. Spread each fillet with a firmly packed layer of stuffing. Roll and tie securely with string to hold in place during baking. Place fillets, cut side up, in baking dish. Cover with oiled brown paper. Bake in modern oven (350-375 degrees F.) ½ hour, or until tender, removing paper the last 10 minutes. Remove string. Serve fillet rolls with lemon wedges. Yield: 6 servings.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Writers Have Their Fling

"The Comedy Writers Show," which you'll find on the American Broadcasting Company at 10 p. m. E.D.T. on Sunday, s brings into the open the men behind some of radio's most celebrated comedians, a risky enterprise. These are the men who are generally kept securely locked in a dungeon, forbidden the nourishing warmth of publicity which is to Hollywood what sunlight is to plants.

John Crosby

There are four of these comedy writers and, according to the indictment handed down in a press release, they are charged as follows: Leonard Stern is a writer for Abbott and Costello. This will come as a great surprise to many radio listeners who were under the impression Abbott and Costello made it all up as they went along. Sid Fields is an important part of Eddie Cantor's brain, possibly the frontal lobe. Roger Price is part of that enormous stable of jokesmiths which carries the blue and egg-splashed silks of Bob Hope. Johnny Murray, according to a press release, "creates the lines for Red Skelton," the verb in this case being one I thought reserved exclusively for the use of dress-designers and God.

●—●—●

The general idea behind this show is simple and, I think, dangerous. It provides a glimpse behind the scenes, showing how a comedy show is put together. For my money, the assembling of, say, Red Skelton is a process as disillusioning as the assembly of any blonde before her night out. These things shouldn't be exhibited, particularly on a national network. I note with some suspicion that all but one of the comedians whose writers are involved belong to N.B.C. rather than to A.B.C., which broadcasts the show. This may well be a plot on the part of one network to undermine the principal source of income of another.

The four comedy writers, spurred by a moderator named Ben Brady, a producer, are presented with a situation sent in by a celebrity. Here's a situation sent in by somebody-or-other whose name I didn't catch. A comedienne—say, Joan Davis—is running for President. How would this be built into a comedy show? It's a situation that is certainly familiar to every comedy writer in radio, since virtually all comedians have taken a stab at politics this spring. They leaped into action, as follows:

"I've been stumping the country."

"You've been stumping the country?"

"Yeah. Wherever I went they couldn't figure out what I was."

"If you want to be President you'll have to get lots of publicity."

"I get lots of publicity. I got my face on 'Time.'"

"It looks like you didn't keep up the payments."

"If I get to be President I'm going to do something about this housing shortage. Why I know a woman who bought a prefabricated house from Sears Roebuck. Sears was living in one room and Roebuck in the other." (A joke I've heard on at least two programs prior to this. I recommend it be retired to stud.)

"Why do they have national conventions in the summertime?"

"That's the only time the people don't notice the hot air."

Had enough?

There was another situation that pertained to horse races. "I attend the races just for laughs. Yesterday I laughed away my car, my home and my wife." It's hard to identify any of these writers but I rather think that last one was produced by Bob Hope's.

The delivery of these chestnuts was appalling. It lacked that undiscriminating self-confidence with which your good comedian approaches any line, no matter how unfunnily. Shreds of doubt were evident in each of these authors—or creators if Mr. Murray insists on keeping up this attitude—and there is nothing that will deflate a joke faster than that.

I don't know if Joan Davis ever achieved the White House. I got awfully sleepy.

Market Opens Last Half Of 1948 With Losses In Decisive Majority

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—The stock market poked its nose into the second half of 1948 today and evidently didn't like the view very much.

After one of the slowest days in months, the market ended with losses of fractions to more than a point in decisive majority. There was a liberal spattering of modest gains.

Volume amounted to only 820,000 shares. This equalled Tuesday's business which in turn was the smallest since March 29. Wednesday's turnover amounted to 990,000 shares.

The market was also distinguished by the comparatively small number of issues which changed hands. Only 969 individual stocks sold, of which 320 advanced and 410 declined. The total was a bit above Tuesday's 941 issues but still one of the narrowest in a long time. Union Oil of California hit a new 1948 high during the day and managed to close three-fourths ahead at 37½. Also still higher were Shamrock Oil 35, Mission Corporation 69, Sun Oil 68, Richfield Oil 39⅜ and Amerada, the last up 2¼ at 118¾. Minus signs appeared in front of Gulf Oil, Texas Company, Standard Oil (NJ) and Plymouth Oil.

On the losing side were United States Steel, Bethelem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, American Smelting, Westinghouse Electric Radio Corporation, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Frisco, and Illinois Central.

A handful of selected rails moved ahead a point or two but the price trend generally was mixed with changes narrow.

United States government bonds were mixed in over-the-counter dealings.

Total volume was $3,630,000 compared with yesterday's $4,400,000.

With the Mystery Theater gone to CBS, the time it gave up at 10 is being added to the half-hour of the Abe Lyman Waltz show at 9:30, giving it a full hour.

With Bill Stern on vacation, his weekly sports at 10:30 is being handled by guesting guests. The first will be John Garfield.

An MBS special for 11:30 is to be the acceptance speeches of the candidates selection by the Socialist Workers party convention, originating from New York.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Writers Have Their Fling

"The Comedy Writers Show," which you'll find on the American Broadcasting Company at 10 p. m. E.D.T. on Sundays brings into the open the men behind some of radio's most celebrated comedians, a risky enterprise. These are the men who are generally kept securely locked in a dungeon, forbidden the nourishing warmth of publicity which is to Hollywood what sunlight is to plants.

John Crosby

There are four of these comedy writers and, according to the indictment handed down in a press release, they are charged as follows: Leonard Stern is a writer for Abbott and Costello. This will come as a great surprise to many radio listeners who were under the impression Abbott and Costello made it all up as they went along. Sid Fields is an important part of Eddie Cantor's brain, possibly the frontal lobe. Roger Price is part of that enormous stable of jokesmiths which carries the blue and egg-splashed silks of Bob Hope. Johnny Murray, according to a press release, "creates the lines for Red Skelton," the verb in this case being one I thought reserved exclusively for the use of dress-designers and God.

●—●—●

The general idea behind this show is simple and, I think, dangerous. It provides a glimpse behind the scenes, showing how a comedy show is put together. For my money, the assembling of, say, Red Skelton is a process as disillusioning as the assembly of any blonde before her night out. These things shouldn't be exhibited, particularly on a national network. I note with some suspicion that all but one of the comedians whose writers are involved belong to N.B.C. rather than to A.B.C., which broadcasts the show. This may well be a plot on the part of one network to undermine the principal source of income of another.

The four comedy writers, spurred by a moderator named Ben Brady, a producer, are presented with a situation sent in by a celebrity. Here's a situation sent in by somebody-or-other whose name I didn't catch. A comedienne—say, Joan Davis—is running for President. How would this be built into a comedy show? It's a situation that is certainly familiar to every comedy writer in radio, since virtually all comedians have taken a stab at politics this spring. They leaped into action, as follows:

"I've been stumping the country."

"You've been stumping the country?"

"Yeah. Wherever I went they couldn't figure out what I was."

"If you want to be President you'll have to get lots of publicity."

"I get lots of publicity. I got my face on 'Time.'"

"It looks like you didn't keep up the payments."

"If I get to be President I'm going to do something about this housing shortage. Why I know a woman who bought a prefabricated house from Sears Roebuck. Sears was living in one room and Roebuck in the other." (A joke I've heard on at least two programs prior to this. I recommend it be retired to stud.)

"Why do they have national conventions in the summertime?"

"That's the only time the people don't notice the hot air."

Had enough?

There was another situation that pertained to horse races. "I attend the races just for laughs. Yesterday I laughed away my car, my home and my wife." It's hard to identify any of these writers but I rather think that last one was produced by Bob Hope's.

The delivery of these chestnuts was appalling. It lacked that undiscriminating self-confidence with which your good comedian approaches any line, no matter how unfunny. Shreds of doubt were evident in each of these authors—or creators if Mr. Murray insists on keeping up this attitude—and there is nothing that will deflate a joke faster than that.

I don't know if Joan Davis ever achieved the White House. I got awfully sleepy.

Market Opens Last Half Of 1948 With Losses In Decisive Majority

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—The stock market poked its nose into the second half of 1948 today and evidently didn't like the view very much.

After one of the slowest days in months, the market ended with losses of fractions to more than a point in decisive majority. There was a liberal spattering of modest gains.

Volume amounted to only 820,000 shares. This equalled Tuesday's business which in turn was the smallest since March 29. Wednesday's turnover amounted to 990,000 shares.

The market was also distinguished by the comparatively small number of issues which changed hands. Only 969 individual stocks sold, of which 320 advanced and 410 declined. The total was a bit above Tuesday's 941 issues but still one of the narrowest in a long time. Union Oil of California hit a new 1948 high during the day and managed to close three-fourths ahead at 37½. Also still higher were Shamrock Oil 35, Mission Corporation 69, Sun Oil 68, Richfield Oil 39¾ and Amerada, the last up 2¼ at 118¾. Minus signs appeared in front of Gulf Oil, Texas Company, Standard Oil (NJ) and Plymouth Oil.

On the losing side were United States Steel, Bethelem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, American Smelting, Westinghouse Electric Radio Corporation, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific Northern Pacific, Frisco, and Illinois Central.

A handful of selected rails moved ahead a point or two but the price trend generally was mixed with changes narrow.

United States government bonds were mixed in over-the-counter dealings.

Total volume was $3,630,000 compared with yesterday's $4,400,000.

Fourth-Of-July Supper

PATRIOTIC MEAL . . . Cherry ice cream is the climax . . .

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Make Fourth-of-July Supper a red, white and blue occasion! You can do it with both table decoration and food. Pictured here is a centerpiece of red-trimmed drums filled with white daisies and white gladiolli, on a deep blue Irish linen table cloth. When it comes to the menu you could have tomato juice accompanied by crackers spread with pimento cheese; pass, too, a bowl of celery strips and radishes. Sliced luncheon meat or cold baked ham would make a fine main course served with potato salad surrounded with tiny pickled beets. Then top it all off with Cherry Ice Cream and old-fashioned sugar cookies cut in star shapes. Here are the dessert recipes.

Cherry Ice Cream

⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
1 cup sour red cherry juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup cherry pulp
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sweetened condensed milk, cherry juice, lemon juice and cherry pulp; chill. Whip cream to custardlike consistency and fold into chilled cherry mixture. Freeze in freezing unit of regrigerator until half-frozen. Scrape from freezing tray. Beat until smooth, replace in freezing unit until frozen. Makes 6 servings.

Star Sugar Cookies

2¾ cups sifted cake flour
2¾ teaspoons double-action baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup fat
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream fat, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add vanilla. Add flour and blend. Chill 10 to 15 minutes. Roll ⅛ inch thick on slightly floured board, cut with floured star cutter, and sprinkle with sugar. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in a hot (400 F.) oven for 10 to 12 minutes.

Another idea for a stay-at-home Fourth of July is to serve something as American as Brunswick Stew. I love this hobo dish for a variety of reasons: first of all, it's a wonderful amalgam of flavors. Secondly, it combines vegetables with poultry and so you need only to serve it up from something ample like a tureen; and if you like your Brunswick Stew on the soupy side use soup dishes instead of plates for the individual servings. And last, you don't have to follow a recipe to the dot. . .you can start with basic directions and then add anything that the refrigerator holds and your mood dictates.

Here is a good basic recipe for your stew—start with it, then add or subtract as you will. It's a recipe that comes from a delightful new cookbook, "Stillmeadow Farm," by Gladys Taber (published by Macrae Smith, Philadelphia).

Brunswick Stew

Dice ¼ pound bacon or salt pork and brown it in a Dutch oven. Disjoint a 4 or 5 pound stewing chicken, and brown it in the drippings. Add 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 medium onion diced. Half cover the chicken with boiling water, cover the pot and simmer slowly for 1½ hours, or until the chicken is almost tender. Add 2 cups canned tomatoes, or 5 fresh tomatoes quartered, and 2½ cups each of green lima beans and canned or fresh corn kernals. Cover and continue to cook over a low flame until the chicken is tender. Season to taste with more salt, pepper, and Worcestershire sauce.

One last word about Brunswick Stew. If you are expecting guests for Independence Day it's an easy recipe to double — and you can stretch the poultry in it by adding vegetables ad infinitum; just be sure that you have enough tomatoes for the amounts of green lima beans and corn. Add herbs and a jot of spice.

Enriched Food

Bread, coffeecakes, cookies, and other baked goods made in your kitchen with flour that is enriched containing added B-vitamins and mineral iron. Here's another good thing to know. Most commercially baked products are enriched. When you buy bread or rolls, always ask for enriched bread or enriched rolls.

Tips For Successful Summertime Picnics

"What is so rare as a day in June?—Then if ever come perfect days,"—and that's a cue for back yard suppers and picnic lunches in the park, on the beach, and your favorite woodland spot. Here's a trick to keep the sadnwiches from coming apart—split the buns only three-fourths of the way through so that top and bottom are fastened. The picnic basket should hold a variety of double-deckers. . . ham and lettuce in round buns ground carrot and lettuce in finger buns, raisin bread with applesauce filling. Crisp celery, sweet and sour pickles, olives, cold milk, and fruit are other accessories to a successful picnic lunch.

Fancy Rolls Are Eye-Catchers

For an eye-catcher at your next dinner, serve rolls-in-a-loaf. Trim sides and top crusts from a loaf of unsliced enriched bread. Cut through the center of the loaf, just to the lower crust, but not through it. Then make cross-wise cuts, spacing them so that the "rolls" will be even in size. Brush with melted butter and toast in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until the edges of the loaf are golden brown. Serve hot. Rolls-in-a-loaf are also excellent with salads for luncheon and with jam and coffee at breakfast.

Fourth-Of-July Supper

PATRIOTIC MEAL . . . Cherry ice cream is the climax . . .

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Make Fourth-of-July Supper a red, white and blue occasion! You can do it with both table decoration and food. Pictured here is a centerpiece of red-trimmed drums filled with white daisies and white gladiolii, on a deep blue Irish linen table cloth. When it comes to the menu you could have tomato juice accompanied by crackers spread with pimento cheese; pass, too, a bowl of celery strips and radishes. Sliced luncheon meat or cold baked ham would make a fine main course served with potato salad surrounded with tiny pickled beets. Then top it all off with Cherry Ice Cream and old-fashioned sugar cookies cut in star shapes. Here are the dessert recipes.

Cherry Ice Cream

⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
1 cup sour red cherry juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup cherry pulp
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sweetened condensed milk, cherry juice, lemon juice and cherry pulp; chill. Whip cream to custardlike consistency and fold into chilled cherry mixture. Freeze in freezing unit of regrigerator until half-frozen. Scrape from freezing tray. Beat until smooth, replace in freezing unit until frozen. Makes 6 servings.

Star Sugar Cookies

2¾ cups sifted cake flour
2¾ teaspoons double-action baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup fat
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream fat, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add vanilla. Add flour and blend. Chill 10 to 15 minutes. Roll ⅛ inch thick on slightly floured board, cut with floured star cutter, and sprinkle with sugar. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in a hot (400 F.) oven for 10 to 12 minutes.

Another idea for a stay-at-home Fourth of July is to serve something as American as Brunswick Stew. I love this hobo dish for a variety of reasons: first of all, it's a wonderful amalgam of flavors. Secondly, it combines vegetables with poultry and so you need only to serve it up from something ample like a tureen; and if you like your Brunswick Stew on the soupy side use soup dishes instead of plates for the individual servings. And last, you don't have to follow a recipe to the dot. . .you can start with basic directions and then add anything that the refrigerator holds and your mood dictates.

Here is a good basic recipe for your stew—start with it, then add or subtract as you will. It's a recipe that comes from a delightful new cookbook, "Stillmeadow Farm," by Gladys Taber (published by Macrae Smith, Philadelphia).

Brunswick Stew

Dice ¼ pound bacon or salt pork and brown it in a Dutch oven. Disjoint a 4 or 5 pound stewing chicken, and brown it in the drippings. Add 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 medium onion diced. Half cover the chicken with boiling water, cover the pot and simmer slowly for 1½ hours, or until the chicken is almost tender. Add 2 cups canned tomatoes, or 5 fresh tomatoes quartered, and 2½ cups each of green lima beans and canned or fresh corn kernals. Cover and continue to cook over a low flame until the chicken is tender. Season to taste with more salt, pepper, and Worcestershire sauce.

One last word about Brunswick Stew. If you are expecting guests for Independence Day it's an easy recipe to double — and you can stretch the poultry in it by adding vegetables ad infinitum; just be sure that you have enough tomatoes for the amounts of green lima beans and corn. Add herbs and a jot of spice.

Enriched Food

Bread, coffeecakes, cookies, and other baked goods made in your kitchen with flour that is enriched containing added B-vitamins and mineral iron. Here's another good thing to know. Most commercially baked products are enriched. When you buy bread or rolls, always ask for enriched bread or enriched rolls.

Tips For Successful Summertime Picnics

"What is so rare as a day in June?—Then if ever come perfect days,"—and that's a cue for back yard suppers and picnic lunches in the park, on the beach, and your favorite woodland spot. Here's a trick to keep the sadnwiches from coming apart—split the buns only three-fourths of the way through so that top and bottom are fastened. The picnic basket should hold a variety of double-deckers. . . . ham and lettuce in round buns ground carrot and lettuce in finger buns, raisin bread with applesauce filling. Crisp celery, sweet and sour pickles, olives, cold milk, and fruit are other accessories to a successful picnic lunch.

Fancy Rolls Are Eye-Catchers

For an eye-catcher at your next dinner, serve rolls-in-a-loaf. Trim sides and top crusts from a loaf of unsliced enriched bread. Cut through the center of the loaf, just to the lower crust, but not through it. Then make cross-wise cuts, spacing them so that the "rolls" will be even in size. Brush with melted butter and toast in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until the edges of the loaf are golden brown. Serve hot. Rolls-in-a loaf are also excellent with salads for luncheon and with jam and coffee at breakfast.

Tax Collections Net $1,350,000 For June

State and county tax collections on Wednesday, the final day that a 5 per cent discount was allowed, totaled $500,000 bringing June collections to $1,350,000 or 75 per cent of all outstanding taxes, W. A. Strother, Allegany County tax collector, said.

The discount rate for July will be four per cent and three per cent will be allowed in August. Beginning September 1 interest at the rate of one-half per cent per month will be charged.

The largest tax payers in the county are the Celanese Corporation of America, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Luke.

Strother said he expects a large percentage of outstanding tax to be collected in the next two months before the interest charge is added.

450 Marylanders May Be Drafted Each Month

About 450 Marylanders will be called each month when the draft starts this fall, Col. Henry C. Stanhope, state director of selective service records, estimates.

Stanhope bases his estimate on a potential monthly draft of 30,000 throughout the country.

Although age will decide the order of induction, there has been no final decision on what age group will be called first. However, 21 has been the age most frequently mentioned as a starting point.

Draft boards will not be named until after President Truman appoints the state directors. The appointments are expected to be made soon, and many of the present state directors of the Office of Selective Service Records are expected to be named to administer the draft.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Many People Want Someone Else To Make Decisions For Them

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

I often wonder why it is that, when it comes to making a decision which may change a person's life entirely, so many people want someone else to tell them how to decide.

Many and many are the letters arriving at my desk in which the writer, after describing some difficult problem which confronts him or her, concludes with the plea: "What shall I do? I will do whatever you tell me."

To let another person try to determine for you which of several possible alternatives is the one that is going to make you happy is very precarious business. You, and you alone, are the only one who can possibly know all the reasons for and against each of the alternatives, and you are the only one, therefore, who can possibly tell whether the reasons for one course of action out-balance those for another, or vice versa.

All that any outsider can do for any one confronted by the necessity of making an important decision is to try and point out some of the alternatives and urge the person to look for them all. For the inability to make a decision almost invariably grows out of a failure to line up the alternatives and examine each one carefully. Where this is not done, confusion always arises, and one becomes hopelessly bewildered.

So, the first question to ask yourself in trying to solve any problem is: What are my alternatives? Write them down on paper so that you can see them clearly. Once you have them definitely before you, it is far easier to make up your mind which one of them means the most to you.

This may all sound very theoretical but actually it is a very practical and simple procedure.

Take, for example, the woman who is trying to make up her mind whether to leave a wandering husband or stay with him. Actually, if she examines the situation, she will probably find that she has more alternatives to choose from than simply leaving or staying.

She might, for example, suggest a trial separation. She might go away on a long visit. She might stay where she is and interest herself in more activities outside her home so that she would not dwell on her unhappiness so much. She might get a job and find a new interest there. These are only a few general suggestions. In any specific situation there might be others that would occur to the woman herself.

But the chief thing to remember is that these alternatives do exist, and that there may be one which offers more hope for a situation than might at first appear. And if you make your own choice from among them, you are going to be far more satisfied in the end, because you will have worked out the decision yourself, than you would ever be if someone else handed you a decision ready-made.

Actor Finds Gold

MELBOURNE, Australia — (AP) — Gold has been found again at "Ballarat", which was the name of the Victoria region that saw one of the biggest gold rushes in history in the 1850s. But this time it is the film town of "Ballarat", built at Blind Creek, 17 miles from Singleton for the shooting of a gold-digger film.

Tom Dobel, a former prospector, who plays the part of a gold-digger in the film, took a walk along a reef between "takes". He found a vein of gold which he says will yield 11 pennyweight to the ton.

The famous Ballarat drew men from all parts of the world, when in 10 years it yielded $83,000,000 worth of gold.

PRIVATE FLYING

By WADE L. BERG

Prior to World War II, members of The Cumberland Pilots Club met at the Mexico Farms Airport every Sunday morning, weather permitting, for the purpose of conducting a breakfast hop. The group would select an objective airport within a radius of 100 miles and fly enmasse to that field. The pilots and personnel of the airport visited always extended a glad hand and hearty welcome after which they would convey or conduct the group to a nearby restaurant or farmhouse where a good meal was enjoyed by all.

This practice created good will and friendship among flyers over a large area. An invitation to visit the Cumberland airport was always extended to the host and was generally accepted which made Cumberland quite popular with the flying clique. Quite often the group would unexpectedly visit a field where an air show was in progress and participate in the activities of the day, adding to the incentive of being a breakfast hopper.

Breakfast flights are especially instructive to fledgling pilots as it is excellent training in navigation and general cross country flying. Since the pilots fly in a group and are always in sight of each other the inexperienced can fly near the center of the others and use them as guides.

All private flying is thrilling and a pleasure, however, cross country flying combines objective and accomplishment for a pilot with a new thrill every few minutes as each point of navigation hoves into sight.

Note: Breakfast hops are again being practiced at the local airport and a flight as either a passenger or a pilot makes one a confirmed member of this most pleasant hobby.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Looks like the ladies got out of hand down at the GOP employment bureau in Philadelphia. First, the delightful Clare Luce launched an impromptu rocket for Vandenberg.

That go no further than a sob into a pillow. Then another fascinating damosel from Oklahoma said she didn't want no warmed-over candidates. She was a Taft booster.

Now, that kind of stuff backfires like a home-made motor-cycle. The Vandenberg boom sank with nobody on board. And the warmed-over dish got real hot.

PRIVATE FLYING

By WADE L. BERG

Prior to World War II, members of The Cumberland Pilots Club met at the Mexico Farms Airport every Sunday morning, weather permitting, for the purpose of conducting a breakfast hop. The group would select an objective airport within a radius of 100 miles and fly enmasse to that field. The pilots and personnel of the airport visited always extended a glad hand and hearty welcome after which they would convey or conduct the group to a nearby restaurant or farmhouse where a good meal was enjoyed by all.

This practice created good will and friendship among flyers over a large area. An invitation to visit the Cumberland airport was always extended to the host and was generally accepted which made Cumberland quite popular with the flying clique. Quite often the group would unexpectedly visit a field where an air show was in progress and participate in the activities of the day, adding to the incentive of being a breakfast hopper.

Breakfast flights are especially instructive to fledgling pilots as it is excellent training in navigation and general cross country flying. Since the pilots fly in a group and are always in sight of each other the inexperienced can fly near the center of the others and use them as guides.

All private flying is thrilling and a pleasure, however, cross country flying combines objective and accomplishment for a pilot with a new thrill every few minutes as each point of navigation hoves into sight.

Note: Breakfast hops are again being practiced at the local airport and a flight as either a passenger or a pilot makes one a confirmed member of this most pleasant hobby.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Looks like the ladies got out of hand down at the GOP employment bureau in Philadelphia. First, the delightful Clare Luce launched an impromptu rocket for Vandenberg.

That go no further than a sob into a pillow. Then another fascinating damosel from Oklahoma said she didn't want no warmed-over candidates. She was a Taft booster.

Now, that kind of stuff backfires like a home-made motor-cycle. The Vandenberg boom sank with nobody on board. And the warmed-over dish got real hot.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

During the second week of June, The Saturday Evening Post and Life Magazine both published pieces about Avery Brundage, chairman of the U. S. Olympic Committee.

Avery Brundage

"Well, well, well," I said to myself. It looks as if Amiable Avery has hired himself a press agent. Why not be a good fellow, Rose, and give him a break in your column? It's the least he can expect from the husband of Eleanor Holm."

To get the other side of the story, I went to the library and did some boning up on the man who had chucked Eleanor off the '36 Olympic team. I'd like to pass along my findings without comment. But before you read them, please fasten your safety belts. We're coming into a strong head wind. . . .

In 1935, Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, protested to Brundage against American participation in the Olympic Games to be held in Mr. Hitler's Germany. He produced evidence of Nazi discrimination against Catholic athletes. Later that year, Dr. Charles S. MacFarland, secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, made a similar protest and documented it with quotations from the official German publication covering physical training, by Dr. Bruno Malitz. Brundage replied that his committee would send a team to Germany—with or without the cooperation of the A.A.U.—and that the protests were part of a Jewish plot.

Quoting from Life, "This fixation had led him into some situations which were merely ridiculous, and some which were genuine disasters. In 1936, it led him to become an active partisan of Nazi Germany and the conversion of the Olympic Games into a political and propaganda triumph for Adolph Hitler."

When Brundage returned to America after the Olympics, he was one of the principal speakers at a meeting sponsored by the German-American Bund at Madison Square Garden. He shared the platform with Fritz Kuhn who led his Bund buddies in singing, "Deutschland Uber Alles." Brundage, and I quote, "received more applause than Fritz Kuhn, Ambassador Hans Luther, or Karl Stroehlin of the German Foreign Institute," when, "after the singing of the Horst Wessel Song, he stated that 'We can learn much from Germany . . . .'"

Brundage, and I'm still quoting, "has always been suspicious of athletic women. When Babe Didrikson was suspended by his committee, Avery defended the decision as follows: 'You know, the ancient Greeks kept women out of their athletic games. They wouldn't even let them on the sidelines. I'm not so sure but what they were right.'

"His suspicion is that some of them—perhaps even a considerable number—are really men . . . . Just before the 1936 games in Berlin, he demanded in vain a thorough physical examination for every woman on every Olympic team."

Before Avery made his millions in the building business, he was quite an athlete himself. According to Life, "Heel-and-toe walking, which is almost a lost art today, was one of Brundage's favorite sports. 'That was a beautiful event,' he mused recently, 'and I excelled in it. It is the closest a man can get to the pangs of childbirth'."

As The Saturday Evening Post tells it, Brundage had nothing to do with bouncing my missus off the '36 Olympic team. The decision was made by "the twenty or thirty members of the Olympic Committee who made the voyage . . . . It was up to Brundage, as the ranking committeeman present, to announce her disbarment."

"Is that true?" I asked Eleanor the other night.

"Definitely not," said the girl who placed first in the '32 Olympics and was never defeated after that. "The Committee was composed of athletic coaches and other sports-struck people who were getting a free trip to Europe only because Brundage had okayed them. They voted his way or else."

"Give me the straightaway on the champagne story," I said.

"It's simple," said my favorite mermaid. "An Olympic team is made up of athletes who are the products of coaches from all parts of the country. Virtually every coach has his own training methods. The man who trained me was always afraid I might get stale. He worked me like a washerwoman six days a week, and on the seventh let me relax. If I felt like a smoke or a few drinks, it was okay with him. His method must have been pretty good because I won several hundred A.A.U. medals. Incidentally, these so-called gold medals have tarnished and turned green.

"When I went to Europe with the team in '36, I traveled third class. Mr. Brundage refused to let me travel any other way. When the newspaper boys invited me to their party, I was glad to come up out of steerage. I wasn't training that day, and I saw no harm in having a few glasses of champagne with them. I have no apologies for what I did, and if I were going over with the team this year, I wouldn't act any different."

These, ladies and gentlemen, are the highlights of my research. As promised, I'm passing them on without comment. Speaking for myself, I shall always be indebted to Avery Brundage. If he hadn't fired Eleanor, she might not have turned pro, starred in the Aquacade, and gotten hitched to the guy who owned the show. And I wouldn't be looking forward to going up to Mt. Kisco this week end.

So let other people call him "Slavery Avery," and "a sanctimonious snob with a long record of asinine antics," (see Post article P 28) and "just about the meanest man in the whole world of sports," (see Life article P. 115). Me, I'll never say a word against the man.

Why should I? I can always quote.

Million Dollar Hobby

BRISBANE—(AP)—An Australian doctor who turned to prospecting for gold in 1932 to "fill in time at week-ends" now is the largest shareholder in a mine which has produced gold worth $2,000,000.

Dr. Felix Dittmer, a country doctor at Prosperpine, Queensland, sank his first shaft at Mt. Hector. This mine produced payable gold but not in big quantities. The doctor began to build up a mining library and any mid-week spare time was spent reading about gold.

In 1937, Dr. Dittmer formed a company bought the Dittmer Gold Mines, at Dittmer, named after the doctor, near Prosperpine for $96,000. The mines have produced the richest ore in Australia in 11 years—averaging five ounces of gold to the ton.

The doctor, now a specialist in Brisbane, emphasizes that "gold-mining is merely a hobby with me."

Sees Freedom Train

PUEBLO, Colo.—(AP)—Ernest Edwards, 14, of Canon City, started to walk 40 miles through a rainstorm to see the Freedom Train when it stopped at Pueblo. He got a ride after hiking 15 miles along the highway. "I just had to see all those documents that I read about in my civics class," he told newsmen who learned of his determination to see the famous train.

Asked which document on the train he considered most important, Edwards named the Declaration of Independence "because I've read so much about it."

The decision was made by "the twenty or thirty members of the Olympic Committee who made the voyage . . . . It was up to Brundage, as the ranking committeeman present, to announce her disbarment."

"Is that true?" I asked Eleanor the other night.

"Definitely not," said the girl who placed first in the '32 Olympics and was never defeated after that. "The Committee was composed of athletic coaches and other sports-struck people who were getting a free trip to Europe only because Brundage had okayed them. They voted his way or else."

"Give me the straightaway on the champagne story," I said.

"It's simple," said my favorite mermaid. "An Olympic team is made up of athletes who are the products of coaches from all parts of the country. Virtually every coach has his own training methods. The man who trained me was always afraid I might get stale. He worked me like a washerwoman six days a week, and on the seventh let me relax. If I felt like a smoke or a few drinks, it was okay with him. His method must have been pretty good because I won several hundred A.A.U. medals. Incidentally, these so-called gold medals have tarnished and turned green.

"When I went to Europe with the team in '36, I traveled third class. Mr. Brundage refused to let me travel any other way. When the newspaper boys invited me to their party, I was glad to come up out of steerage. I wasn't training that day, and I saw no harm in having a few glasses of champagne with them. I have no apologies for what I did, and if I were going over with the team this year, I wouldn't act any different."

These, ladies and gentlemen, are the highlights of my research. As promised, I'm passing them on without comment. Speaking for myself, I shall always be indebted to Avery Brundage. If he hadn't fired Eleanor, she might not have turned pro, starred in the Aquacade, and gotten hitched to the guy who owned the show. And I wouldn't be looking forward to going up to Mt. Kisco this week end.

So let other people call him "Slavery Avery," and "a sanctimonious snob with a long record of asinine antics," (see Post article P 28) and "just about the meanest man in the whole world of sports," (see Life article P. 115). Me, I'll never say a word against the man.

Why should I? I can always quote.

Million Dollar Hobby

BRISBANE—(AP)—An Australian doctor who turned to prospecting for gold in 1932 to "fill in time at week-ends" now is the largest shareholder in a mine which has produced gold worth $2,000,000.

Dr. Felix Dittmer, a country doctor at Prosperpine, Queensland, sank his first shaft at Mt. Hector. This mine produced payable gold but not in big quantities. The doctor began to build up a mining library and any mid-week spare time was spent reading about gold.

In 1937, Dr. Dittmer formed a company bought the Dittmer Gold Mines, at Dittmer, named after the doctor, near Prosperpine for $96,000. The mines have produced the richest ore in Australia in 11 years—averaging five ounces of gold to the ton.

The doctor, now a specialist in Brisbane, emphasizes that "gold-mining is merely a hobby with me."

Sees Freedom Train

PUEBLO, Colo.—(AP)—Ernest Edwards, 14, of Canon City, started to walk 40 miles through a rainstorm to see the Freedom Train when it stopped at Pueblo. He got a ride after hiking 15 miles along the highway. "I just had to see all those documents that I read about in my civics class," he told newsmen who learned of his determination to see the famous train.

Asked which document on the train he considered most important, Edwards named the Declaration of Independence "because I've read so much about it."

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 1—(INS)—Frank "Bring 'Em Back Alive" Buck's first picture in ten years will be released by a British Company. He has been waiting around for a chance to make another of his famous film safaris for a Hollywood producer, but no offers came his way. Seems odd. His big game hunting thrillers were always box office.

Lauren Bacall

Fearless Frank's present deal is with Captain Harry Dibble, high commissioner of British South Africa for the past 35 years. Title is "Frank Buck's Adventures In Africa." Territory previously kept from camera observation by the British government will be made available to Buck, who will shoot the feature entirely in color.

•—•—•

Eleanor Parker's house guest, Jean Thompson, has been offered two screen tests, but she isn't having any. Says she is too happy being Mrs. Alexis Thompson.

When I think of the movie actresses who were mad about that boy at one time or another! He is young, rich, and was at one time one of New York's leading playboys. Now he has settled down to marriage and directing the Philadelphia Eagles pro-football team, which he owns.

But, if her guest isn't interested in the movies, Eleanor is, and is tuning up for her first at Warners since the birth of her baby. She does "Charge It, My Love" with Ronald Reagan—Alex Gottlieb producing. It is a comedy about marriage on a budget.

All the headaches making "Countess of Monte Cristo" at Universal-International have not cooled off Sonja Henie and that studio. She wound up her long drawn-out picture today, and immediately put her name on a "deal" to return next spring for another movie.

Meanwhile, Sonja has packed her skates and her jewels and takes off the end of this week for New York, London and the Olympic Games. Just as an onlooker, natch.

From Louella: "While we were at the S. F. Studio in Stockholm, a very funny and unrehearsed episode took place. Two rival gypsy tribes are working the Harold Molander movie, still untitled.

"A very beautiful gypsy girl, 16, was doing a dance with her ex-husband. She grabbed a cigarette from his mouth (not in the script) which so infuriated him that he struck her. The two tribes of gypsies got into such a fight the police were called to quell the riot. Now why doesn't Hollywood put on interesting shows like that when columnists come visiting?

"We dined with the Charles Baldwins in Norway—He is charge d'affairs at our embassy while Ambassador Bey is away—and met some interesting people, among them Wendhe Foss, Norway's most glamorous actress, Baldwin was in the Navy during the war and is a friend of Gene Markey, Robert Montgomery and Dick Barthelmess. Also had a long talk with L. Ibsen, who is Henrik Ibsen's grandson."

Hollywood in shorts: The Joe Pasternaks expect their third and are plenty happy about it. They have such interesting children. It was their little boy who gathered up Dorothy's jewels and threw them in the alley.

Lauren Bacall, who can't even look at the water, much less get on a boat, will not be along when Bogey takes the Santana over for the channel races. It is the first time Bogart has taken to sea without "baby," who is expecting.

Merle Oberon and Lucien Ballard celebrated their third wedding anniversary last week in Rome.

Joyce Matthews and Paul Douglas are going 'round together but they say it isn't around-and-around. Milton Berle, her ex, is supposed to be heading for Hollywood this weekend to try to talk her into giving marriage another chance.

The MacDonald Careys just couldn't wait to see Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet" so they put on their best reporter expressions and came to the express review. Or should I say previews? Demand for tickets was so heavy the one available print was run off in staggered showings from 10 in the morning to 10 at night.

The group I caught it with was so deeply stirred by Olivier's acting, directing and production that we found ourselves unconsciously talking in whispers for a moment after the finish.

The friends of the Skeets Gallaghers will be sorry to learn that Pauline underwent a serious operation today.

Ellerslie Kindergarten Gets Approval By State

The Private Kindergarten, operated by Miss Lillian M. Cook, Ellerslie, has been approved along with other schools, it was announced by the state superintendent of schools.

Through an error the name of the school was omitted when a list of the approved schools was published last week. Under the new law, the superintendent is authorized to approve certain non-public schools.

Plan Approved For Frostburg Storm Sewers

Pipe, Labor Cost Set At $10,000

FROSTBURG.—The Mayor and City Commissioners approved a plan this week to provide an adequate storm sewer system to protect properties on East Main Street, Washington and McCulloh Streets between Sleeman Street, and Cemetery Road from the surface water which has been backing up in cellars in that section after every heavy rain during the past few years.

The action was forced by the prospect of greater damage by water from the Mt. Pleasant Street section that will be channelled down Barnard Place after both streets are resurfaced with black top.

City Engineer Philip Hartig, Jr., was instructed by the city council Monday evening to purchase sewer pipe to be laid beneath East Mechanic Street from Cemetery Street to the corporate limits near Beall High School and connecting with a larger storm sewer to be laid beneath Sleeman Street, from the catch basins on Eckhart Flat to a point near the Allegany Cemetery property where surface water now ruining gardens and backing up in cellars will be conveyed by huge sewer mains to Georges Creek.

The laying of the proposed storm sewers is preliminary to the curbing and paving of Washington Street from Kroll's store to Sleeman Street. The Allegany County School Board has already deposited tons of earth on Washington Street for a distance of 150 feet from the school property to the city line.

This dirt was hauled by truck from the property of the Stadium Inn, Eckhart Flat, owned by Edward Minnicks, who is planning to enlarge his building at that point. Washington Street will become one of the main thoroughfares to Beall High School.

Hartig estimated that the cost of the sewer pipe would be approximately $5,000, and it was estimated by Finance Commissioner John Hendley that the labor cost would be about the same. The work will be done under the direction of Street Commissioner W. W. Sluss, Jr., and Hartig.

Ralph McCoy Weds Miss Mary Williams

MT. SAVAGE—Miss Mary Williams, daughter of Mrs. Bridget Williams and the late Bradford Williams, became the bride of Ralph McCoy at a nuptial mass June 26 at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Rev. Michael Smyth, pastor, officiating.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown with a fingertip veil, and carried a white prayer book and a white orchid.

Midlothian Road Homes Planned

FROSTBURG—Plans have been completed for the construction of a large number of new residences on Midlothian Road.

A power shovel of the Baughman Construction Company, working four days this week, excavated foundations for homes to be built by Arthur Bond, East Loo Street; Jesse Fuller, James Whetstone, Robert Fisher, John Whetstone and George Hochard and a double garage between the residences of Royal Skidmore and William A. Walker.

Bond's residence will be built on the left side of the Midlothian Road in the area of ground known locally as Braddock Park. The Hochard home will be on the same side of the road on land which was part of the Brady farm.

The homes of Jesse Fuller, Robert Fisher, James and John Whetstone will be on the right side of the Midlothian Road approaching Midlothian from Frostburg, on land that was formerly part of the Brady farm and now owned by John Keller.

Three sons-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. James Brady will build residences near the Brady home on the Midlothion Road. Two foundations, one for Herbert Smith, husband of the former Miss Elizabeth Brady, and another for Ralph Dolan, husband of the former Miss Genevieve Brady, are nearing completion, and excavation for the residence of Patrick O'Rourke, husband of the former Miss Mary Brady, will be started next week. The land for these three homes and the Hochard home was purchased from the Brady estate.

This group of residences comprises the largest building boom that Frostburg has experienced in one locality for many years. The new homes will be located a short distance outside the corporate limits and most of the houses will be of the story and a half bungalow type.

Plan Approved For Frostburg Storm Sewers

Pipe, Labor Cost Set At $10,000

FROSTBURG.—The Mayor and City Commissioners approved a plan this week to provide an adequate storm sewer system to protect properties on East Main Street, Washington and McCulloh Streets between Sleeman Street, and Cemetery Road from the surface water which has been backing up in cellars in that section after every heavy rain during the past few years.

The action was forced by the prospect of greater damage by water from the Mt. Pleasant Street section that will be channelled down Barnard Place after both streets are resurfaced with black top.

City Engineer Philip Hartig, Jr., was instructed by the city council Monday evening to purchase sewer pipe to be laid beneath East Mechanic Street from Cemetery Street to the corporate limits near Beall High School and connecting with a larger storm sewer to be laid beneath Sleeman Street, from the catch basins on Eckhart Flat to a point near the Allegany Cemetery property where surface water now ruining gardens and backing up in cellars will be conveyed by huge sewer mains to Georges Creek.

The laying of the proposed storm sewers is preliminary to the curbing and paving of Washington Street from Kroll's store to Sleeman Street. The Allegany County School Board has already deposited tons of earth on Washington Street for a distance of 150 feet from the school property to the city line.

This dirt was hauled by truck from the property of the Stadium Inn, Eckhart Flat, owned by Edward Minnicks, who is planning to enlarge his building at that point. Washington Street will become one of the main thoroughfares to Beall High School.

Hartig estimated that the cost of the sewer pipe would be approximately $5,000, and it was estimated by Finance Commissioner John Hendley that the labor cost would be about the same. The work will be done under the direction of Street Commissioner W. W. Sluss, Jr., and Hartig.

Ignore Malicious Talk; Don't Rise To Bait Of Detractors

By NANCY MOTTRAM

(Q) Dear Nancy: I'm continually embarrassed by my friends, and I'd like to know how to make it plain that I don't appreciate it. So far, nothing has done any good. I went with one boy for a long time, two years. Early this spring, we decided to go our separate ways, and I've been going out with several different boys. But my closest pals delight in teasing me about my ex-date, asking how he is, what he's doing and so forth, even when I'm with another fellow. I don't understand why they insist on bringing it up, but if there's any possible way to stop it for once and for all, I'd like to know.

Nancy Mottram

(A) It's not only unfair to you, it's actual rudeness to your date. No one who takes a girl out likes to have her former heart interest crop up constantly as the topic of conversation whenever they join a crowd. It's likely to put a damper on the evening, and create a lot of unnecessary difficulties. You can't succeed in completely avoiding other people, but you can try to show them that they're not being funny, but malicious. If straight talk isn't enough, the only course left is to refuse to rise to their bait. Ignore it, change the subject, or just keep talking about something else. Your lack of interest may the thing to discourage them.

•—•—•

(Q) "Dear Nancy: My problem is not 'what to do,' because I made a decision, but I don't know if I did the right thing. After going with a boy for a year and a half, I broke up with hib. It all started when a friend called me and told me she'd seen him in the movies with another girl. I called him and asked him about it, and he admitted it, but claimed he didn't have a date with her. I got mad, and now we've stopped seeing each other. He still calls me, and I'd like to know what to do—should I go back with him, or ignore him completely?"

(A) You might have been too hasty, breaking up a long friendship because of that small incident. If he were in the habit of making other dates, hoping you wouldn't find out, it's a legitimate excuse for ending your relationship. Your friends may have your best interest at heart, but it isn't wise policy to take their word above all others, and do some checking up with fire and fury. It's only natural to want to know the real state of affairs, but a casual, quiet question can do just as well and avoid a possible scene. He wouldn't bother calling you after your argument unless he wanted to set things right again, and it proves that you're the one he cares about, not the girl he just met in the movies. Take him at his word this time, and accept his next date. It's better to forget those harsher measures until you're absolutely sure there's need for them.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: We are writing to ask you for your advice. There is a very pretty girl in our crowd who enjoys seeing how many of our dates she can attract, besides her own. We've asked her to stop, but she pays no attention, and now ye're afraid to have any parties, for the six of us always end up together while she manages to surround herself with all the boys there. Should we just drop her from our circle, or try to make the best of it? Please tell us what to do."

(A) Because she refuses to join the party to make it a success, but instead looks on it as an opportunity to show her cleverness by snagging all the available escorts for herself, it's time to act. Ask her to a strictly hen party, and present your facts. You like her, you want to include her, but none of these affairs are fun anymore. If the situation doesn't change after that, if she doesn't begin to add to the gathering, but continues to subtract the male element from their dates, the only thing left to do is to pass her by until it becomes clear that her attitude isn't only unfair — it will result in social suicide for her.

Nancy can help with all your teen-age problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Buoy's A Honey For Seagoing Bees

BRISBANE—(AP)—An Australian work party fought a five-hour battle with bees in Moreton Bay, Queensland, before they could restore the light on a floating buoy. A swarm of bees made a forced landing on the buoy and entered the lantern through air vents. Their bodies extinguished the pilot flame and the repair party was driven off by angry bees. The party returned, reinforced with insect sprays.

Farrady Post of Frostburg upset the first place Midland Post team in an eastern division game of the Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League yesterday in Midland by the score of 7-4.

The defeat knocked Midland off the top rung and Fort Cumberland Post deadlocked Frostburg for the league leadership by trouncing Grantsville Post on the latter's field by the score of 22 to 1 behind the three-hit pitching of Ronald "Rock" Ingram.

Frostburg larruped the offerings of Robertson for 11 hits—Stevens, Matese, Lancaster and Eberly getting two blows each. Brady, lead-off man, hit the first ball pitched in the opening frame for a home run.

Eberly, Frostburg pitcher, yielded only four singles but issued ten bases on balls. He fanned five.

In the game at Grantsville, Ingram struck out nine and yielded only one run in the 5th on an error, stolen base and single.

Ronnie Cage paced the Cumberland attack with two doubles, a triple and single in five trips to the plate. Herman Lewis banged a double and three singles while George Stevenson garnered three safeties. The scores:

Yale, Harvard Win In Olympic Trials

Buffalo Club Crew Also In Semi-Finals

PRINCETON, N. J., July 1. (INS)—Yale, Harvard, and the West Side Rowing Club of Buffalo, N. Y., won their 2,000-meter "repechage" (re-run) heats on Lake Carnegie today to join four other crews in tomorrow's semi-finals of the Olympic rowing trials.

Today's winners lost yesterday in the first day's qualifying heats, but the Olympic system provides for a second chance to qualify.

There were two upsets, chief of which was Harvard's victory over Navy, 1947 Poughkeepsie champions, in 6:35. The crews battled against a brisk headwind with the result that no crew even approached yesterday's record of 5:56.4 set by Cornell.

The Yale crew achieved the best time, 6:18, in easily defeating MIT by two lengths.

The West Side Rowing Club's victory over Wisconsin in the slow time of 6:38.8 came as a surprise. The Badgers had been considered a "dark horse" threat but they were sluggish, crossing the line in 6:40.3.

Today's winners will met Cornell, Princeton, California and Washington in the semi-finals. Losers in today's heats are eliminated from further consideration as Olympic rowing representatives.

Tomorrow's heats bring Princeton, Yale, and the West Side Rowing Club together in one heat; Cornell and Harvard in another; and Washington and California in an All-Pacific Coast duel.

Coaltown Is Third At Arlington Park

Piet Wins Handicap And Returns $60.60

CHICAGO, July 1. (INS)—Arlington Park's reputation as "graveyard of champions" was pointed out to Calumet Farm again today when the great Coaltown finished a slow third to Piet, a $60.60 winner in the $20,000 added Skokie Handicap.

Calumet's Coaltown, favored at 1 to 5 with no place or show betting for the six-furlong sprint, finished three and three-quarters length behind another outsider, Carrara Marble, in the five-horse field of three-year-olds.

A crowd of 14,228 fans watched in sheer bewilderment, for Coaltown, failing to show any of his vaunted speed, was never a factor.

Piet, owned by Bomar Stable, was clocked in 1:12 1-5, slow time for a class field.

Coaltown, which in his brief racing career has broken one track record and tied another in competition exclusive of workouts, was making his first Chicago start. Last week, Calumet Farm's Bewitch, two-year-old filly and leading juvenile moneywinner of 1947, was beaten in her first start of the season at Arlington.

Upsets Highlight County Contests

Merchants And C. & P. Top Wellersburg, Cubs

A pair of upsets marked play in the County Softball League yesterday when the Corners Merchants spilled Wellersburg on the latter's field, 6-5, and the C.&P. Telephone Workers emerged the victors over the Potomac Valley Cubs at Taylor Field by the score of 5-4.

The Corner Merchants-Wellersburg game was shifted from Constitution Park to Wellersburg when the local field was not available for the game.

A pinch-hitter started the Corner Merchants on the road to victory in the 7th when Raygor, swinging for Tewell singled, scored on Milford Dean's triple and the latter registered on Humbertson's single. Humbertson of the Merchants and Baker of Wellersburg got two hits each.

The Telephone Workers also won in the final frame when Bachman squeezed the deciding tally with a bunt. Al Shaffer knocked a home run in the 5th inning.

Hyndman's Firemen took the measure of Bedford Road by the score of 9-3. Bobby Miller and Bob Cook shared eight of Hyndman's 16 hits while Cameron rapped a triple and single for Bedford Road.

Narrows Park topped Ellerslie by the score of 6-4. Clites had two singles to pace the Ellerslie attack while Ken Troutman singled and doubled for the Park, his two-bagger coming in the 6th with the bases full to tie the score. The victory snapped the Park's four-game losing streak.

Allegany Grove lost to Corriganville in a nine inning game, 5 to 3. The scores:

RIDGELEY TO HOLD REGISTERED SHOOT

The Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club will hold a registered trapshooting tournament at its traps on the Frankfort Road Sunday, commencing at 12 o'clock noon.

The program will comprise 100 singles, 100 handicap and 50 doubles.

This will be the last registered event at Ridgeley before the West Virginia State Championship Shoot July 23, 24 and 25.

Detroit Tigers Beat Cleveland By Score Of 9-5

Newhouser Is Victor As Relief Twirler

DETROIT, July 1 (AP)—Hal Newhouser got the Detroit Tigers back onto the victory trail today as he made a relief appearance to trim the Cleveland Indians 9 to 5 in a free hitting game.

For the Tigers, it was their second win in their last 11 games with Newhouser being credited with both victories. It enabled the Tigers to stop Cleveland from making a clean sweep of the three game series as the Indians had taken the first two.

In the Tiger eighth, Kell singled with one out. Wakefield doubled, scoring Kell and driving Zoldak out of the game. Russ Christopher took over and gave Hoot Evers an intentional pass. He then walked Pat Mullins, loading the bases. George Vico doubled, scoring Wakefield and Evers.

Vic Wertz fanned and Newhouser clinched his game by slamming a long triple, scoring Mullen and Vico with the final runs of the game. Box:

HILLER WINS FOR YANKS

NEW YORK, July 1 (INS)—The Yankees blasted southpaw Mickey Harris for seven runs in the first frame and then hung on through a Boston home run storm to whip the Red Sox 10 to 7 today and win the odd game of a three-game series.

It looked like a romp for rookie Frank Hiller, in quest of his second victory, but homers by Bobby Doerr, Johnny Pesky, and Vernon Stephens, the latter's with two on in the eighth, made it close.

Joe Page, lefty relief ace, took over the faltering Hiller in the ninth, but the young right-hander had the satisfaction of stopping Ted Williams' hitting streak at 16 games. Box:

Frostburg larruped the offerings of Robertson for 11 hits—Stevens, Matese, Lancaster and Eberly getting two blows each. Brady, lead-off man, hit the first ball pitched in the opening frame for a home run.

Eberly, Frostburg pitcher, yielded only four singles but issued ten bases on balls. He fanned five.

In the game at Grantsville, Ingram struck out nine and yielded only one run in the 5th on an error, stolen base and single.

Yale, Harvard Win In Olympic Trials

Buffalo Club Crew Also In Semi-Finals

PRINCETON, N. J., July 1. (INS)—Yale, Harvard, and the West Side Rowing Club of Buffalo, N. Y., won their 2,000-meter "repechage" (rerun) heats on Lake Carnegie today to join four other crews in tomorrow's semi-finals of the Olympic rowing trials.

Today's winners lost yesterday in the first day's qualifying heats, but the Olympic system provides for a second chance to qualify.

There were two upsets, chief of which was Harvard's victory over Navy, 1947 Poughkeepsie champions, in 6:35. The crews battled against a brisk headwind with the result that no crew even approached yesterday's record of 5:56.4 set by Cornell.

The Yale crew achieved the best time, 6:18, in easily defeating MIT by two lengths.

The West Side Rowing Club's victory over Wisconsin in the slow time of 6:38.8 came as a surprise. The Badgers had been considered a "dark horse" threat but they were sluggish, crossing the line in 6:40.3.

Today's winners will meet Cornell, Princeton, California and Washington in the semi-finals. Losers in today's heats are eliminated from further consideration as Olympic rowing representatives.

Tomorrow's heats bring Princeton, Yale, and the West Side Rowing Club together in one heat; Cornell and Harvard in another; and Washington and California in an All-Pacific Coast duel.

Coaltown Is Third At Arlington Park

Piet Wins Handicap And Returns $60.60

CHICAGO, July 1. (INS)—Arlington Park's reputation as "graveyard of champions" was pointed out to Calumet Farm again today when the great Coaltown finished a slow third to Piet, a $60.60 winner in the $20,000 added Skokie Handicap.

Calumet's Coaltown, favored at 1 to 5 with no place or show betting for the six-furlong sprint, finished three and three-quarters length behind another outsider, Carrara Marble, in the five-horse field of three-year-olds.

A crowd of 14,228 fans watched in sheer bewilderment, for Coaltown, failing to show any of his vaunted speed, was never a factor.

Piet, owned by Bomar Stable, was clocked in 1:12 1-5, slow time for a class field.

Coaltown, which in his brief racing career has broken one track record and tied another in competition exclusive of workouts, was making his first Chicago start. Last week, Calumet Farm's Bewitch, two-year-old filly and leading juvenile moneywinner of 1947, was beaten in her first start of the season at Arlington.

Upsets Highlight County Contests

Merchants And C. & P. Top Wellersburg, Cubs

A pair of upsets marked play in the County Softball League yesterday when the Corners Merchants spilled Wellersburg on the latter's field, 6-5, and the C.&P. Telephone Workers emerged the victors over the Potomac Valley Cubs at Taylor Field by the score of 5-4.

The Corner Merchants-Wellersburg game was shifted from Constitution Park to Wellersburg when the local field was not available for the game.

A pinch-hitter started the Corner Merchants on the road to victory in the 7th when Raygor, swinging for Tewell singled, scored on Milford Dean's triple and the latter registered on Humbertson's single. Humbertson of the Merchants and Baker of Wellersburg got two hits each.

The Telephone Workers also won in the final frame when Bachman squeezed the deciding tally with a bunt. Al Shaffer knocked a home run in the 5th inning.

Hyndman's Firemen took the measure of Bedford Road by the score of 9-3. Bobby Miller and Bob Cook shared eight of Hyndman's 16 hits while Cameron rapped a triple and single for Bedford Road.

Narrows Park topped Ellerslie by the score of 6-4. Clites had two singles to pace the Ellerslie attack while Ken Troutman singled and doubled for the Park, his two-bagger coming in the 6th with the bases full to tie the score. The victory snapped the Park's four-game losing streak.

Detroit Tigers Beat Cleveland By Score Of 9-5

Newhouser Is Victor As Relief Twirler

DETROIT, July 1 (AP)—Hal Newhouser got the Detroit Tigers back onto the victory trail today as he made a relief appearance to trim the Cleveland Indians 9 to 5 in a free hitting game.

For the Tigers, it was their second win in their last 11 games with Newhouser being credited with both victories. It enabled the Tigers to stop Cleveland from making a clean sweep of the three game series as the Indians had taken the first two.

Four Indian pitchers saw service, with reliefer Sam Zoldak being charged with the loss.

In the Tiger eighth, Kell singled with one out. Wakefield doubled, scoring Kell and driving Zoldak out of the game. Russ Christopher took over and gave Hoot Evers an intentional pass. He then walked Pat Mullins, loading the bases. George Vico doubled, scoring Wakefield and Evers.

Vic Wertz fanned and Newhouser clinched his game by slamming a long triple, scoring Mullen and Vico with the final runs of the game. Box:

HILLER WINS FOR YANKS

NEW YORK, July 1 (INS)—The Yankees blasted southpaw Mickey Harris for seven runs in the first frame and then hung on through a Boston home run storm to whip the Red Sox 10 to 7 today and win the odd game of a three-game series.

It looked like a romp for rookie Frank Hiller, in quest of his second victory, but homers by Bobby Doerr, Johnny Pesky, and Vernon Stephens, the latter's with two on in the eighth, made it close.

Joe Page, lefty relief ace, took over the faltering Hiller in the ninth, but the young right-hander had the satisfaction of stopping Ted Williams' hitting streak at 16 games. Box:

Card of Thanks

We take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation to our friends, relatives and neighbors who were so kind to us in our recent bereavement in the death of our husband and father, Frank J. Lashbaugh. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.
HIS WIFE and DAUGHTERS.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Sarah I. Davidson, who passed away three years ago, July 2, 1945.
Dear Mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.

HIS WIFE and DAUGHTERS.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Sarah I. Davidson, who passed away three years ago, July 2, 1945.
Dear Mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.
Sadly missed by The Family.

Gen. Eisenhower will make his first radio talk since retiring on a July 4 vets' program. . . . Talk at the American Medical Association convention in Chicago last week was that there will be a Secretary of Health added to the Cabinet by 1951. . . . Jewish leaders met in New York last week to plan a navy for Israel. . . . Ex-Gov. Jimmy Davis of Louisiana will play the Washington Capitol Theatre in July. His "take" as a bandleader for that stint will practically equal his annual gubernatorial stipend of $12,000. . . . President Truman to visit New York July 31 to dedicate the International Airport at Idlewild. . . . The U. S. has just received a $25,000,000 order for locomotives for India. . . . Jacques Maritain has resigned as French Ambassador to the Vatican to join the faculty at Princeton. . . . On March 24 we told you that C. R. Rajagopalachari would succeed Lord Mountbatten as Governor General of India late in June (and we spelled his name right, too.)

The Tyrone Power-Linda Christians nuptials, slated to take place in Rome this Summer, would appear to be one of those romantic dream-ups of Hollywood, since Ty won't be free to re-wed legally until next January. . . . MGM vexed at Lana Turner again, as they want her to report for a movie July 15 and she has not even bothered to let them know her future plans. . . . Lillian Roth to make a show business comeback this Fall on Broadway in a musical called "Fresh as a Daisy." . . . Richard Widmark to have his right shoulder re-broken and re-set at St. John's Hospital, Los Angeles. . . . Publicist George Mysels has set Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address to music, for Fall publication. . . . Irma Phillips, one of the pioneers of radio soap opera, will put her nearly 20 years experience between book covers.

London's Evening Standard and Stockholm's Aftontidningen are doing feature stories on those gauzily-garbed waitresses at the Sheraton Lounge. . . . The old plate glass protection racket is flourishing in Chicago and is expected to spread to New York by September (merchants pay for "protection," or get their windows mysteriously smashed.) . . . A Columbia University scientist recently detonated dynamite with an atomic machine in the Dominican Republic, on the site of the proposed mile-long museum-lighthouse memorial to Christopher Columbus, expected to reach completion in 1951. . . . Three vets, Albert Kay, Howard Deming and Edward Dudley, through the aid of their former Army chaplain, have leased the beautiful Clinton, Conn., Memorial Hall for a season of opera, ballet and concert, to open July 4.

The American Broadcasting Co.'s Hollywood telestation will start operation before Election Day. . . . The FCC is checking the quiz shows to see if they violate lottery regulations. . . . Dan Burley, managing editor of the Amsterdam News, Harlem newspaper, has become a disc jockey on WWRL, Queens. . . . Sophie Tucker donated a $500 check to the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Frederick Wells, for his "Save the Children" Fund, from the sale of her autobiography. Autographed, the books brought 1,600 pounds the first week of her London engagement. . . . Irish playwright Sean O'Casey will undergo a major eye operation in London this week. . . . Jockey Johnny Longden to make his film debut on the Coast shortly.

Judith Anderson has rejoined her film director husband Luther Green, on the West Coast, after a two years' separation. . . . Plane Crash Injuries Are Fatal To Herbert Springer

Student Pilot Dies In Local Hospital

Herbert O. Springer, 27-year-old student pilot died at 6:15 p. m. yesterday in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted a day earlier after being injured in an airplane crash at Cumberland Municipal Airport.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said the youthful aviator, who served with the Infantry in World War II, died from a compound fracture of the skull, extensive lacerations of the brain and hemorrhages.

Springer was removed from the twisted wreckage of a Piper Cub, which, witnesses said, went into a spin at 75 feet and crashed to the ground nose first, just 10 minutes after he took off at the local port on a routine training flight.

An employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Springer moved here from Belington, W. Va., in September 1945, and began the flying course under the G. I. Bill of Rights in May, 1947.

Stanford Jenkins, secretary and treasurer of the Mountain Air Service, which operates the municipal port, said Springer, a commercial pilot student, was credited with 75 hours flying time.

CAA Investigates

T. M. Hollen, Civil Aeronautics Authorities inspector conducted a four-hour investigation here yesterday afternoon ,but returned to the branch office in Alexandria, Va., without disclosing his findings, according to John DelaGrange, president of the local company.

Officials at the Cumberland field as well as pilots of this area continued yesterday to express confusion over the crash because they said the Piper Cub is adverse to spins.

The plane, according to DelaGrange, was one of the newest training crafts at the local field. Following the accident Jenkins said it was a total loss.

Observers who visited the scene explained that the engine was jammed back into the cockpit and said the pilot's seat and control stick were broken loose by the impact.

Was Veteran World War II

Springer was inducted into the Army with a National Guard Unit in January, 1941 at Weston, W. Va. After serving in Alaska with the 96th Infantry Division as a Technical Sergeant until July 1943 he was assigned to the Pacific Theater.

He served on Leyte Island, and later was wounded at Okinawa. Besides several battle stars he held the Purple Heart Medal.

He was married here on Christmas Eve 1947 and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Daisy Landis Springer and one step-daughter, Betty Lou Eyes. The family resided at 211 North Lee Street.

Besides his widow and stepdaughter, Springer is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Springer, a brother, William Springer, Jr., and a sister, Ilene Springer, all of Belington, W. Va.; another sister, Mrs. Lois Hodges, resides in Ellamore, W. Va.

Springer is the first Cumberland pilot to be killed in a local plane crash since Frank V. Becker, who operated Radio Station WTBO, was killed when his plane crashed on Iron Mountain shortly before the war.

Maryland Avenue Woman Treated After Accident

Mrs. Francis F. Smith, 702 Maryland Avenue, was treated at Memorial Hospital last night for injuries to her back following an automobile accident in Eckhart early last night.

According to Corp. Harry Holsinger of the State Police, the car in which Mrs. Smith was riding, was driven by her husband Carl M. Smith.

Richard Walker, 10, 621 Laing Avenue, suffered a lacerated head as he hit the diving board while trying a backward flip dive.

The Weather

The threat of more thundershowers in the Cumberland area is over, according to the weatherman with the forecasts calling for a mostly fair day with less humidity and moderate temperature. The high for yesterday was 79 degrees, which is considerably lower than the previous days, but it was welcomed by all except those wishing to get a leather-brown suntan. At 10:30 last night the mercury had slid to a cool 63 and expected to get even lower during the night. The weekend weather outlook is fine with motorists expecting to take advantage of the long holiday weekend. The weather department says it will be dry and warmer.

Open-Air Band Concert Planned Sunday In Park

City To Sponsor Holiday Event

An open-air band concert, the first of its kind to be held in Constitution Park for several years, will be presented Sunday evening from 8:30 until 9:30 under the sponsorship of city officials, Commissioner Edgar Reynolds announced yesterday.

The event will be one of the few public observances of the Fourth of July in Cumberland.

Reynolds said the concert will be presented by the Moose band of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose.

Public Is Invited

The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge. The concert will be held in the outdoor amphitheater at the park.

Meanwhile, thousands of Cumberlanders were preparing for a long Independence Day weekend.

City business will be at a standstill for more than 48 hours. Stores will close Saturday night and remain closed until Tuesday morning. City offices will get the jump on the business establishments by closing tonight.

Cumberland banks will observe the long weekend for this holiday. They will close today at 2 p. m. and will not reopen until Tuesday at 9 a. m.

Mail deliveries will not be made in the city Sunday or Monday, except special delivery or registered mail.

No Fireworks Allowed

The old-time custom of shooting off fireworks will be abandoned again this year. Both Cumberland and the state have outlawed the noisemakers as too dangerous.

Under a city ordinance passed July 10, 1939, during the administration of the late Mayor Harry Irvine, the sale, possession or use of fireworks is prohibited within the city limits and for one mile beyond the limits.

An exception is provided, however, for the use of fireworks at public celebrations or exhibitions, when a permit is obtained from the fire chief and approved by the Mayor and Council.

Violators of the ordinance are subject to fines ranging from $50 to $100 for each offense.

Passage of the ordinance resulted from a "particularly noisy" citywide celebration of the Fourth in 1939, City Hall attaches recalled.

Silent Partner Seeks Legal Aid To Check Books

Declares Inn Manager Is Depositing Money

A silent partner in a North Mechanic Street restaurant yesterday filed an equity suit in Circuit Court asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of books, "which the manager refuses to show him."

John B. Roy through his attorney Earl E. Manges filed the suit against Nola O. Beal, whom he said became manager of Johnny's Inn, 826 North Mechanic Street in December, 1947, when the couple formed an oral partnership.

Roy contends that he has reasonable grounds to believe that Nola Beal is not keeping accurate records, and further avers that the money which belongs to the partnership has been deposited in the Liberty Trust Company and the Commercial Bank in the name of Nola O. Beal.

The restaurant is doing a good business, according to the bill of complaint, but the manager asserts that it is a losing proposition and Roy declares he has advanced large sums of money to keep the business going.

The bill of complaint asks the Court to appoint a receiver to review the books and also to legally prevent Nola Beal from drawing further money from the banks until the Court determines if the money belongs to the partnership.

Roy declared that the manager has tried several ways to prevent him from visiting the restaurant, and added that she recently obtained a peace warrant in Trial Magistrates Court to prevent him from entering the establishment.

The Court appointed Manges and Julius E. Schindler as receivers to study the financial accounts and issued orders for both local banks to present an account of monies on deposit in Nola Beal's name.

Roy said that at the time the partnership was formed it was agreed that the woman would manage the place, but he declared she also agreed to keep accurate books which would be open to his inspection.

Driver Injured When Truck Turns Over

A Winchester, Va. motorist suffered minor injuries yesterday at 11 a. m. when his truck struck a bank on State Route 135 near Bloomington, and turned over as he swerved to miss a string of seven carnival trucks that were stalled on Backbone mountain, according to Maryland State Police.

Loring R. Nail, received minor cuts on the head, Trooper Milton G. Hart said, when the tractor-truck he was driving turned over. The trooper said Nail was traveling at an excessive rate of speed when he made a sharp turn and ran on to the stalled trucks.

The carnival car, directly involved in the mishap was operated by Maxine J. Cyr, Macon, Ga., according to Trooper Hart, who said both drivers posted bonds for hearings today in Oakland Trial Magistrates Court.

Nail posted $16.45 on a reckless driving charge, and the woman posted $6.45 for operating a vehicle on an expired drivers licenses, Trooper Hart said.

Halt In Guard Enlistments Finds Local Units Above Phase Strength

Hit 52 Per Cent Of Wartime Quota

When the National Guard unexpectedly slammed the brakes on enlistments last week to guard against possible budget trouble, First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, 29th Division, was not caught napping.

Local officials said the letter halting all National Guard recruiting activities last Tuesday at midnight came as a complete surprise but found the unit well above slated strength.

When the division was organized, Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, First Battalion commander said, plans were made to enlist to 90 per cent of war strength in regular stages.

The battalion, he added, has reached and passed the third stage in its recruiting and training program. Appropriations made by Congress, of course, provided funds according to the orderly process through the stages.

The break found the First leading the Second and Third Battalions in enlistments.

The National Guard strength is budgeted at 341,000 for fiscal year 1949. Reports from Washington, however, indicate that many units were exceeding their state quotas in the belief that Congress will grant a deficiency appropriation when it reconvenes.

New Quotas Planned

Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard Bureau, said quotas have been sent to all states which must not be exceeded if the guard is to stay within its budget. Adjutant Generals who go beyond their quotas will do so on their own responsibility, he said.

In his instructions to the states he pointed out that as the National Guard develops within the next few months it may be necessary to change the ceilings.

The First Battalion is roughly at 52 per cent of war strength and eventual plans call for recruiting to 90 per cent of full wartime strength.

Here is the picture as it stands at present:

C Company, Cumberland, a rifle company, has 96 enlisted men and four officers, and will reach 186 men and seven officers in its final stage.

Pass Phase Strength

Headquarters Company, Cumberland, has 58 men and four officers, not including staff officers. The Table of Organization calls for 100 men and six officers.

D Company, Frostburg, a heavy weapons group, now has 71 men and three officers and is slated to reach 150 men and eight officers. One enlisted man in the outfit is now in the process of being commissioned.

B Company, Hagerstown, a rifle company, has 80 of its authorized 186 enlisted men and A Company, Frederick, also a rifle company, has 92 of its 186 authorized enlisted men.

Local officials of the Guard pointed out that the First Battalion is making every effort to secure officers from the ranks. When the outfit went into war status in 1941, every officer had at one time served as an enlisted man.

"We want good officers and will take any good ones we can get, but we especially like those who have come up through the ranks," Millholland declared.

Bedford Motorist Held In City Jail

Robert V. Kelly, Bedford, Pa., is being held in the City Jail after being picked up last night by Maryland State Police. It is reported, Kelly was being sought for leaving the scene of an accident. Bond has been set at $101.45.

Major Sellers entered the army during World War II, when Company "G" National Guard was federalized. He served as battalion executive and battalion commander in the 83rd Infantry Division in 1944 and 1945, during which time he participated in the Normandy, Northern France, Ardennes, Rhineland and Central European campaigns. He was awarded the Silver Star, Bronze Star and two oak leaf clusters, and the Army Commendation Ribbon.

Celco Workers Accept 8 Cent Wage Increase

Celanese Workers To Hear Reports

The Celanese Corporation of America and Local 153, United Construction Workers, affiliated with the United Mine Workers of America, yesterday reached a settlement which provides an eight cents an hour wage increase for all hourly paid employes of the company's yarn producing plant at Narrows, Va.

The company and the union have been conducting negotiations for the past two months without a disturbance of any kind in the plant, P. D. Cooper, Celco plant manager and a former official of the Amcelle plant here said.

Under the agreement, continuance of operation is insured in the plant which produces more than half of the yarn output of the Celanese Corporation.

The plant employs some 4,600 workers, 4,000 of them hourly paid and the other 600 staff employes.

The increase became effective June 25, when the tentative agreement was reached. The pact was ratified by the membership of the union Wednesday and signed yesterday.

The wage boost was negotiated under a wage-reopening clause in an agreement which is effective until next February.

Sets Industry Pattern

The Celco settlement is of particular interest in the Cumberland area in that it is the first wage settlement to be announced by any large rayon plant.

Local 1874, Textile Workers of America, CIO, is now in contract negotiations and has asked a 25 cents an hour wage boost for the

Playground Group Votes To Lower Quorum Number

Five Of 20 Member Groups Suspended

Five of the 20 member organizations of the City Playground Associations were declared automatically suspended last night for failing to send representatives to three consecutive meetings, and a change in the quorum regulations was voted unanimously.

Mrs. Vivian L. Turley, president, explained that if the five suspended groups are represented at one of the next two regular meetings, July 15 and August 5, they will be reinstated without having to pay another $5 membership fee.

Those suspended are the West Side Playground Association, Johnson Heights Parent-Teacher Association, Columbia Avenue Parent-Teacher Association, the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, and Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose.

The automatic suspension provision of the bylaws was invoked when it was discovered that a quorum was lacking, as was the case at the last two regular meetings.

Quorum Changed

With the suspension of the five member groups, the necessary two-thirds majority was gained to conduct business requiring voting.

At this point, a motion was passed to change the quorum provision from two-thirds of the membership to seven member groups.

The group also voted to make Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, former president of the City Playground Associations, an honorary member. Such membership confers advisory privileges only.

Clair Mease was named chairman of a committee to study the bylaws with a view to making them more "workable." He will be assisted by Robert Taylor and Mrs. Esther Robinson. The group will report at the August 5 meeting.

Considerable discussion was devoted to protecting playground equipment and preventing older children from creating disturbances on playgrounds.

Vandalism Reported

Mrs. Harry S. Anderson, city playground supervisor, reported that the pool at North End Playground was tampered with and some play equipment destroyed last Saturday night.

Assistant Chief of Police B. F. Gaffney said the Police Department should be notified immediately of any rowdyism or vandalism at playgrounds.

W. E. Eichner of Gephart Playground Association said he was informed by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, that the names of children creating a disturbance on playgrounds which are school property should be turned over to the Board of Education.

Although no formal action was taken, a suggestion was made that men from various playground association be deputized by police authorities to protect the property and equipment.

Mrs. Anderson said night watchmen might be appointed at the Thomas S. Post, Pennsylvania Avenue and North End Playgrounds, where disturbances have been reported.

Assistant Chief Gaffney said the auxiliary police force might assist in protecting playground property.

2 Local Men Held In Assault, Theft

Two local men accused of brutally assaulting and robbing a Martinsville, Va., man Sunday night, were held in default of bond yesterday for action of the Bedford County, Pa., Court of Sessions.

A local girl, Miss Josephine Frazier, who was also taken into custody with the men, was released yesterday, and authorities said she had no knowledge of the alleged assault and robbery which occurred near Bedford, Pa.

Howard C. Longerbeam was ordered held in default of $4,000 bond and Richard J. McCue, the second man arrested in connection with the assault was ordered held in default of $3,000.

The Martinsville man, Albert Schnader told police that he was struck over the head with a blunt instrument and robbed of $35 when he and the two men took a short walk from the car they were riding in

The girl told police that she remained in the car, and knew nothing of the alleged assault of plans of the two prisoners to commit it. She returned to Cumberland yesterday.

Schnader was treated in Allegany Hospital following the attack.

Husband Is Held After Mate Is Stabbed In Back

Wife's Condition Reported Favorable

A 34-year-old husband, Frank Michaels, near Midland, was being held for investigation last night after Maryland State Police said his wife, Lulu Michaels, 34, was taken to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, suffering from a knife wound in the back.

The woman, according to Trooper Milton G. Hart, was removed to the hospital from a neighbor's home where she was taken and given first aid treatment. Trooper Hart said Michaels was arrested at his home where the stabbing allegedly occurred.

At the hospital, attaches said Mrs. Michaels suffered a wound in the middle of her back that required three stitches to close. Police said she lost considerable blood before receiving aid.

Details of what happened were vague, according to Trooper Hart, who investigated along with First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, but the trooper explained there apparently was a "family argument" and the stabbing resulted.

Also Cut About Face

Several knives were collected at the home, according to Trooper Hart, but he added that authorities are not sure which weapon inflicted the wound. The victim, he declared was badly cut about the face and neck.

The neighbor, whom police did not identify said they were attracted to the house by screams and noise. Trooper Hart said he is not positive where Mrs. Michaels was found, but added the neighbor took her in and wrapped towels around the wound.

The kitchen floor and back porch were coated with blood, according to investigating officers, and several pools were also discovered in the back yard.

Michaels was asleep when police arrived, they said, and his condition would not permit questioning. He was taken to Allegany County Jail and held for investigation. He will be questioned today in the office of the State's Attorney, Trooper Hart declared.

Refuses Comment

Police said as far as they could learn the only other person in the house at the time was a four-year old child. Trooper Hart added he was not sure if the child witnessed the cutting.

It was the neighbor who called police, Trooper Hart said, but the woman was not removed to the hospital until officers arrived and called an ambulance.

Hospital attaches said a chest X-ray will be made today to determine if the knife cut any vital organs. Mrs. Michaels was reported conscious upon admittance but refused to give any details of the incident.

Paper Workers Signing Up For Pension Plan

Luke Participants Still Increasing

More than 97 per cent of those eligible in four of the company's six plants have signed up for membership in the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company pension plan for hourly paid employees, the Luke plant management notified its employes by letter today.

The company informed workers that as of June 25 enrollment in the plan included almost 99 per cent of eligible employes at the Tyrone, Pa., plant; 97 per cent at Williamsburg, Pa., almost 97 per cent at Mechanicville, N. Y., and more than 95 per cent at Charleston, S. C.

The number at Luke, Md. was 61 per cent when the letter was drafted, but, the company reports, has now increased to 63 per cent and is growing. Covington, Va. trails with 31 per cent.

Employes have until September 1 to sign up for the plan without loss of past service benefits accrued before the plan went in on June 1. The cost of the past service part of employes' pensions is borne solely by the company, which is prepared to spend as much as $4,900,000 for this purpose. The cost of the future service part of the pensions employes receive upon retirement is paid both by the company and employes. It is estimated that future service benefits can cost the company about $410,000 per year. It is expected that on the average the company will contribute about $2 for each $1 contributed by the employes.

The letter also notified employes about interpretations clarifying two phases of the pension plan. One pointed out that in signing an application card employes do not authorize deductions any greater than those set out in the plan at the time they signed. These deductions amount to not more than two to two and one-half per cent of an employe's earnings each pay day. The other explained that employes may choose any one of four doctors if and when medical examination may be required under the plan—for example, to say whether a man who has been ill is ready to return to work or to say whether it's safe for an older man to keep on at the job.

Heavy Balloting Noted At Phone Election Here

Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, CIO, officials appeared confident here last night that Western Maryland telephone workers voted overwhelmingly for TWOC - CIO representation in the election held here and throughout Maryland yesterday to determine the bargaining rights to 4,200 C. and P. Telephone Company employes.

C. C. Smith, CIO representative, said 132 of the 146 eligible employes cast ballots in the election held at the company office here and that two others were challenged by the National Labor Relations Board.

Another 15 employes who received mailed ballots due to furloughs, sickness and vacations came in and presented ballots, he added.

The workers had a choice between the Communication Workers of America, the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, CIO, and no union.

Neither the company nor the CWA had observers at the polls. Mrs. Francis Catlett and Mrs. Virginia Skidmore, both of this city, represented the MTTU-CIO.

Smith said indications were that at least 244 of the 265 eligible voters in Western Maryland cast ballots in the election.

Ballots will be counted by the NLRB in Baltimore today.

Decision Withheld In Appeals Case

The court withheld decision yesterday in a civil appeals case in which a local insurance agent charges that a car he purchased in February for $325 was misrepresented to him.

Joseph Weatherwax, the insurance agent charged that he purchased the car from Homer Hull, Narrows Park, and that on the same day he experienced trouble with the machine.

The plaintiff, who was awarded a $175 judgment in Trial Magistrates Court, said that when he took the car to a local garage he was informed that the engine head was cracked in two places.

Hull was quoted by the manager of a local finance company as saying that the machine was in good condition and would do the work that Weatherwax's job required.

William L. Wilson, Jr. represented Weatherwax and Julius E. Schindler was counsel for Hull.

Liatis Warns Against Underrating Strength Of Communist Influence

America should not make the mistake of overestimating her own strength by underestimating the strength of Communism, Alexis S. Liatis, first secretary to the Greek Embassy in Washington, D. C., said yesterday.

Liatis was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA. He was introduced by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, program chairman of the club.

"Communists have a terrible fanaticism like that of the early Christians," Liatis said.

Discussing the current situation in Greece, he emphasized that the fighting is not a civil war but warfare between the Greek government and Communist-controlled guerrilla forces.

The guerrillas, who were organized to fight Fascist and Nazi invaders early in World War II, came under Communist domination after Greece was "swallowed up" by the Germans in May, 1941, Liatis said.

Liatis admitted that the Greek government military forces outnumber those of the guerrillas, but he pointed out that the government has a tremendous job of protecting transportation and communications from guerrilla attacks, adding, "It is much easier to blow up a building than to build it."

Furthermore, he said, it takes much less time for Stalin to send arms to the Communist-dominated guerrillas in Greece than for the Greek government to receive aid from the United States.

"Greeks are realistic," he said. "They are ready to accept any workable solution which will enable them to live in peace with neighboring countries, even though their policies are different."

Red Cross 'Learn To Swim' Program Scheduled For Constitution Park

A "Learn to Swim" program sponsored by the Cumberland Red Cross Chapter in cooperation with Arthur Gehauf, manager of the Constitution Park swimming pool, will get underway Tuesday morning if present plans materialize.

The City of Cumberland has offered the pool facilities from 10 a. m. until 12 noon daily for the purpose of instructing the children of the community to swim.

Miss Ann Nagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Nagle, 310 Washington Street, has been appointed the Red Cross Instructor for the summer swimming period. The new teacher is a physical education instructor, having graduated last month from the George Peabody school for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn. This fall Miss Nagle has accepted employment in Jacksonville, Ill.

James Kelly, chairman of the Red Cross Life Saving and Water Safety committee will direct the program.

The first class to be organized will be the sixth grade of Gephart School. They were unable to receive instructions last year at the "Y" pool.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, local Red Cross Chapter chairman has called a preliminary meeting for this afternoon at Red Cross headquarters in the post office building, Mrs. Lee Witherup, local Red Cross Executive Secretary, has announced.

Plane Crash Injuries Are Fatal To Herbert Springer

Student Pilot Dies In Local Hospital

Herbert O. Springer, 27-year-old student pilot died at 6:15 p. m. yesterday in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted a day earlier after being injured in an airplane crash at Cumberland Municipal Airport.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said the youthful aviator, who served with the Infantry in World War II, died from a compound fracture of the skull, extensive lacerations of the brain and hemorrhages.

Springer was removed from the twisted wreckage of a Piper Cub, which, witnesses said, went into a spin at 75 feet and crashed to the ground nose first, just 10 minutes after he took off at the local port on a routine training flight.

An employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Springer moved here from Belington, W. Va., in September 1945, and began the flying course under the G. I. Bill of Rights in May, 1947.

Stanford Jenkins, secretary and treasurer of the Mountain Air Service, which operates the municipal port, said Springer, a commercial pilot student, was credited with 75 hours flying time.

CAA Investigates

T. M. Hollen, Civil Aeronautics Authorities inspector conducted a four-hour investigation here yesterday afternoon ,but returned to the branch office in Alexandria, Va., without disclosing his findings, according to John DelaGrange, president of the local company.

Officials at the Cumberland field as well as pilots of this area continued yesterday to express confusion over the crash because they said the Piper Cub is adverse to spins.

The plane, according to DelaGrange, was one of the newest training crafts at the local field. Following the accident Jenkins said it was a total loss.

Observers who visited the scene explained that the engine was jammed back into the cockpit and said the pilot's seat and control stick were broken loose by the impact.

Was Veteran World War II

Springer was inducted into the Army with a National Guard Unit in January, 1941 at Weston, W. Va. After serving in Alaska with the 96th Infantry Division as a Technical Sergeant until July 1943 he was assigned to the Pacific Theater.

He served on Leyte Island, and later was wounded at Okinawa. Besides several battle stars he held the Purple Heart Medal.

He was married here on Christmas Eve 1947 and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Daisy Landis Springer and one step-daughter, Betty Lou Eyes. The family resided at 211 North Lee Street.

Besides his widow and stepdaughter, Springer is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Springer, a brother, William Springer, Jr., and a sister, Ilene Springer, all of Belington, W. Va.; another sister, Mrs. Lois Hodges, resides in Ellamore, W. Va.

Springer is the first Cumberland pilot to be killed in a local plane crash since Frank V. Becker, who operated Radio Station WTBO, was killed when his plane crashed on Iron Mountain shortly before the war.

Maryland Avenue Woman Treated After Accident

Mrs. Francis F. Smith, 702 Maryland Avenue, was treated at Memorial Hospital last night for injuries to her back following an automobile accident in Eckhart early last night.

According to Corp. Harry Holsinger of the State Police, the car in which Mrs. Smith was riding, was driven by her husband Carl M. Smith.

Other accidents reported by hospital attaches were: Wilda Bowman, 5, 618 Montreal Avenue, who fell off the porch of her home and received an arm fracture; Naomi Gulbronson, Wiley Ford, was treated for lacerations and a fractured left elbow after a fall from her bicycle.

Richard Walker, 10, 621 Laing Avenue, suffered a lacerated head as he hit the diving board while trying a backward flip dive.

The Weather

The threat of more thundershowers in the Cumberland area is over, according to the weatherman with the forecasts calling for a mostly fair day with less humidity and moderate temperature. The high for yesterday was 79 degrees, which is considerably lower than the previous days, but it was welcomed by all except those wishing to get a leather-brown suntan. At 10:30 last night the mercury had slid to a cool 63 and expected to get even lower during the night. The weekend weather outlook is fine with motorists expecting to take advantage of the long holiday weekend. The weather department says it will be dry and warmer.

Open-Air Band Concert Planned Sunday In Park

City To Sponsor Holiday Event

An open-air band concert, the first of its kind to be held in Constitution Park for several years, will be presented Sunday evening from 8:30 until 9:30 under the sponsorship of city officials, Commissioner Edgar Reynolds announced yesterday.

The event will be one of the few public observances of the Fourth of July in Cumberland.

Reynolds said the concert will be presented by the Moose band of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose.

Public Is Invited

The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge. The concert will be held in the outdoor amphitheater at the park.

Meanwhile, thousands of Cumberlanders were preparing for a long Independence Day weekend.

City business will be at a standstill for more than 48 hours. Stores will close Saturday night and remain closed until Tuesday morning. City offices will get the jump on the business establishments by closing tonight.

Cumberland banks will observe the long weekend for this holiday. They will close today at 2 p. m. and will not reopen until Tuesday at 9 a. m.

Mail deliveries will not be made in the city Sunday or Monday, except special delivery or registered mail.

No Fireworks Allowed

The old-time custom of shooting off fireworks will be abandoned again this year. Both Cumberland and the state have outlawed the noisemakers as too dangerous.

Under a city ordinance passed July 10, 1939, during the administration of the late Mayor Harry Irvine, the sale, possession or use of fireworks is prohibited within the city limits and for one mile beyond the limits.

An exception is provided, however, for the use of fireworks at public celebrations or exhibitions, when a permit is obtained from the fire chief and approved by the Mayor and Council.

Violators of the ordinance are subject to fines ranging from $50 to $100 for each offense.

Passage of the ordinance resulted from a "particularly noisy" citywide celebration of the Fourth in 1939, City Hall attaches recalled.

Silent Partner Seeks Legal Aid To Check Books

Declares Inn Manager Is Depositing Money

A silent partner in a North Mechanic Street restaurant yesterday filed an equity suit in Circuit Court asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of books, "which the manager refuses to show him."

John B. Roy through his attorney Earl E. Manges filed the suit against Nola O. Beal, whom he said became manager of Johnny's Inn, 826 North Mechanic Street in December, 1947, when the couple formed an oral partnership.

Roy contends that he has reasonable grounds to believe that Nola Beal is not keeping accurate records, and further avers that the money which belongs to the partnership has been deposited in the Liberty Trust Company and the Commercial Bank in the name of Nola O. Beal.

The restaurant is doing a good business, according to the bill of complaint, but the manager asserts that it is a losing proposition and Roy declares he has advanced large sums of money to keep the business going.

The bill of complaint asks the Court to appoint a receiver to review the books and also to legally prevent Nola Beal from drawing further money from the banks until the Court determines if the money belongs to the partnership.

Roy declared that the manager has tried several ways to prevent him from visiting the restaurant, and added that she recently obtained a peace warrant in Trial Magistrates Court to prevent him from entering the establishment.

The Court appointed Manges and Julius E. Schindler as receivers to study the financial accounts and issued orders for both local banks to present an account of monies on deposit in Nola Beal's name.

Roy said that at the time the partnership was formed it was agreed that the woman would manage the place, but he declared she also agreed to keep accurate books which would be open to his inspection.

Driver Injured When Truck Turns Over

A Winchester, Va. motorist suffered minor injuries yesterday at 11 a. m. when his truck struck a bank on State Route 135 near Bloomington, and turned over as he swerved to miss a string of seven carnival trucks that were stalled on Backbone mountain, according to Maryland State Police.

Loring R. Nail, received minor cuts on the head, Trooper Milton G. Hart said, when the tractor-truck he was driving turned over. The trooper said Nail was traveling at an excessive rate of speed when he made a sharp turn and ran on to the stalled trucks.

The carnival car, directly involved in the mishap was operated by Maxine J. Cyr, Macon, Ga., according to Trooper Hart, who said both drivers posted bonds for hearings today in Oakland Trial Magistrates Court.

Nail posted $16.45 on a reckless driving charge, and the woman posted $6.45 for operating a vehicle on an expired drivers licenses, Trooper Hart said.

Halt In Guard Enlistments Finds Local Units Above Phase Strength

Hit 52 Per Cent Of Wartime Quota

When the National Guard unexpectedly slammed the brakes on enlistments last week to guard against possible budget trouble, First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, 29th Division, was not caught napping.

Local officials said the letter halting all National Guard recruiting activities last Tuesday at midnight came as a complete surprise but found the unit well above slated strength.

When the division was organized, Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, First Battalion commander said, plans were made to enlist to 90 per cent of war strength in regular stages.

The battalion, he added, has reached and passed the third stage in its recruiting and training program. Appropriations made by Congress, of course, provided funds according to the orderly process through the stages.

The break found the First leading the Second and Third Battalions in enlistments.

The National Guard strength is budgeted at 341,000 for fiscal year 1949. Reports from Washington, however, indicate that many units were exceeding their state quotas in the belief that Congress will grant a deficiency appropriation when it reconvenes.

New Quotas Planned

Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard Bureau, said quotas have been sent to all states which must not be exceeded if the guard is to stay within its budget. Adjutant Generals who go beyond their quotas will do so on their own responsibility, he said.

In his instructions to the states he pointed out that as the National Guard develops within the next few months it may be necessary to change the ceilings.

The First Battalion is roughly at 52 per cent of war strength and eventual plans call for recruiting to 90 per cent of full wartime strength.

Here is the picture as it stands at present:

C Company, Cumberland, a rifle company, has 96 enlisted men and four officers, and will reach 186 men and seven officers in its final stage.

Pass Phase Strength

Headquarters Company, Cumberland, has 58 men and four officers, not including staff officers. The Table of Organization calls for 100 men and six officers.

D Company, Frostburg, a heavy weapons group, now has 71 men and three officers and is slated to reach 150 men and eight officers. One enlisted man in the outfit is now in the process of being commissioned.

B Company, Hagerstown, a rifle company, has 80 of its authorized 186 enlisted men and A Company, Frederick, also a rifle company, has 92 of its 186 authorized enlisted men.

Local officials of the Guard pointed out that the First Battalion is making every effort to secure officers from the ranks. When the outfit went into war status in 1941, every officer had at one time served as an enlisted man.

"We want good officers and will take any good ones we can get, but we especially like those who have come up through the ranks," Millholland declared.

He was awarded the Silver Star, Bronze Star and two oak leaf clusters, and the Army Commendation Ribbon.

Celanese Workers To Hear Reports

The Celanese Corporation of America and Local 153, United Construction Workers, affiliated with the United Mine Workers of America, yesterday reached a settlement which provides an eight cents an hour wage increase for all hourly paid employes of the company's yarn producing plant at Narrows, Va.

The company and the union have been conducting negotiations for the past two months without a disturbance of any kind in the plant, P. D. Cooper, Celco plant manager and a former official of the Amcelle plant here said.

Under the agreement, continuance of operation is insured in the plant which produces more than half of the yarn output of the Celanese Corporation.

The plant employs some 4,600 workers, 4,000 of them hourly paid and the other 600 staff employes.

The increase became effective June 25, when the tentative agreement was reached. The pact was ratified by the membership of the union Wednesday and signed yesterday.

The wage boost was negotiated under a wage-reopening clause in an agreement which is effective until next February.

Sets Industry Pattern

The Celco settlement is of particular interest in the Cumberland area in that it is the first wage settlement to be announced by any large rayon plant.

Local 1874, Textile Workers of America, CIO, is now in contract negotiations and has asked a 25 cents an hour wage boost for the

Red Cross 'Learn To Swim' Program Scheduled For Constitution Park

A "Learn to Swim" program sponsored by the Cumberland Red Cross Chapter in cooperation with Arthur Gehauf, manager of the Constitution Park swimming pool, will get underway Tuesday morning if present plans materialize.

The City of Cumberland has offered the pool facilities from 10 a. m. until 12 noon daily for the purpose of instructing the children of the community to swim.

Miss Ann Nagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Nagle, 310 Washington Street, has been appointed the Red Cross Instructor for the summer swimming period. The new teacher is a physical education instructor, having graduated last month from the George Peabody school for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn. This fall Miss Nagle has accepted employment in Jacksonville, Ill.

James Kelly, chairman of the Red Cross Life Saving and Water Safety committee will direct the program.

The first class to be organized will be the sixth grade of Gephart School. They were unable to receive instructions last year at the "Y" pool.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, local Red Cross Chapter chairman has called a preliminary meeting for this afternoon at Red Cross headquarters in the post office building, Mrs. Lee Witherup, local Red Cross Executive Secretary, has announced.

Liatis Warns Against Underrating Strength Of Communist Influence

America should not make the mistake of overestimating her own strength by underestimating the strength of Communism, Alexis S. Liatis, first secretary to the Greek Embassy in Washington, D. C., said yesterday.

Liatis was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA. He was introduced by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, program chairman of the club.

"Communists have a terrible fanaticism like that of the early Christians," Liatis said.

Discussing the current situation in Greece, he emphasized that the fighting is not a civil war but warfare between the Greek government and Communist-controlled guerrilla forces.

The guerrillas, who were organized to fight Fascist and Nazi invaders early in World War II, came under Communist domination after Greece was "swallowed up" by the Germans in May, 1941, Liatis said.

Liatis admitted that the Greek government military forces outnumber those of the guerrillas, but he pointed out that the government has a tremendous job of protecting transportation and communications from guerrilla attacks, adding, "It is much easier to blow up a building than to build it."

Furthermore, he said, it takes much less time for Stalin to send arms to the Communist-dominated guerrillas in Greece than for the Greek government to receive aid from the United States.

"Greeks are realistic," he said. "They are ready to accept any workable solution which will enable them to live in peace with neighboring countries, even though their policies are different."

Playground Group Votes To Lower Quorum Number

Five Of 20 Member Groups Suspended

Five of the 20 member organizations of the City Playground Associations were declared automatically suspended last night for failing to send representatives to three consecutive meetings, and a change in the quorum regulations was voted unanimously.

Mrs. Vivian L. Turley, president, explained that if the five suspended groups are represented at one of the next two regular meetings, July 15 and August 5, they will be reinstated without having to pay another $5 membership fee.

Those suspended are the West Side Playground Association, Johnson Heights Parent-Teacher Association, Columbia Avenue Parent-Teacher Association, the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, and Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose.

The automatic suspension provision of the bylaws was invoked when it was discovered that a quorum was lacking, as was the case at the last two regular meetings.

Quorum Changed

With the suspension of the five member groups, the necessary two-thirds majority was gained to conduct business requiring voting.

At this point, a motion was passed to change the quorum provision from two-thirds of the membership to seven member groups.

The group also voted to make Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, former president of the City Playground Associations, an honorary member. Such membership confers advisory privileges only.

Clair Mease was named chairman of a committee to study the bylaws with a view to making them more "workable." He will be assisted by Robert Taylor and Mrs. Esther Robinson. The group will report at the August 5 meeting.

Considerable discussion was devoted to protecting playground equipment and preventing older children from creating disturbances on playgrounds.

Vandalism Reported

Mrs. Harry S. Anderson, city playground supervisor, reported that the pool at North End Playground was tampered with and some play equipment destroyed last Saturday night.

Assistant Chief of Police B. F. Gaffney said the Police Department should be notified immediately of any rowdyism or vandalism at playgrounds.

W. E. Eichner of Gephart Playground Association said he was informed by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, that the names of children creating a disturbance on playgrounds which are school property should be turned over to the Board of Education.

Although no formal action was taken, a suggestion was made that men from various playground association be deputized by police authorities to protect the property and equipment.

Mrs. Anderson said night watchmen might be appointed at the Thomas S. Post, Pennsylvania Avenue and North End Playgrounds, where disturbances have been reported.

Assistant Chief Gaffney said the auxiliary police force might assist in protecting playground property.

2 Local Men Held In Assault, Theft

Two local men accused of brutally assaulting and robbing a Martinsville, Va., man Sunday night, were held in default of bond yesterday for action of the Bedford County, Pa., Court of Sessions.

A local girl, Miss Josephine Frazier, who was also taken into custody with the men, was released yesterday, and authorities said she had no knowledge of the alleged assault and robbery which occurred near Bedford, Pa.

Howard C. Longerbeam was ordered held in default of $4,000 bond and Richard J. McCue, the second man arrested in connection with the assault was ordered held in default of $3,000.

The Martinsville man, Albert Schnader told police that he was struck over the head with a blunt instrument and robbed of $35 when he and the two men took a short walk from the car they were riding in

The girl told police that she remained in the car, and knew nothing of the alleged assault of plans of the two prisoners to commit it. She returned to Cumberland yesterday.

Husband Is Held After Mate Is Stabbed In Back

Wife's Condition Reported Favorable

A 34-year-old husband, Frank Michaels, near Midland, was being held for investigation last night after Maryland State Police said his wife, Lulu Michaels, 34, was taken to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, suffering from a knife wound in the back.

The woman, according to Trooper Milton G. Hart, was removed to the hospital from a neighbor's home where she was taken and given first aid treatment. Trooper Hart said Michaels was arrested at his home where the stabbing allegedly occurred.

At the hospital, attaches said Mrs. Michaels suffered a wound in the middle of her back that required three stitches to close. Police said she lost considerable blood before receiving aid.

Details of what happened were vague, according to Trooper Hart, who investigated along with First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, but the trooper explained there apparently was a "family argument" and the stabbing resulted.

Also Cut About Face

Several knives were collected at the home, according to Trooper Hart, but he added that authorities are not sure which weapon inflicted the wound. The victim, he declared was badly cut about the face and neck.

The neighbor, whom police did not identify said they were attracted to the house by screams and noise. Trooper Hart said he is not positive where Mrs. Michaels was found, but added the neighbor took her in and wrapped towels around the wound.

The kitchen floor and back porch were coated with blood, according to investigating officers, and several pools were also discovered in the back yard.

Michaels was asleep when police arrived, they said, and his condition would not permit questioning. He was taken to Allegany County Jail and held for investigation. He will be questioned today in the office of the State's Attorney, Trooper Hart declared.

Refuses Comment

Police said as far as they could learn the only other person in the house at the time was a four-year old child. Trooper Hart added he was not sure if the child witnessed the cutting.

It was the neighbor who called police, Trooper Hart said, but the woman was not removed to the hospital until officers arrived and called an ambulance.

Hospital attaches said a chest X-ray will be made today to determine if the knife cut any vital organs. Mrs. Michaels was reported conscious upon admittance but refused to give any details of the incident.

Paper Workers Signing Up For Pension Plan

Luke Participants Still Increasing

More than 97 per cent of those eligible in four of the company's six plants have signed up for membership in the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company pension plan for hourly paid employees, the Luke plant management notified its employes by letter today.

The company informed workers that as of June 25 enrollment in the plan included almost 99 per cent of eligible employes at the Tyrone, Pa., plant; 97 per cent at Williamsburg, Pa., almost 97 per cent at Mechanicville, N. Y., and more than 95 per cent at Charleston, S. C.

The number at Luke, Md. was 61 per cent when the letter was drafted, but, the company reports, has now increased to 63 per cent and is growing. Covington, Va. trails with 31 per cent.

Employes have until September 1 to sign up for the plan without loss of past service benefits accrued before the plan went in on June 1. The cost of the past service part of employes' pensions is borne solely by the company, which is prepared to spend as much as $4,900,000 for this purpose. The cost of the future service part of the pensions employes receive upon retirement is paid both by the company and employes. It is estimated that future service benefits can cost the company about $410,000 per year. It is expected that on the average the company will contribute about $2 for each $1 contributed by the employes.

The letter also notified employes about interpretations clarifying two phases of the pension plan. One pointed out that in signing an application card employes do not authorize deductions any greater than those set out in the plan at the time they signed. These deductions amount to not more than two to two and one-half per cent of an employe's earnings each pay day. The other explained that employes may choose any one of four doctors if and when medical examination may be required under the plan—for example, to say whether a man who has been ill is ready to return to work or to say whether it's safe for an older man to keep on at the job.

Heavy Balloting Noted At Phone Election Here

Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, CIO, officials appeared confident here last night that Western Maryland telephone workers voted overwhelmingly for TWOC - CIO representation in the election held here and throughout Maryland yesterday to determine the bargaining rights to 4,200 C. and P. Telephone Company employes.

C. C. Smith, CIO representative, said 132 of the 146 eligible employes cast ballots in the election held at the company office here and that two others were challenged by the National Labor Relations Board.

Another 15 employes who received mailed ballots due to furloughs, sickness and vacations came in and presented ballots, he added.

The workers had a choice between the Communication Workers of America, the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, CIO, and no union.

Neither the company nor the CWA had observers at the polls. Mrs. Francis Catlett and Mrs. Virginia Skidmore, both of this city, represented the MTTU-CIO.

Smith said indications were that at least 244 of the 265 eligible voters in Western Maryland cast ballots in the election.

Ballots will be counted by the NLRB in Baltimore today.

Decision Withheld In Appeals Case

The court withheld decision yesterday in a civil appeals case in which a local insurance agent charges that a car he purchased in February for $325 was misrepresented to him.

Joseph Weatherwax, the insurance agent charged that he purchased the car from Homer Hull, Narrows Park, and that on the same day he experienced trouble with the machine.

The plaintiff, who was awarded a $175 judgment in Trial Magistrates Court, said that when he took the car to a local garage he was informed that the engine head was cracked in two places.

Hull was quoted by the manager of a local finance company as saying that the machine was in good condition and would do the work that Weatherwax's job required.

William L. Wilson, Jr. represented Weatherwax and Julius E. Schindler was counsel for Hull.
